Evolution's Gates Opened Wider.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Of the vast mystery of nature the Chicago Zoölogical park, or Brookfield zoo, presents many dramatic expressions, from the bird of paradise to the manlike apes; from lowly, conservative turtles to the whooping swan, fairy bluebird and the two ton Nile hippopotamus.

But there is another series of available worlds of which the zoo authorities are about to take recognition. This is the invertebrate world. It is made up of the so-called lower forms of life. For it is represented on the tree of life which zoölogists accept as true that the fishes, alligators, lizards, snakes, birds, and animals, of which the Brookfield zoo has one of the world's finest collections, are on topmost branches. Below them, it is known, lie eons of development from ancestral animal-plants to the worm and the snail and the mollusk stage. Back of that the stars and the fire-mist and God.

New Building Being Erected.

A new restaurant approaches completion on the mall at Brookfield. Down this magnificent sweep of lawn and lily pond and trees a rock mountain will arise at the other end, where elephants will roam and mountain sheep and goats from the wilds of America will climb. The building which has been used as a restaurant will go back to its original purpose, an invertebrate house.

John T. McCutcheon, president of the Chicago Zoölogical society, which built and operates the park, mentions the bees and the ants as parts of the new exhibits planned.

Beyond this an immense field of exhibition lies ready for exploration. Man has arranged all created things in neat groups called phyla. He belongs, of course, to the highest, but perhaps the ant and the bee and the coral, which built the stones out of which he constructs his skyscrapers, may teach him something still. That is the hope of the zoo board of trustees.

Plan Research Institution.

It is intended to make the zoo a research and educational institution, with laboratory, photographic studio, zoölogical research building, and animal hospital.

The zoo is not dipping into something insignificant here. Dr. Robert Hegner, professor of protozoölogy at Johns Hopkins university, wrote recently:

"Such an egotistical animal as man naturally considers himself the dominant type of life, but if numbers of species and individuals and ability to live under adverse circumstances are accepted as criteria of dominance, parmecia and other protozoa are manifestly more successful than human beings. I feel so convinced of this that I would not hesitate to nominate one of these humble creatures as president of the world."

Greater Force than All Plows.

It was the nummulites, coiled shell animals of the prehistoric seas, that really built the pyramids of Egypt, he says, and other protozoa have done more with the earth's surface than all the plows of man.

About 840,000 different kinds of animals have been described by zoölogists. There are 3,200 at the zoo, so that leaves quite a field to investigate. Of these, the protozoa, or one celled animals, comprise 15,000 species; worms, about 10,000; sea lilies and starfishes, about 5,000; snails, oysters, devil fishes, 78,000; lobsters and insects, 675,000, and chordata, which includes all fishes, snakes, turtles, birds, and mammals, the family of mankind, only 40,000 species.

Many Invisible to Naked Eye.

Most of the protozoa are invisible to the naked eye. Their shapes may resemble a globe with radiating projections, a slipper, a bell, a trumpet. Some manufacture their own food, by means of chlorophyll, as the plants do. They respond to stimuli and their behavior is said by those who have studied them to show no fundamental difference in character from that of the lower many-celled animals.

So here we are, spending a day off at the zoo, observing end results and intermediate steps in the staggering story of evolution. Out of that dim past which marches before us, we ourselves indubitably came. That is the teaching of the zoo, the museum, the university. We have each made individual a common force of nature, and are breath of her breath. Man alone seeks to comprehend it all. "

POLAND WARNS FORCE WILL BE MET BY FORCE

Nation to Fight for Rights, Nazis Told.

CRACOW, Poland, Aug. 6 (AP).—Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, commander of Poland's armed forces, told a wildly cheering crowd of 100,000 today that "violence inflicted by force must be resisted by force."

Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz.

"Our conduct as regards Danzig," he said, "will be adjusted to the conduct of the other side."

The audience frequently cried, "We want Danzig!"

The slender, youthful appearing military leader's address climaxed a gigantic celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Pilsudski Legion's entry into the world war to fight for Poland's independence.

Called 11th Hour Warning.

Some political commentators called the speech an eleventh hour warning in view of a serious customs dispute with Danzig, which Germany aspires to repossess.

The marshal declared Poland would "resist with all her means without exception any attempt, direct or indirect, to violate the interests, rights or dignity of our state."

"Today when words of peace and war are appearing on the lips of the entire world, we must state that Poland respects peace as other nations do," Smigly-Rydz said. "But there is no force which will persuade us that peace means for some to give and others to take."

Turning to the Danzig issue, the marshal declared: "Danzig has been tied with Poland for centuries. It constitutes the lungs of our economic life.

Stand by Obligations.

"Poland has defined her attitude clearly and unequivocally. We have not started the Danzig dispute. We are not withdrawing from our obligations."

Without naming Britain and France, with whom Poland has mutual assistance agreements, Smigly-Rydz said it was his "pleasant duty to record with the deep understanding and appreciation of a soldier that Poland has sincere friends among other nations, nations who understand the real meaning of things and who have defined their attitude toward us."

The Pilsudski legion, headed by the late Marshal Josef Pilsudski, left Poland in 1914 to fight with Austria-Hungary against Russia in the world war. After the collapse of czarist Russia in 1917, however, the Polish legionnaires turned against Germany and Austria to fight for national independence.

POLAND AWAITS REPLY

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Aug. 6.—Foreign Minister Josef Beck hurried back to Warsaw from Cracow by airplane this afternoon.

Beck's return was interpreted as being connected with the ultimatum which the Polish government sent to the Danzig senate Friday night.

The Polish ultimatum, it was disclosed, was a reaction to an order by the Danzig senate that after midnight tonight the senate would refuse to recognize Polish customs inspectors on the border of East Prussia and would prevent them from doing their duty.

Sees Senate President.

On orders from Warsaw, Marian Chodacki, Polish high commissioner to Danzig, saw President Arthur Greiser of the free city's senate and informed him that if the order were put into effect the Poles would resist by force. Chodacki said that an immediate reply was expected. Failing to receive it, the Polish government would at once take adequate measures, he added.

Greiser saw Chodacki Saturday and gave him oral assurances that the order would not be put into effect. Greiser further promised a written reply early in the week and indicated it would be conciliatory.

The City Offers a Good Tip to Pigeon Pouter

Five years and four months ago Mr. Henry G. Runtz Jr. sat down and with the ink sputtering indignantly from his pen, wrote a letter to the mayor's safety commission.

Mr. Runtz, a citizen and taxpayer, wanted something done about the pigeons infesting loop streets.

Mr. Runtz wrote his letter in April, 1934. He blamed not one pigeon, but thousands for the particular indignity visited upon him.

Fails to Get Answer.

Mr. Runtz mailed his letter and awaited a reply. He was still waiting yesterday, in his home at 4427 North Troy street. He has been following with interest the recent campaign to rid the loop of the birds. "Because of my occupation," Mr. Runtz explained.

He was even more interested in a copy, obtained at the city hall, of the legal department's reply to his pigeon letter, which he says he never received. Addressed to 4426 North Sacramento avenue, where he was living in 1934, the letter said:

"Dear sir:

"Your letter of April 11, 1934, addressed to 'mayor's safety commission' in reference to depredations of pigeons, was referred by the mayor to the law department for reply.

Indignities Are Deplored.

"You state that while walking on the street in the downtown district you suffered certain indignities from pigeons and you ask what can be done to remedy such things. It is deplorable, as you say, that such things may happen to out of town visitors.

"The municipal code [section 3936 of the revised Chicago code of 1931] prohibits all persons who own animals from allowing them to go loose or at large on the streets or public places. Owners of poultry, chickens, hens, turkeys, ducks, geese, 'and other like fowl' are required to keep them on private property in enclosed places or forfeit a maximum penalty of $10 for each offense.

Suggests Carrying Umbrella.

"Pigeons, however, are the vagrants or public enemies among fowls. They defy capture by private parties and seek high spots beyond the reach of the police. They are lawbreakers, but they have their own methods of evading prosecution. We are open to suggestions as to the best manner of dealing with ill-mannered pigeons, but until we are apprised of some practical way of dealing with them, we can only recommend that you carry an umbrella.

"Yours truly,

"Leon Hornstein,

"First Assistant Corporation Counsel."

Hornstein is dead. Mr. Runtz remains a vehement foe of pigeons, because, as he says, of his occupation.

"You see," he said, "I'm a salesman and am out on the street all day."

NAZIS BAN WHIPPED CREAM FOR SUDETENS; MUST CONSERVE FATS

BERLIN, Aug. 6 (AP).—Whipped cream vanished today from the Sudetenland.

The milk and fat control board of the former Czecho-Slovak territory which Germany annexed last fall withdrew the privileges extended to a few creameries to produce whipping cream. The board ruled that the volume of tourist travel in the Sudetenland made fat conservation necessary.

Berlin and other cities of Germany now are getting along without whipped cream, but the Viennese still are having it in their coffee houses.

ELEPHANT FLEES ACCIDENT; STILL ROAMING WOODS

Staunton, Va., Aug. 6 (AP).—A two ton circus elephant escaped from her trailer after an accident near here today in which another elephant and an attendant were killed and remained at large tonight in the woods of northern Virgina, trampling farm fences and defying attempts at capture.

Two other elephants were staked out in the vicinity in the hope that "Elsie," the fugitive, would find them and quiet down. The animal escaped after a tractor hauling a trailer left the Lee highway and jumped a ditch, killing the attendant and "Rubber," "Elsie's" pachyderm companion.

FLYING BROTHERS LAND; SET A NEW 343 HOUR RECORD

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6 (AP).—The flying Moody Brothers, Hunter and Humphrey, ended their two weeks' endurance flight at 11:46 p. m. tonight. Landing during a severe electrical storm, the young flyers had completed 343 hours and 46 minutes in the air, establishing a new endurance record for light planes. The previous record was 218 hours. The landing was without mishap. State police estimated a crowd of 5,000 saw the end of the flight.

Due in Court? Take Driver's License Along

Motorists who face Judge Francis Borrelli in Safety court had better have their drivers' licenses with them when they appear before him, he warned yesterday. Even motorists who are only witnesses or complainants will be asked to produce their licenses, Judge Borrelli said.

He announced that he will punish carelessness or negligence on the part of drivers. Recklessness will even be more severely punished.

He warned that motorists who have been arrested for an offense against the safety of other persons should not ask for a continuance of their case unless they are willing to give up driving until their cases are tried.

Driver to Be Restrained.

He said he will keep a defendant's license pending a continuance and will enter an order restraining the defendant from driving while awaiting trial.

"If preaching would prevent accidents, I'd do a lot of preaching," Judge Borrelli said. "But preaching is too late for those who come to Safety court as defendants.

"The new drivers' license law has not been enforced as rigidly as possible since it came into existence on May 1 and a new era in enforcement is starting. The purpose of the law is to save life and limb by keeping unfit persons from driving cars.

Court's Powers Cited.

"Almost any one who has the age and physical requirements can get a license. It is then up to the courts to determine who should lose this privilege. The court may suspend driving privileges for a number of days or months, or may revoke the license without regard to time.

"Jail sentences may be imposed as well as revocation or suspension of licenses, where such punishment is merited. The legislature has done its duty in passing this drivers' license law. The police and courts here are ready to do their part. I believe it is proper, therefore, to warn the car drivers of the city, and visitors, too, that safety is expected from them."

103 Years Old, She Longs for Era Without Radio

Beardstown, Ill., Aug. 6 [Special].—Miss Fannie Winhold, who has resided on the same farm near here nearly a century, will celebrate her 103d birthday anniversary on Sept. 2. Here is what she thinks is wrong with the world: Radio, electric lights, or other "new fangled" things.

Body by River; Bullet Riddled Auto Is Nearby

John Haeuschen Jr., 23 years old, was found mysteriously shot to death yesterday a mile northeast of Libertyville on the bank of the Des Plaines river.

John Haeuschen Jr.

His body lay near his father's car in a thicket at the end of a lonely lane leading to his favorite fishing hole. He had been shot through the right temple. Across his chest he clasped a new .22 caliber rifle.

Each tire of the car had been punctured by a bullet. Two bullets had been fired through the windshield. From within the car a bullet had been shot into the instrument board and another through the roof. The tail light had been shot out.

Bullets Fired into Gas Tank.

Three bullets had been fired into the gasoline tank, evidently from the ground and from some distance away. A bottle that evidently had been shattered by a bullet lay on one fender and a tin can which had been pierced twice by bullets stood on the other. All about were exploded .22 caliber cartridges.

Haeuschen's glasses lay beside his head. In his pocket was $9.

Norbert F. Valunas found the body as he was taking his family fishing. Valunas, who lives at 986 North Western avenue, Lake Forest, is chauffeur for Mrs. K. H. Addington of 150 Ridge lane, Lake Forest. The chauffeur summoned Deputy Sherif Stanley Christian of Lake county, who conducted the investigation. Chief Frank Druba of the Libertyville police hurried to the scene, as did Sheriff Thomas E. Kennedy and Chief Deputy Sherif Walter Atkinson.

Indentified by Driver's License.

Finding Haeuschen's name on his driver's license, they went to his home at 6456 North Newland avenue. His father, a railway mail clerk, told them this story:

Young Haeuschen, who quit his job as a cab driver in Park Ridge June 1, was pitching horse shoes at the Haeuschen home last Friday afternoon. At 3:30, as the horse shoes players recalled the time, he said he had promised to call for his mother, Marie, at the home of his sister, Mrs. George Gunnufsen, at 4638 North Albany avenue. He drove hurriedly away.

But he never arrived at the Gunnufsen home.

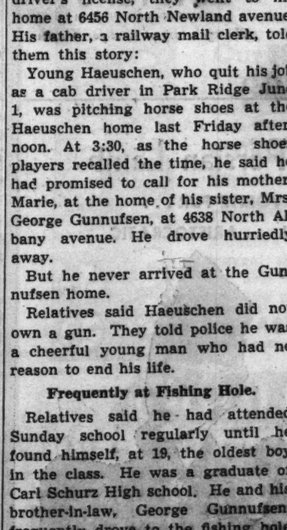
Relatives said Haeuschen did not own a gun. They told police he was a cheerful young man who had no reason to end his life.

Frequently at Fishing Hole.

Relatives said he had attended Sunday school regularly until he found himself, at 19, the oldest boy in the class. He was a graduate of Carl Schurz High school. He and his brother-in-law, George Gunnufsen, frequently drove to the fishing hole near which Haeuschen was found.

Gunnufsen's brother, Olaf, 22 years old, of 5729 North Mulligan avenue, told an incident that threw some doubt on the time Haeuschen had left home Friday. He said that at 3:20 p. m. Friday he saw Haeuschen driving at Harlem avenue and Northwest highway. He said there was another man in the car, slumped down beside Haeuschen. Gunnufsen hailed Haeuschen, but he drove on.

Authorities said they were unable to determine whether Haeuschen had killed himself or had been murdered.



CONGRESS CUTS HAILED AS SIGN OF SANE FUTURE

Vandenberg Assails Record Spending.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, a leading Republican presidential possibility, asserted today that congress in the session that ended yesterday had demonstrated in its closing days what the right kind of administration of the federal government could do to this depression.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg.

It had, he said, given business recovery an impetus by its rejection of the 4 billion dollar New Deal pump priming scheme. At the same time the vengeful attitude of the New Dealers toward the coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats which effected this achievement illuminates, in the senator's opinion, what is in store for the country if the New Deal should be returned to power next year.

The Michigan senator was packing his bags to return home when THE TRIBUNE correspondent asked him for an expression of his opinion of the work of the first session of the 76th congress.

Fails to Clear Track.

"This session of congress," said Mr. Vandenberg as he contemplated the ember end of his cigar, "has notably failed to take advantage of numerous legislative opportunities to clear the track for private business enterprise to restore private jobs in the only way that prosperity can ever be recaptured.

"Further, it has created a 13 billion dollar budget for the current year—the biggest in the peace time history of the world. This may be compared with a 4 billion dollar budget when President Roosevelt came into power under promise to reduce this figure 25 per cent. Nothing could be more hazardous.

"But there was an eleventh hour concession to economic sanity. It was a sort of deathbed repentance. At the finish, appropriations in addition to the 13 billions were slashed to the bone. Members of congress, realizing that they were about to return to confront their outraged constituents, evidently thought it wise to throw an anchor to windward.

"It is significant to note that this belated contribution to economic confidence has been followed by an immediate upturn in business. It shows what a new administration of the right kind could do to this depression.

Assails Pepper Attack.

"Senator Pepper of Florida smeared the last hours of the session with an intolerant and bigoted attack upon the coalition which produced this boon. It was a perfect example of the venom and hatred which motivates the New Deal high command when it is frustrated in its deadly schemes. It also was a preview of what we are to get if the New Deal high command ever gets into unchecked power again."

Taken by and large the first session of the 76th congress was viewed by most of the Republicans and conservative Democrats as signalizing the beginning of the twilight of the New Deal. In their opinion it was a fulfilment of the predictions based upon the results of the 1938 congressional elections which returned a minority of New Dealers to the national legislature. At the time the President disputed these predictions, contending the reverses suffered by the Democrats in the election were merely local.

Change in 1940 Foreseen.

These events are projecting their shadow into 1940. The anti-New Dealers regard the repudiation of the New Deal by this congress, despite its overwhelming Democratic majority, as a reflection of a popular determination to sweep Mr. Roosevelt and his followers from power next year and restore the country to conservative leadership, whether it shall be Republican or Democratic. Republican leaders predict and not a few Democratic leaders admit that the signs are pointing to Republican victory in 1940.

The New Dealers, however, regard the defeats of the President in the late session as merely a temporary setback. They put full faith in the President's predictions that rejection of his measures will result in a new business slump. They therefore look for a popular reaction in favor of the New Deal which will sweep Mr. Roosevelt or a candidate of his choice into the presidency in 1940.

The movement to renominate the President for a third term has suffered a tremendous jolt, as a result of the rejection of Mr. Roosevelt's panaceas by the representatives of the people and of the enactment of the Hatch law forbidding the thousands of federal pay rollers in the Roosevelt political machine to engage in political activities. That he will be able to renominate himself now appears problematical.

CO-OP LEADERS TO OPEN FARM INSTITUTE TODAY

Thousands of farmers, agricultural educators and economists and leaders in farm coöperatives will gather at the University of Chicago today to begin the fifteenth annual session of the American Institute of Coöperation. Meetings will continue through Friday. More than 100 speakers are scheduled to appear.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and F. F. Hill, governor of the Farm Credit administration, will speak tonight in Mandel hall on the Midway. Conferences today will include one on fluid milk marketing in Room 106 of Kent theater at 1:45 p. m. and another on dairy manufacturing coöperatives at the same time in the law school building.

Other speakers who will be heard during the week include Neil S. Beaton of Glasgow, Scotland, president of the Scottish Coöperative Wholesale Society, and Raymond Percy Askew, Belfast, Ireland, general marketing inspector for the Irish Ministry of Agriculture.

Institute officials said that last year more than 2,000,000 American farmers sold their products and bought supplies through farmer owned, farmer controled coöperative organizations.

GOVERNOR'S DAY FETE LURES 50,000 TO CAMP GRANT

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 6 [Special].—Fifty thousand visitors saw the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, pass in review today at the Governor's day ceremonies. The division is here for its annual training period. Senator James M. Slattery represented Gov. Henry Horner, who is ill. The senator urged adequate national defense as a guarantee of peace. Other speakers were Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commander of the division, and Frank Knox.

Gov. Horner, convalescing at his summer home in Highland Park, listened to the 45 minute broadcast of Camp Grant exercises, his secretary, John T. Casey, said. It was the first of the annual reviews the governor had missed since he was elected in 1932.

Iowa Town Pats Up False Front for Pioneer Party

Washington, Ia., Aug. 6 [Special].—With seventy-five slab fronts placed on business houses to resemble pioneer days, this Washington county seat will open its three day centennial Tuesday, commemorating founding of the community in 1839.

DOWNSTATE G.O.P. BOOMING SEARCY FOR GOVERNOR

Expect Announcement by Senator Next Month.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Reports from downstate Illinois showed yesterday that the forces that want State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield to run for the Republican nomination for governor have put on such a drive for him in the last week that he probably will announce his candidacy early next month.

Earl B. Searcy.

The same reports said there was more activity in behalf of Searcy and that it was more widespread than the work being done for either of the two Republicans who already have declared themselves or for any of the several others who are considering making the race.

Lyons and Hayes in Race.

The two announced candidates, Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville and Edward A. Hayes of Decatur, have been busy downstate for several weeks. C. Wayland Brooks spent part of the week downstate and backers of Dwight H. Green were working for him.

Searcy's supporters said that the senator not only is assured of solid backing in his home territory—Sangamon county and its neighbors, where he always has been an excellent vote getter—but has been assured of substantial help in other strong Republican sections and extensive press support.

Those in charge of Searcy operations at this time include veteran Springfield leaders, among them former Judge Ben S. De Boice, former member of the state committee; Henry J. Busch, chairman of the Sangamon county central committee; Mayor J. W. Kapp Jr. of Springfield, and J. Emil Smith, editor of the Illinois State Journal.

Say It's Time for Downstater.

All of them are men of long experience in state politics and they are confident, it is said, that this is the time for a downstater to head the Republican state ticket and that Searcy is the man. He was elected to the house of representatives once and has been elected to the senate for five successive terms, establishing a record for this central Illinois district. As a candidate for state auditor in the 1936 primary against an organization supported slate, he carried downstate easily in a field of seven candidates.

The reports of what is going on among Republicans outside of Cook county included a rumor, repeated several times from various sources, that Congressman Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin, who has been publicized as a probable candidate as the result of a drafting movement conducted by E. T. O'Connor of Peoria, already has told friends that he intends to run for his congressional seat again.

This story goes on to relate that in Washington there is extreme confidence that the Republicans will capture the national house next year. In that event it is believed Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts is a likely choice for speaker. Congressman Dirksen has been Martin's right hand during the latter's service as minority leader and it has been reported from the capital that if Martin becomes speaker Dirksen will be made majority leader.

Say Goodspeed Wants Green.

Downstate gossip also includes reports that two Chicago Republican leaders in the national field already have identified themselves with candidacies for state offices. The two individuals mentioned have stated emphatically that they will not take any part whatever in the 1940 state or local primaries even to the extent of indorsing one or more candidates.

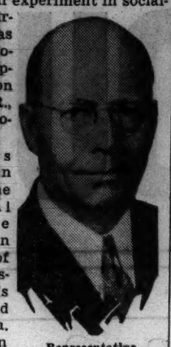
As downstate hears it, C. B. Goodspeed, treasurer of the national committee, is backing Dwight H. Green for governor and Otis F. Glenn for United States senator, and Hill Blackett, recently chosen by the state central committee to replace the late George F. Harding as national committeeman, is backing Congressman Dirksen for governor and Charles W. Hadley for attorney general. None of the four possible candidates has announced himself.

Both Goodspeed and Blackett are now away on vacations.

Visitor Brands Subsistence 'Co-Op' Schemes 'Failures'

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—A $2,000,000 federal experiment in socialization at Arthurdale, W. Va., has proved an absolute failure, Representative Anton J. Johnson [R., Ill.] asserted today.



Representative A. J. Johnson.

The Illinois congressman placed in the Congressional Record the results of an investigation of federal subsistence homesteads at Arthurdale and Elkins, W. Va. Both have been failures and continue to drain the government treasury at the expense of the nation's taxpayers, he declared.

The Arthurdale project was planned to give a group of miners, left without work when nearby coal mines closed down, a chance to earn their way. Eleven hundred acres of fine farm land was placed at the disposal of 165 so-called "homesteaders," together with a house, combination barn and poultry house, and vegetable cellar for each family. The project is under the supervision of the Farm Security administration.

All Modern Homes.

On a personal visit to this project, Johnson said he found each homesteader with a modern house of four to six rooms, each one with a deep well.

"These houses all front on paved roadways through the colony," Johnson said. "Some are made of wood and concrete, but there are several beautiful stone houses. The 'homesteader' will inform you that the 'cooperative' is the owner of the whole project. Further inquiry reveals that each 'homesteader' has one share in the coöperative, which is governed by a board of directors.

"You ask the 'homesteader' how much money he paid into the cooperative, and he tells you 'nothing'—that the whole thing is borrowed from the government. The 'homesteaders' are mostly employed on so-called projects in the community. A few have gone back to nearby coal mines."

$13,000 Outlay for Each Family.

On July 31, 1938, Johnson said, there already was invested in the Arthurdale project the sum of $2,027,000, which includes the homes, barns, land, and community buildings.

"Since that time," he said, "there has been added a modern tractor factory of concrete, steel, and glass construction. The coöp also owns a farm consisting of 442 acres. On investigation one finds that these homesteaders pay from $8.60 a month for the four room houses up to $14 a month for the six room houses.

"Bear in mind that the total cost a year ago was over $2,000,000, and with 165 homesteaders this makes an average investment of about $13,000 for each family, which comes from the pockets of the taxpayers of the United States."

The 442 acre farm, which has the most modern equipment, has been a financial loss since it was started five years ago, Johnson said his investigation disclosed. The pay roll averages $870 per month. On April 1 of this year the farm was leased to two of the homesteaders for five years for $400 a year, he declared, with no taxes or upkeep expense.

Factories Are Disbanded.

An electric vacuum cleaner factory was started but abandoned and the new building remains idle, Johnson said. The tractor factory puts out a "hybrid" tractor which cannot compete with established tractor manufacturers. A poultry project also failed.

"These homesteaders apparently are contented because it certainly is a paradise for any one who has had to struggle on his own initiative, as in this place everything is handed to one," remarked Johnson.

The Elkins, W. Va., project also has been shown to be a failure after six years, Johnson said. Another large coöperative-operated farm there has had "internal troubles," he said. A large mill was erected to saw timber and cut wood for furniture construction. This plant likewise was leased out to private operators.

U. OF C. APOLOGY ON RADIO CHARGE GIVEN TO HOOVER

Regrets Writer's Remark About 'Vote Buying.'

The University of Chicago on its weekly Round Table radio broadcast yesterday apologized for a statement made a week previously by a Washington columnist to the effect that Herbert Hoover has had men "buying up" southern delegates to the 1940 Republican presidential convention.

This allegation concerning the former President was "absolutely untrue" the radio audience was told. Mr. Hoover had demanded that the retraction be made. His request was referred by Robert M. Hutchins, president of the university, who is in Maine, to Frederic Woodward, the vice president.

Assert It Wasn't in Script.

Woodward's statement for the broadcast explained that the offending utterance was extemporaneous and that it was not included in the published transcript of the round table discussion distributed later. It was made by Drew Pearson, columnist.

"On behalf of the University of Chicago and its Round Table, I wish to express regret that a statement was made . . . last Sunday with respect to former President Herbert Hoover which we believe was untrue," Woodward's statement read.

Express Deep Regret.

"It was stated, with reference to the next Republican national convention, that Mr. Hoover 'has men down in Louisiana and Mississippi buying up the delegations down there.' That statement should never have been made. We have ample assurance that it is absolutely untrue.

"We not only wish to state our regret, but our full confidence that Mr. Hoover's public life stands out for high standards of probity, of political honesty and abhorrence of political corruption."

Dispatches from Washington quoted Pearson as saying that he had not libeled Hoover but had paid tribute to his present political strength within the G. O. P. He said he meant that Hoover's friends are rounding up delegates "in the manner that politicians usually round up Negro and poor white Republicans in the solid south."

WRITER PROJECT STATE GUIDEBOOK ON SALE TODAY

After nearly four years' work by the WPA writers' project, the Illinois Guide will go on sale throughout the country today. The cost to taxpayers of preparing the material for the 687 page volume was more than $300,000. It will be sold at $3 a copy.

Gov. Henry Horner is the official sponsor for the publication. Any profit from sale of the book will be placed in a special fund for improvement of subsequent editions of the work.

Described by John T. Frederick, regional director of the writers' project, as a 250,000-word portrait of Illinois, the book is divided into three general sections—tours, cities, and essays—and contains sub-sections on eighteen of the larger cities of Illinois.

The project began in October, 1935, when 300 WPA field workers combed the state for interesting or statistical information, some of it little known.

Emil Hatt has a unique way of traveling about in Lake Michigan. Instead of using a rowboat or sailboat he rides his tricycle boat. The unusual craft is equipped with three balloon tires which keep it afloat. Hatt drives the boat by pedaling on regular tricycle pedals which are attached to a propeller. Yesterday Hatt, who lives at 1231 South 16th avenue, Maywood, propelled his water tricycle from Navy pier to the dock at the foot of 8th street.

FOURTH OF VOTES GIVES KENTUCKY LEAD TO C.I.O. FOE

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 6 (AP).—With approximately one-fourth of Kentucky's precincts reported today, Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson, who campaigned against the C.I.O., had a lead of nearly 12,000 votes over his closest opponent, former Congressman John Young Brown, in yesterday's Democratic gubernatorial primary.

Under Kentucky law counting ceased at midnight last night to be resumed at 9 a. m. tomorrow. The ballot boxes were under guard of deputies and election officials.

The latest unofficial tabulation of primary returns from 1,113 of the 4,307 precincts in the Democratic governorship race gave Johnson 81,396 and Brown 69,677.

In the Republican gubernatorial contest, Circuit Judge King Swope of Lexington, who has campaigned frequently throughout the state, was pulling away from his nearest opponent, John Sherman Cooper, Somerset attorney.

ACCUSED WIFE SWINDLER FACES BIGAMY INQUIRY

Singer Tells of Lavish Honeymoon Spending.

Howard L. Shaw.

An overdeveloped imagination, police said, had led him to pose as a wealthy playboy, to live in costly apartments, and to drive flashy automobiles, and finally, to marry a pretty night club singer without telling her of three previous marriages. Now he is being investigated as a suspected bigamist and a suspected swindler. Shaw is 34 years old and from Lafayette, Ind. His father is a contractor.

Accused of Pawning Gems.

Shaw is accused of obtaining $2,300 from Mrs. Anderson and of pawning more than $10,000 worth of jewelry and other possessions of his wife.

She said Shaw told her that he was a one woman man, that he never had kissed a woman before, and that he hated divorces. He also told her many other things, she said—that he was a wealthy contractor, a college graduate, and an heir to a substantial estate. His story seemed genuine, too, Miss La Boda added. He led two Great Dane dogs around on a leash and lived in a popular north side hotel.

In January Shaw and Miss LaBoda were married. They went to Hollywood. There he bought a $3,700 car. He dickered for an $82,000 home in the movie colony. They returned to Chicago in April.

A Little Loan of $2,300.

Back home he borrowed $2,300 from Mrs. Anderson, saying he needed it to fight for a $100,000 estate. Then he and his bride went back to Hollywood, where he traded his $3,700 car in on one costing $5,900.

Five weeks ago Shaw and his bride again returned to Chicago. His money ran out. Soon, Miss La Boda said, he began pawning her jewels. On Saturday she and her mother caused his arrest.

To Detectives James Lynch and James Canning of the Shakespeare avenue station, who arrested him, Shaw admitted last night he had spent between $7,700 and $15,000. He said this was from his own savings. Police said he had passed fraudulent checks in loop restaurants.

'SLOT MACHINES WHIR, BUT STATE POLICE GET NONE

On Saturday night scores of slot machines were operating in taverns along Dempster and Skokie highways and out Thatcher road and Grand avenue. Investigators found them getting a good play and, last night, Chief Walter Williams of the state highway police was asked about it. This was his reply from Springfield:

"My men visited fifty places to the north and west of Chicago this [Sunday] afternoon and evening. The slot machines were down in every place—that is, they were locked up.

"The state policemen were told by many inn-keepers: 'We knew at ten o'clock this morning that the state police were going to raid this afternoon.' I can't understand how they knew it then when I didn't decide upon it till four hours later."

Reports last night were that the machines had sprung up like mushrooms in the Homewood district to the south. Chief Williams said that's the way it goes; down on the north shore, up on the southshore.

Gang Lawyer Weds

Hope Dare, former chorus girl, who was married in New York yesterday to Dixie Davis, rackets lawyer who courted her during brief leaves from his jail cell.

Dixie Davis, who was married to Hope Dare in the presence of two detectives who have been assigned to guard him since he was released recently after serving jail sentence.

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—Dixie Davis, who courted Hope Dare while dodging the law and on brief leaves from jail over a hectic three year period, was married to her today by a police judge, Emmanuel Goldstein, in Nyack, with two detectives as witnesses.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office disclosed the wedding, attended by one of the detectives who arrested the disbarred rackets lawyer and his red haired ex-showgirl sweetheart in a Philadelphia hideaway on Feb. 2, 1938.

Besides two detectives, Davis's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. David Davis, attended the ceremony in the office of Ralph Geffen, a lawyer who was unsuccessful Democratic candidate for district attorney of Rockland county three years ago.

A wedding trip for the couple—constantly guarded by detectives since Davis' completion last week of a jail term for policy racketeering as lawyer for the Dutch Schultz mob—was made impossible by a court order requiring Davis to remain available to the federal grand jury in the southern district of New York.

Father Is Shot by Bandit in Tavern Owned by Son

David Goodman, 64 years old, was shot in the left arm by one of two bandits in his son's tavern at 3615 West 16th street early today. The bullet caused only a minor flesh wound. Goodman was behind the bar when the robbers entered. They had some beer. Then one drew a gun and demanded Goodman's money. Goodman remonstrated. The bandit answered with a shot. Then he took $25 out of till and fled with his companion.

Robbed of $265, He Keeps His Word to the Bandit

A gunman last night held up George Platt, manager in the liquor store at 6706 Stony Island avenue, and robbed him of $265. He started to tie him up with adhesive tape, but stopped when Platt promised he would stay in a washroom long enough for him to get away. Platt kept his word, staying in the washroom twenty minutes.

HORNER TO CALL SPECIAL SESSION ON PENSION RAISE

Seeks Second Passage of Vetoed Measure.

Gov. Horner, in a statement issued last night from his temporary home in Highland Park, said he will call a special session of the legislature to pass again a bill increasing maximum old age assistance awards from $30 to $40 a month.

Such a bill was passed in June, but Gov. Horner vetoed it Thursday because he was erroneously advised by United States Senator James M. Slattery that the federal government would not share the higher cost.

The governor said he will ask the general assembly to reconvene "in ample time" to take advantage of higher federal grants. This federal assistance, raising matching funds from $15 to $20 top for a pensioner, will become effective as soon as the President signs the bill which congress passed Friday.

G. O. P. Charges Blundering.

Gov. Horner's statement came on the heels of criticism of a "Democratic blunder" made by Republican members of the legislature. The cost of the special session would be at least $20,000.

"The Illinois state constitution allows the governor ten days for consideration of bills passed by the general assembly," Horner said. "I waited until the last hours of the tenth day before I acted on house bill 914 [the pension measure]. As the deadline neared I kept in constant communication with reliable sources in Washington and received no assurance that there would be favorable action in increasing federal participation in old age assistance.

Awaits Official Confirmation.

"I am now informed that after the expiration of this ten day period congress passed the legislation which would enable the state of Illinois, with federal aid, to increase the allowances we are making to the aged persons in Illinois.

"I am awaiting official confirmation in regard to this federal action, but if the information I have received is accurate I will asl the general assembly to convene in special session in ample time to amend our laws to accept federal assistance to enable us to provide more adequately for the aged persons in this state."

Only California will be in a position to get the additional federal funds at once.

GET MORE THAN THEY PAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—When congress voted Saturday to pay pensions to 200,000 more elderly persons than are entitled to receive them under the present social security law, it made it possible for some persons to get back in pensions checks in two months more than their total contributions to the fund.

Furthermore, these pension checks would continue going to them every month until their deaths.

Expect President to Sign.

This provision, known as the La Follette amendment, was only one of several revisions of the social security act which were finally approved and sent to the White House in the closing hours of the session. Legislators agreed generally that President Roosevelt would sign the changes into law.

The present statute provides for payment of pensions only to insured workers who reach 65 on or after Jan. 1, 1940. The La Follette amendment permits persons who are 65 before that date to become eligible for pensions on Jan. 1, 1940, provided they pay or have paid pay roll taxes on their wages for at least eighteen months.

For example, if John Jones became 65 on Jan. 1, 1939, and had been paying old age insurance taxes since they were first levied, he would become eligible for a pension Jan. 1, 1940, when the first pension will be paid under the revised bill. Suppose his average monthly salary for the three years he had been paying into the old age pension fund was $100 [old age taxes were first assessed in January, 1937.] Under the formula for computing benefits—40 per cent for the first $50 of average monthly salary and 10 per cent for the remainder—Jones would be entitled to $25 a month for the rest of his life.

Yet during the three years he would have contributed, at the stipulated rate of 1 per cent a month on his wages, only $12 a year or a total of $36 to the pension fund. His employer would have contributed a like amount.

The La Follette amendment also provides that a person now past 65 can qualify for monthly pension payments even though he received a lump sum settlement under the original social security act.

Weds Physician

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Sigrid Gurie after wedding yesterday.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 6 (AP).—Sigrid Gurie, screen actress, was married today to Dr. Laurence C. Spangard at the society physician's home.

Miss Gurie, who had important rôles in "Marco Polo" and "Algiers," was born in Brooklyn, but spent much of her life in Norway and was press agented as the "Norwegian Garbo."

More recently she was from the citrus town of Cucamonga, where she married and later was divorced from Thomas W. Stewart, variously described as a British sportsman and leather goods salesman.

The actress gave her age as 28, while Dr. Spangard said he is 42.

A FAMILY OF 20, GRANNY AND ALL, TO TAKE AIR RIDE

The Busses—twenty of them—are going for an airplane ride in one of the United Air Lines' fast Mainliners tomorrow.

Some time ago the company made inquiries of the government as to the largest family in Chicago. The family of Daniel Buss, a teamster, living at 3414 West 115th street, was singled out. It includes Buss, his wife, sixteen children, a grandchild, a daughter-in-law, and a grandmother.

The children who will make the trip are Donald, Ruth, Vera, George, Robert, Roger, Ralph, Richard, Joanne, Dorothy, Billie, Eugene, Jimmy, June, and Jackie. Darlene, the grandchild, is the daughter of Lora, the daughter-in-law. Mrs. Birdie Miller is the grandmother. The children range from 23 years to 10 months in age. Another child, Daniel, the second eldest, is out of the city and cannot make the trip.

Seven More to Go Before Court Martial.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Aug. 6.—Fifty-three persons were executed by firing squads yesterday for inspiring the murder of Civil Guard Major Isaac Gabaldon, his 17 year old daughter, and a civil guard chauffeur, it was revealed today.

The seven persons accused of the actual murder have not yet gone on trial but will be tried within a few days, an official announcement said.

The executions were announced in an identically worded statement in all newspapers today with a warning that "efforts to carry on political crimes are useless."

The murders were committed on July 29 on a road between Talavera de la Reina and Oropesa but were kept secret until Aug. 2. The death of Maj. Gabaldon's daughter was concealed until today.

Making an Example.

The state is making an example of those involved in this case, the statement said, adding that "decisive and inflexible, justice has been fulfilled in its most elemental laws."

The announcement said that "within a few hours of the atrocious event there were arrested not only the actual culprits but a compact and considerable band of instigators recruited from the most sinister depths of Marxism and social criminality. As for this band of instigators the sentence dictated by the court martial was executed yesterday morning. As for the actual perpetrators the military justices have not yet pronounced sentence but the procedure should be of the most summary sort. This sentence, which is not yet known, will soon be made public."

Speedy Franco Justice.

Warning that Spain will not tolerate such acts of violence, the announcement says that "for that reason, the captured, confessed and convicted instigators of the crime which cost the life of Maj. Gabaldon, his daughter and José Luis Diaz have been judged according to the methods of Franco's justice with due regard to the most rigorous proceeding."

The announcement concluded with the warning that "nobody for any motive can turn us back to that tragedy and fear from which it took a three year war to free us."

In this case the authorities acted on the principle that it was necessary to make an example of those involved as the best means of preventing long drawn out guerilla warfare with the diehard elements.

DEFER DECISION ON PROSECUTION FOR CHURCH FUND

Ishpeming, Mich., Aug. 6 [Special].—Any decision as to whether any living person may be held criminally responsible for shortages in the funds of the Episcopal diocese of northern Michigan was deferred today by John D. Voelker, prosecuting attorney of Marquette county, and Robert A. Burns, assistant attorney general. They discussed the case at a weekend conference.

Voelker intimated that the inquiry would be continued and said he and Burns wanted to confer with Thomas A. Read, Michigan attorney general, before taking definite action.

KILLED BY TWENTY FOOT FALL.

An unidentified man about 50 years old was killed yesterday supposedly when he fell from the twenty foot retaining wall of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks near Polk street.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, is reported to receive a salary of $40,000 a year, the highest salary in baseball. How much should he pay the government in income tax?

Where Asked.

In Lincoln park.

The Answers.

Mrs. Rosalie Kolemann, 52 West Erie street, housewife.—Not more than 5 per cent of it should be paid to the government. The earning years of a ball player or of any other public figure are so short that he would need to save much of his money now for his old age. It is my understanding that his living expenses would be great enough to use up a large portion of his income.

Edmund Totzke, 2442 Cullom avenue, chemist.—No man should make $40,000 just to manage a ball club. However, since this is a democracy, he should be entitled to most of what he earns. We all try to earn as much as we can, and shouldn't be penalized for our effort. I'd say that $5,000 should be a reasonable amount to turn over to the government.

Edward Pawlak, 5625 West 22d street, Cicero, postal clerk.—Something can happen to Terry, and his earning power as a baseball man will be gone. I think the government should tax the baseball industry, and that the industry, which is rich, should be forced to provide for the future of the players. They thus should pay them a lower salary. However, I think that 10 per cent is a reasonable income tax under the present arrangement.

Alfred Waller, 4738 North Lawndale avenue, musician.—Terry should pay about $1,200 a year out of an income of $40,000. That leaves him a lot of money to live on. He could have everything he wanted. Public figures don't have to spend much money, anyway, because they make so much with testimonials, etc. I don't believe in an excessive income tax, because it kills individual initiative.

Miss Lynn Templeman, 4205 School street, stenographer.—He should pay at least $10,000 to help those who have no opportunity to earn any money at all. He ought to be satisfied with $30,000. Of course, it is true that in his particular business his earning power is limited to a few years. Those with high salaries should share the government's relief burden.

JOYRIDER ADMITS STEALING POLICE CAPTAIN'S AUTO

On Saturday some one stole the car of Capt. Dan Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, from the public garage at 6415 North California avenue. That night the car was returned; one had shot holes through the top with the captain's shotgun and revolver, which had been left in the car. Police yesterday arrested Robert A. Huber, 17 years old, 6553 North Francisco avenue, who formerly worked in the garage. He soon confessed, police said, saying he took the car for a joyride, and that he fired the guns to see how much noise they made.

THE ABC'S OF SILVER (3)

By CALEB

"BUT where does silver come from?" is a layman's question, frequently asked, that prompts one to refresh his own knowledge. The facts show that about eight different countries are responsible for the world's present-day supply of the Metal Beautiful.

Symbolizing that supply as 100, one finds that Mexico furnishes 40 parts—the United States 25 more—Canada 9—Peru 8—and the remaining 18 parts are divided up between Africa, Asia, India and Australia. Nearly four and a quarter centuries ago, the Spanish explorer-conqueror, Cortez, found the cities of ancient Mexico literally a-glitter with silver which the Aztecs had previously mined there—and for some 300 years Spain's fabulous wealth flowed to it in the silver-laden galleons out of Mexican ports.

Our own country—chiefly from Utah, Montana, Idaho, Arizona, Colorado and Nevada — ranks next in point of production. The richest single silver vein ever mined is the magnificent Comstock Lode, discovered in Nevada in 1858. The Comstock yield alone has totaled the tidy sum of $6,000,000 in a single month.

About seventy-five per cent of the world's silver, then, comes to us from North and South America; but the historically earliest mines were found along the shores of the Mediterranean. Visitors to Attica, outside Athens, may also still see the slag dumps of a mine worked there by the Greeks more than two thousand years ago, from which, between the fourth and seventh centuries B. C., it is estimated that nearly a million ounces of silver were removed. Romans worked the ancient silver mines of Spain with 40,000 slaves; and long before Caesar's legions, silver was mined in the British Isles . . .

Only occasionally is the metal itself found pure. More often it is mixed with gold, copper, lead or zinc, and is mined along with these other metals. Ore from the ground is first smelted, silver being refined from its metallic companions by electrolysis. It is then melted, and cast into ingots for shipment to the silversmith, who remelts it for his own use in Sterling Silver.

What Sterling is—as well as some of the intriguing terms employed in the field of silvercraft—will claim our attention in a discussion to follow.

CALL 2 MILLION FOR WAR GAMES IN BALKAN STATES

Rush Reserves to Camps; Munition Shops Hum.

BELGRADE, Aug. 6 (AP).—Southeastern Europe prepared tonight for its largest peacetime military maneuvers which were expected to bring the armies of six nations to war strength before fall.

In Jugo-Slavia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, Greece, and Turkey, reservists were pouring into armies and air corps centers.

Several nations were hastening frontier fortifications, and armament factories were on twenty-four hour schedules.

[Italian army war games are in progress near the French frontier; Britain is preparing for air force, navy, and army maneuvers; aerial forces in western Germany were tested last week.]

The military speed-up came as Bulgaria and Hungary redoubled campaigns for huge slices of Rumanian territory under the watchful eyes of the Rome-Berlin axis.

2,000,000 Under Arms.

Foreign military attachés said more than 2,000,000 men would be under arms in southeastern Europe by the beginning of September.

They believe Jugo-Slavia will have 340,000 under arms, Rumania 550,000, Greece 260,000, Hungary 300,000, Bulgaria 290,000, and Turkey 380,000.

[Germany is said to have a standing army of 1,000,000 men, but no official figures have been released of numbers to be assembled in the regular August maneuvers.]

King Carol of Rumania conferred with Greek military leaders in Crete after conversations in Turkey, ally of Britain and France.

Jugo-Slavia was feverishly fortifying her borders with Germany and sought domestic union through settlement of the old Serb-Croat autonomy quarrel.

Rumania prepared for the greatest military maneuvers in the nation's history.

Fortifications were being built in Transylvania, which Rumania obtained in the world war settlement and which Hungary demands, and in Dobrudja, object of a Bulgarian revisionist campaign.

Bulgars to Turk Border.

In Hungary railway trains were crowded with reservists en route to maneuvers.

Many of Bulgaria's reservists were directed to the frontier of Turkey. Despite a recent joint Bulgarian-Jugo-Slav protest, large Turkish forces were still reported maneuvering near Bulgaria's strategic Dervish hill, which controls an area at the junction of Turkish, Greek, and Bulgarian borders.

A Turkish soldier was wounded recently at Dervish hill in an exchange of rifle fire with Bulgarian sentries.

The Greek-Bulgarian frontier along most of its distance was closed on the Greek side to all travelers except those possessing Greek military permits. Greece, like Rumania, is one of the states that has received British-French guarantees.

Rumanian maneuvers on their largest scale, it was announced, will be near the Hungarian frontier, with smaller exercises near Bulgaria's border.

It was along the Ticsa river frontier with Hungary that fusillades of shots were exchanged recently between Rumanian and Hungarian guards. The Rumanians were endeavoring to enforce a suspension of Hungarian lumber trafic on the river pending negotiation of a new agreement concerning the trafic.

Rumania, Bulgaria, Jugo-Slavia, and Hungary also are preparing exercises of their respective Danube river flotillas.

ITALIANS RESIST SHAM INVASION FROM FRANCE

MILAN, Italy, Aug. 6 (AP).—Italy's army of the Po rushed today against a simulated invasion from the French frontier in an attempt to drive off the "enemy" as a climax to the annual maneuvers.

Three Blue divisions engaged the invading Reds in a battle at dawn in the first test of the Italian armies' ability to attack swiftly in the western Alps. Officially the movement was a counter attack to regain ground occupied yesterday by the Reds.

The battle, in the region of Cesana, Bardonecchia and Susa, along the French frontier, was expected to last several days. At grips in the mountains were 50,000 men with 12,000 pieces of motorized equipment to speed their fighting.

British Premier Leaves for Scotland on a Fishing Trip

LONDON, Aug. 6 (AP).—Prime Minister and Mrs. Chamberlain left today for Scotland where the prime minister will spend a fishing holiday. He is expected to return to London for a few days in the third week of this month and then resume his vacation until about Sept. 1.

Balkan Nations Open War Games

(Story in adjoining column.)

Six nations of southeastern Europe have called out 2,000,000 men for a huge peacetime array of military might. Rumania (1) will test new fortifications to protect Transylvania, an area demanded by Hungary (2) and Dobrudja, sought by Bulgaria. Jugo-Slavia (3) will drill reserves along the German border. Bulgaria (4) has scheduled maneuvers for the Dervish hill area on its frontier with Turkey (5) where fighting occurred recently. Greece (6) has closed its side of the frontier with Bulgaria. At Crete (7) King Carol of Rumania conferred with Greek military leaders, who recently conferred with army men of Turkey.

Soviet Deprives 116 More Persons of Decorations

MOSCOW, Aug. 6 (AP).—An official decree published today stripped 116 persons of their decorations "for conduct unworthy of order bearers." Most of them appeared to be little known outside their own districts. Seventy-nine Russians, including several high army officers, were deprived of their honors by a similar order on July 27.

BRITONS ADVISED TO FORGET ABOUT DANZIG AND REST

Nation Ready for War or Peace, Press Boasts.

LONDON, Aug. 6 (AP).—British newspapers with rare unanimity assured readers today that Great Britain was ready for any emergency and urged them to forget about Danzig and the far east and to go ahead with vacation plans.

These assurances came as the army, navy and air force prepared to begin the largest peacetime maneuvers in the nation's history.

The air force, using more than 1,300 planes, will engage in a mock air war from Tuesday night through Friday night over southeastern England.

King George VI. of England will review 133 reserve warships in Weymouth bay Wednesday. The reserve fleet and the home fleet then will combine for exercises to extend to near the end of September.

Army Exercises Planned.

Annual army maneuvers also will occur next week at a time when more than 1,000,000 men are being trained, counting conscripted 20 year olds and territorial forces.

The Sunday Observer carried an editorial entitled "Peaceful but Prepared," which was typical of the press comment.

"It should begin to dawn upon the most infatuated of our ill wishers that while we may suffer we cannot be beaten," the newspaper said. "But if unable to read either the past or the present they should persist in following the dictates of self-will, we shall meet the issue unruffled and with single minded resolution."

The Sunday Times said: "In 1914 the advent of war came to most people in this island as a complete surprise. Had war resulted a year ago our case might again have been similar; but whatever happens it cannot be now. This time we at least stand warned.

"There is no reason why people should not take their proper holidays and, indeed, every reason why they should; for if trouble eventually supervened they would be fitter in health and spirits to meet it."

"Ready for Peace and War."

The News of the World said that "while our diplomacy is active in pursuit of peace, all mechanism of war has reached with us an unprecedented standard of efficiency.

"Ready for peace and ready for war, if it should be thrust upon us, the nation will show its ancient spirit by going about the business of the hour in serenity. The business of the hour this month is holiday making."

The Sunday Dispatch asserted this would be "a happier August holiday than last year's" because, as Prime Minister Chamberlain said, "the nation is ready for any emergency."

2 BRITISH SHIPS DESTROYED BY JAP AIR RAIDS

New Anti-American Drive Opens in North China.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 6 (AP).—Two British Yangtze river steamers were destroyed by Japanese air raiders today. Also a fresh outbreak of anti-American agitation in North China was reported by an American missionary who reached Peking from Japanese-controled territory in Shansi province.

Arrow locates city near which ships were bombed.

The missionary said demonstrators paraded the streets of Shihchiachwang, 160 miles airline southwest of Peking, a few days ago shouting anti-American slogans in protest against America's denunciation of its 1911 trade treaty with Japan.

This was the first anti-American demonstration reported north of the Yellow river though reports from Kaifeng, a short distance south of the river, have told of such demonstrations there and caused American authorities to make representations to Japanese consular officials.

One Canadian Injured.

British naval reports said one Canadian was slightly injured and property of the Asiatic Petroleum company damaged by two air raids which destroyed the steamers near Ichang, about 485 miles up-river from Hankow.

The injured employé was identified as H. J. Benyer, 36 years old, a Canadian, formerly a member of the crew of the Empress of Canada. He was hit in the arm by a bomb fragment but his injury was said not to be serious. Three Chinese crew members were killed and two injured.

The destroyed ships were the Kiawo and the Hsinchangwo. A bomb fell within 30 yards of a third ship, the Kiangwo, which was not damaged.

The steamers were reduced to burnt out hulks. Belonging to Jardine, Matheson & Co., the steamers normally operated between Hankow and Chungking, but because of war conditions on the Yangtze they were moored a few miles below Ichang.

Gunboat Arrives.

Rear Admiral Reginald Vesey Holt, commander of Britain's Yangtze river patrol, immediately protested to Admiral Koshiro Oikawa, commander of the Japanese navy in China waters. The protest declared no military objectives to warant attacks were in the vicinity where the raids took place and that the spot was known as an anchorage of foreign ships.

The gunboat Gannet started for the scene after the first raid but before it reached the spot a second attack of fifteen bombers took place, inflicting more severe damage on the vessels and oil property.

One steamer was said to have been set afire by the second raid and the flames quickly spread to the other steamer. Skeleton crews aboard the ships were said to have escaped unharmed. The gunboat was standing by the hulks tonight.

Japanese newspapers in Shanghai reported air raids on Ichang but made no mention of damage to British interests. These press reports said heavy damage was inflicted on Ichang which Japanese declared was heavily fortified.

Raid Troop Concentrations.

Domei [Japanese] news agency dispatches also reported extensive air raids on Chinese troop concentrations in Hupeh province and on Kweilin, important Kwangsi province city. The Japanese raiders were said to have flown as far as the frontier of French Indo-China and dropped bombs into the Chinese interior.

Foreign reports from Haiphong, French Indo-China, said the port there was crowded with vessels, many of them American, waiting to unload, and that it probably would take six months to transport into China all the supplies now piled on the waterfront.

Flood waters in southeastern Shansi province were reported to have isolated three Japanese columns, made up of two army divisions, bringing the danger of starvation or defeat in the Chinese guerrilla-infested region.

Mopping Up Drive Blocked.

A Japanese mopping-up campaign in Shansi started last month and penetrated as far as Luan where it got bogged down by heavy summer rains which turned the highways into quagmires and immobilized motor transport upon which supplies and communications depended. Thus far it has been impossible to relieve the columns or restore communications.

Most inhabitants of the Luan region fled before the Japanese arrived and thus the invaders have been unable to obtain food while the surrounding hills are filled with guerrillas waiting a chance to attack.

Blockade Tightened.

TIENTSIN, Aug. 6 (AP).—With the British-Japanese conference in Tokio apparently bogged down, Japanese restrictions on the blockaded British and French concessions were tightened today creating the worst food shortage since the blockade was imposed on June 14.

Fish, meat, and vegetables were lacking entirely from concession markets though milk supplies were somewhat increased.

Japanese sentries guarding the concession barricades received new orders to increase the vigor of their inspection of all persons entering the foreign areas.

Numerous food trucks were visible in Japanese areas waiting admission to the British and French concessions but apparently with little prospect of getting in under the new restrictions. Many were forced to wait twenty-four hours only to be admitted after their perishable food supplies spoiled.

Tentative Agreement.

LONDON, Aug 6 (AP).—Informed sources said today Great Britain had agreed tentatively to hand over to Japanese authorities four alleged Chinese terrorists who were the cause of the dispute which led to the blockade of the British and French concessions in Tientsin.

The agreement will not take effect, however, it was said, until other outstanding points of difference, such as the question of British support for Japanese-sponsored currency in North China, are settled. No new instructions have been sent yet to Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, British ambassador to Tokio.

Other points reported agreed on tentatively in the Tokio conferences were:

Measures for coöperation between the Japanese authorities and the municipal council for control of anti-Japanese elements in the British concession in Tientsin.

Dismissal of all anti-Japanese police officers from the municipal council, appointment of Japanese officers in their places, and appointment of Japanese advisers to the council.

It was emphasized that a formal agreement would be drawn up only when negotiations on the silver and currency questions have been concluded.

MAY RETALIATE AGAINST JAPAN, PITTMAN SAYS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—Chairman Pittman [D., Nev.] of the senate foreign relations committee predicted today that "unless the attitude of Japan toward our citizens in China changes materially for the better" congress would authorize "retaliatory measures" at its next session.

He indicated in an interview that he had in mind the imposition of some form of embargo on exports of war supplies to Japan, as proposed in a bill he introduced in the session just ended. "We all hope, of course, that the government of Japan will be actuated by a calmer reasoning and will respect the rights of our citizens as provided in the various treaties to which Japan and America are parties," Pittman continued.

Secretary of State Hull recently notified Japan this country was abrogating the 1911 treaty of commerce and navigation with Japan, effective next January. Since this action was taken, there have been increasing reports of anti-American activities in the Japanese-controled areas of China.

JAPS SET FREE TWO AMERICAN SCHOOL PRIESTS

PEKING, Aug. 7 [Monday] (AP).—The Chinese Reformed government, Japanese controled, has released two priests of the American administered Fu Jen university, the Netherlands legation announced today. The legation said the case had been settled.

The two priests, Father Kroes, a native of the Netherlands, and a Chinese, Father John Fu, declined to discuss the nature of their detainment. University officials said, however, the Chinese priest was arrested last Wednesday, and Father Kroes the following day, because they refused to give police the names of their students.

The priests said they were held in hot, dirty cells by their captors. Fu Jen university has its offices at 176 West Adams street, Chicago, where the Rev. Ralph Thyken is national director. The released priests are members of the Society of the Divine Word, a Lazarist order.

FINLAND GUARDS OLD MONASTERY AGAINST ATTACK

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 6.—A detachment of coast artillery and a strong garrison have been established on Valamo Island in the northwestern corner of Lake Ladoga by the Finnish government in order to guard the last great unravaged Russian Orthodox monastery from attack by soviet Russia.

Arrow locates Island protected by Finland.

The Valamo Island group, twenty-five miles from the Finnish town of Sortavala, is visited annually by thousands of pilgrims and tourists, many of whom come from America. The monastery was founded in 992 A. D. and contains famous works of Russian religious art. After being destroyed by the Swedes, Valamo was rebuilt in 1718 at the command of Czar Peter the Great and frequently was visited by the late Czar Nicholas II.

Valamo Monastery.

During the next two weeks the Valamo garrison will participate in extensive maneuvers of the Finnish army. A number of military delegations from Sweden, Norway, Estonia, and Latvia have arrived at Helsingfors to observe the exercises opposite the soviet frontier of what undoubtedly is the best equipped and organized military force in Europe north of Germany.

The departure of a joint British-French military mission to Moscow to negotiate a military alliance with the bolshevik forces has intensified the anxiety of Finland, Estonia, and Latvia. These countries feel their neutrality is compromised and threatened by the British government's efforts to line up Russia in a projected anti-aggression pact.

Distrust British Promises.

"The secrecy and delay connected with the negotiations in Moscow makes Finland distrust the assurances which we have received from official British quarters that our neutrality is not being endangered or infringed," a high Finnish official told THE TRIBUNE.

"It is noteworthy that the British have not given such assurances to either Estonia or Latvia. Finland regards an independent Estonia on the other side of the Gulf of Finland as one of its vital interests."

1,300 ORPHANED CHILDREN PRAY AT JAP MEMORIAL

TOKIO, Aug. 6 (AP).—Soberly, but without tears, 1,300 children whose fathers were killed in the Chinese-Japanese war worshiped today at Yasukuni shrine. The majority came from remote corners of the empire under auspices of the Soldiers' Benefit organization.

BUCKET BRIGADE BLAMES WPA FOR WATERLESS DAYS

300 Householders Angry Over Project Delay.

Bucket brigades fetched water for about 300 families along Belden avenue from Geneva terrace to Cleveland avenue yesterday. The householders carrying water were angry. The need of bucket brigades was the latest result, they said, of a Work Projects administration sewer project.

Begun in March, the work in their block was to have been completed Aug. 1. The WPA foremen recently told them it would not be finished for another six months.

At 5 a. m. yesterday water spouted high out of the open tunnel along the street, in front of a fifty apartment building at 520 to 526 Belden avenue. Board pilings along the ten foot trench shifted. Ground in front of the building caved in. The city water main was shut off.

Reports Leak on Friday.

"The leak began Friday and my janitor reported it to the WPA supervisors," said Mrs. Bessie Hoffman, agent and former owner of the building. "They said they could let it go until they came back to work Monday.

"The slipshod operation of this project is a disgrace. Of fifty WPA men in the block not more than six are working at any one time. The six will carry a single plank as carefully as if it were a coffin."

Mrs. Hoffman said she told the WPA workers it takes revenue to pay taxes, but they merely laughed. Property owners complained that tenants have moved because of the long delay in the project.

"My business is ruined," said Mrs. Flora Bryan, who has a rooming house at No. 549. "There have been four cave-ins in front of my place and each time the water was turned off. The whole thing is mismanaged."

Costs Woman Nine Tenants.

Mrs. Josephine Inks, a widow, of No. 533, said that nine of her fourteen apartments were vacant on account of the project. When interviewed she was making her fourth trip to the next block for water.

"We're at our wits end," said A. C. Eaton of No. 529, a resident for forty years. "Children are endangered by the deep trough and the rats that are around the project. Sewage has been running through an open ditch in the 400 block for the last three weeks."

Blame Long Week-Ends.

"During the week WPA gets a little something done," Honlein said, "but while the workers are off the job Friday, Saturday, and Sunday water and mud fill up the trench again. It's two steps forward and one backward."

Known as the Fullerton avenue sewer, the project is designed to eliminate flooded basements in the community. Property owners said their basements had never been flooded, although they have lived in their present homes for from fourteen to forty years.

"It's a shameful waste of tax money," said Robert Stocking of No. 539. "The only protest ever heeded, and that took months of complaints, was regarding the operation of unmuffled pump motors at night."

New WPA Job: Bodyguard!

One woman said she had observed a colored man standing in front of her home for many weeks without activity. Finally she asked him what his job was.

"I'm a bodyguard," he replied. "In case the men start quarreling I'm supposed to go and separate them."

WPA officials said they would investigate to determine whether there was undue delay on the project. Roy Spalding, in charge of all sewer projects, said the normal rate of progress is twenty-five to thirty feet a day, but that quicksand had been encountered at the Belden avenue site.

Actress Weds

ESTHER RALSTON.

Greenwich, Conn., Aug. 6 [Special].—New York and Hollywood actress Esther Ralston and Ted Lloyd, New York radio commentator, were married here this afternoon. Justice of the Peace J. J. O'Brien officiated. The couple left later for Guilford, Conn., where the bride has the leading rôle in "Susan and God," which has a ten weeks' run there. She will then return to Hollywood.

CONCERT WINDS UP MUSIC FETE AT EAST MOLINE

East Moline, Ill., Aug. 6 [Special].—Thousands of people cheered the second annual Mississippi Valley music festival concert which was held here in Soule stadium tonight. The winners of various festival contests held throughout the day in several East Moline auditoriums will go to Chicago Saturday, Aug. 19, to compete in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S 10th Chicagoland Music festival-contest finals.

The audience applauded David Rubinoff and his violin and the exhibition staged by the famous Black Horse troop band which had come to the festival from Camp Grant, near Rockford, where it is on duty during the two weeks' summer training of the Illinois National Guard.

The festival here was the last of eight preliminary contests and entertainments held throughout the middle west this summer in connection with the Chicagoland event. Thousands of winners will represent these competitions and perhaps some of them appear on THE TRIBUNE program in Soldiers' field on Saturday night, Aug. 19.

PROWLER TAKES 3 FUR COATS.

Arthur Solway, owner of a fur business at 190 North State street, reported to police yesterday that a prowler entered his apartment in the Copeland hotel, 5007 Sheridan road, Saturday and stole three fur coats valued at $875.

EXPECT RECORD MUSIC FESTIVAL CONTEST ENTRIES

Deadline Is Tonight for Out of County Residents.

Festival Tickets!

Reserved seats for the Chicagoland Music Festival are now on sale at 50 cents and $1 each. They may be obtained by mail [make check or money order payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.] or by calling at the Tribune Public Service bureau at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower lobby.

The deadline for entry of bands, choruses, violinists, cornetists, accordion players, and vocalists who live outside Cook county in the tenth Chicagoland Music Festival competitions is 6 o'clock tonight. All signed entrance blanks must be in the office of the festival management, room 421 Tribune Tower, at that time.

The largest number of participants ever to take part in these contests is expected this year. The festival concert will be presented Saturday night, Aug. 19, in Soldiers' field. Thousands of the winners will take part in this entertainment.

133 Vocalists to Compete.

One hundred and thirty-three singers who live on the west and northwest sides of Chicago and within the boundaries of Cook county will be heard at 7 o'clock tomorrow and Wednesday nights in the sectional vocal contests in the Chicago Woman's Club theater, 72 East 11th street.

Spectators will be charged an admission of 25 cents. The tenors, contraltos, and baritones will be heard tomorrow night and the sopranos, mezzos, and basses will be heard Wednesday night.

Junior Band Entered.

Among the larger groups entered in the festival contests are the Winfield Scott Post Junior band of Maywood, directed by Carl Mader; the Wurlitzer Concert band of Chicago, led by Marcel Ackerman, and the Women's Civic chorus of Burlington, Ia., conducted by Mrs. Paul Happ.

More than 100 drum majors from twenty-five states are entered in the festival baton twirling contest. This competition is proving exceedingly popular this summer and at the festival all of those who took part in the contest will present a massed twirling exhibition with scores of flag throwers.

Ship Wrecked as It Runs Into Lighthouse Beacon

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Aug. 6 (AP).—Caught in treacherous Wrangell narrows, the Alaska Steamship company's freighter Depere ran aground today on a lighthouse beacon marking Prowlwy rock. Shortly afterward, Capt. Henry Burns beached the ship to prevent sinking. None of the thirty-one members of the crew was injured.

WHITE MEN TURN TO SNAKE DANCE OF HOPI INDIANS

Prescott, Ariz., Aug. 6 (AP).—White men held writhing snakes between their teeth and around their painted bodies tonight in a portrayal of the ancient ritual in which the Hopi Indians pray for rain and good crops.

The white men, who call themselves Smoki tribesmen, are business and professional men and civic leaders of Prescott. Their wives and daughters portray the rôles of squaws in preparing costumes and making other arrangements for the ritual.

Each of the 250 dancers took a newly washed reptile and allowed it to coil around his body as the Hopi chant started. Priests of the dance placed the snakes in their mouths.

As the dance reached its climax the costumed warriors rushed with the snakes in four directions to liberate them on the desert that they might scurry underground where Indian legend says the gods live. It was a faithful interpretation of the famed Hopi dance except in one important respect. Whereas the tribesmen handle deadly rattlesnakes, the Smoki clansmen use harmless bull and king snakes.

SERVING CHICAGO FOR 92 YEARS

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give a smoking plus equal to

5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK

Here are the facts about cigarettes recently confirmed through scientific laboratory tests of 16 of the largest-selling brands:

1 CAMELS were found to contain MORE TOBACCO BY WEIGHT than the average for the 15 other of the largest-selling brands.

2 CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED—25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME OF THE 15 OTHER OF THE LARGEST-SELLING BRANDS! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

3 In the same tests, CAMELS HELD THEIR ASH FAR LONGER than the average time for all the other brands.

Yes, those choicer tobaccos for which Camel pays millions more do make a difference! Camels are the quality cigarette every smoker can afford.

LLOYD CHILD at Buffalo Airport, scene of his recent world record power-dive—more than 575 m.p.h. in the Curtiss Hawk 75-A—pauses to give his slant on cigarettes: "I've smoked Camels for about fifteen years. I knew that they were the long-burning cigarette. That means more smoking for my money. On a pack of twenty, as those scientific reports show, it's like getting five extra smokes per pack. It's the right kind of smoking, too—mild and swell, cooler, non-irritating, better for my kind of steady, day-after-day smoking." Don't miss the fun of smoking Camels! Enjoy their matchless blend of choice tobaccos . . . while enjoying the economy of that long-burning feature that makes Camels "penny for penny your best cigarette buy."

CHICAGO CORPS AREA CHIEF TO BE LIEUT. GENERAL

Ford Told of Eligibility for Promotion.

Maj. Gen. Stanley H. Ford was notified yesterday that he would be eligible for promotion to the rank of lieutenant general as commander of the 2d United States field army. The promotion will be pursuant to legislation passed in the session of congress which adjourned Saturday night.

Under the act commanders of other three field armies also will be raised to the rank of lieutenant general during the terms of their command. This rank carries an annual salary which is $500 more than that of major general.

Ford Commands 6th Corps.

The field army commanders are senior corps area commanders. Gen. Ford is commander of the 6th corps area, consisting of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin and Jefferson barracks in Missouri. Chicago is the headquarters of this area, as well as of the 2d army. Included with the 6th corps area in the 2d army is the 5th corps area, consisting of Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Kentucky with headquarters at Columbus, O.

The other promotions to lieutenant general, if made on the basis of the present commands, will go to Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, who preceded Gen. Ford in the Chicago corps area command and who now commands the 1st army, with headquarters in New York; Maj. Gen. Stanley D. Embick of Atlanta, who commands the 3d army, and Maj. Gen. Albert J. Bowley of San Francisco, commander of the 4th army.

When President Roosevelt has approved the legislation the four army commanders will receive recess appointments in their new rank. Confirmation by the senate will be made when the seventy-sixth congress meets next January for its second session.

Rank Conferred by Congress.

Since the time of George Washington and the continental army, congress has, from time to time, conferred the rank of lieutenant general. The rank was used in the civil war, and was revived in France during the world war.

Hunter Liggett and Robert L. Bullard were lieutenant generals in the world war. Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, was retired with the rank of lieutenant general in 1929. He died in 1931. The high rank was conferred in recognition of his service in the Panama canal zone and world war.

Armies Facilitate Training.

Designation of the four armies now is for the purpose of administration and training. Promotion of the commanders to the higher rank brings the command of the expanding army nearer that of the navy in peace time. The rank of lieutenant general in the army corresponds to that of vice admiral of the navy.

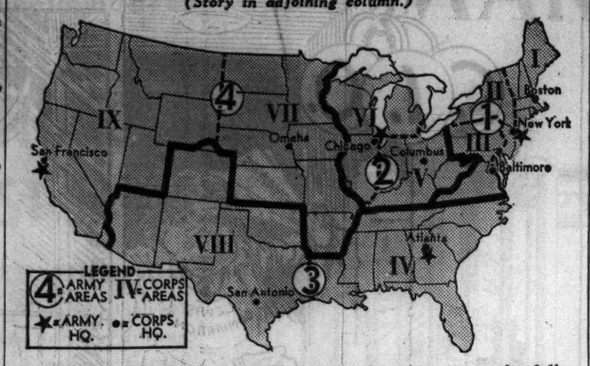
With headquarters in New York, the 1st army consists of the 1st corps area, with Boston as headquarters; the 2d corps area, with New York as headquarters, and the 3d corps area, with headquarters in Baltimore.

The 4th and 8th corps areas make up the 3d army. Atlanta, Ga., is headquarters. The 4th army covers the west and Pacific coast, including Alaska, and is made up of the 7th and 9th corps areas. Headquarters is in San Francisco, which is also headquarters of the 9th corps area.

The Hawaiian and Philippine departments are separate commands and not included in the field army commands.

New Rank for Army Chiefs

(Story in adjoining column.)



Legislation passed recently by congress provides the rank of lieutenant general for the commanders of the four field armies (numerals in circles). Each army area is composed of two or three corps areas (Roman numerals). The major generals below are expected to be given the rank of lieutenant general in command of the field armies.

Hugh A. Drum. First army. | Stanley H. Ford. Second army. | Stanley D. Embick. Third army. | Albert J. Bowley. Fourth army.

OUTLAW IRISH ARMY ACCEPTS A DRAW IN TUSSLE WITH POLICE

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

TIPPERARY, Aug. 6.—A test of strength between friends of the Irish Republican army, who are anxious to hold a meeting to collect funds for the Irish Republican prisoners and dependents of the National Aid society and the De Valera government, which had proscribed the meeting, invoking a new law for the first time, ended tonight in a "bloodless draw."

There was plenty of good natured banter between the crowd of about 1,000 persons and police who blocked their way to the Kickham monument, where the meeting was scheduled to be held. The fact that only a few stragglers penetrated the lines was a victory for the government.

But while the officers' attention thus was occupied Mrs. Maud Gonne MacBride, one of the I. R. A. leaders, slipped down a side street and started making an appeal for funds from a window of the old I. R. A. club. That was a victory for the I. R. A. Police, however, soon cleared the street.

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH.

Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 6 [Special].—H. L. Clatt, 36 years old, of Davenport, Ia., was killed, and W. Fee, 38, of Woodhull, was seriously injured in a headon automobile collision on route 150 near here today.

MYSTERY BLAST HALTS POWER AT COLORADO DAM

Green Mountain Dam, Colo., Aug. 6 (AP).—A mysterious explosion early today cut off power to the strike harassed Green Mountain dam while National Guardsmen curtailed the sale of liquor in the trouble zone. Two poles bearing the electric power line were blasted away in a canyon five miles north of Dillon, shutting off service to Kremmling and the construction project. Repairs were made at daybreak.

Adj. Gen. Harold H. Richardson, who led the Guardsmen into Kremmling last Thursday to disarm a "back to work" group after seven persons were injured in shootings, flew from Denver today to inspect the situation.

Work was resumed Friday at the $4,000,000 project, a unit in the Colorado-Big Thompson reclamation development, after being halted since July 12 by a strike of five American Federation of Labor unions.

1,500 AUTHORIZE USE OF LAND FOR MIMIC WARFARE

23,000 Mobilized in First Phase of Maneuvers.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 6 [Special].—When the 1st United States army maneuvers in the Plattsburg area begin next Sunday troops making up the Blue and Black forces will have eight townships in which to carry out their problems of mimic warfare.

One phase of the maneuvers, that involving the 3d corps area, begins this week in the Manassas, Va., region, where 23,000 troops concentrated this morning. Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commanding general of the 1st army and director of both the New York and Virginia phases of the maneuvers, will visit the Manassas region camps Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week. On Monday, Aug. 14, he will set up headquarters at Plattsburg.

To obtain the right to military invasion of territory in the area west of Lake Champlain, near Plattsburg, an army rentals board spent nine months obtaining permission of 1,500 owners and lessees of 288,000 acres of private property in parcels ranging from half an acre to 50,000 acres.

Public Grounds Available.

In addition to using the private land the 1st army has a huge parcel of federal land and thousands of acres of New York state parks and forest preserves, extending into the Adirondack mountains. In this vast space is to be found every type of terrain on which the army can test its modern mechanical equipment.

One stipulation made by the army in acquiring use of the land was that there would be no firing of real bullets and no digging of trenches. Some damage to lands and forest may result from operation of tanks and the mechanized cavalry, but will be kept at a minimum.

Only one of 1,500 land occupants refused permission for the army to use his land. Others told Maj. Gen. Drum they were glad to have the army use their land, realizing that the nation's defenses depended largely upon experience gained by troops in the field.

Detailed Maps Made.

It is necessary for the army to have detailed maps of the entire area in order to carry out its operations. When suitable maps could not be found, the army assigned officers and men skilled in mapping and sketching to make complete military maps of the region. After months of work the soldiers have completed maps which show every tract of land in the area with accurate boundaries, obtained in most instances by actual measurement.

Fifty-five thousand troops ordered to the Plattsburg area for the maneuver will arrive at their stations by next Sunday. Some already are on the way. The 7th cavalry brigade, mechanized, left Fort Knox, Ky., last Wednesday with a fifteen mile column containing 500 military vehicles. After resting yesterday in Erie, Pa., the column moved today to Rochester, N. Y. It will arrive in the battle zone Tuesday night and go into camp west of Au Sable Forks.

Set Record Moving Guns.

Utilizing its new towing trucks recently furnished by the government, a record was made yesterday by the 244th coast artillery when six big guns of the 155 millimeter type weighing ten tons each were hauled from its Manhattan armory to Camp Smith near Peekskill, N. Y., a distance of about fifty-three miles, in an hour and a half.

Actual battle maneuvers will be started Aug. 16 and continue until noon, Aug. 25, with one thirty-six hour rest period Aug. 19 and 20. Otherwise operations will be carried on day and night.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The Evanston Business and Professional Woman's club garden party will be in the Homestead hotel in Evanston Aug. 14, and not tonight, as erroneously reported in the Metropolitan section of SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE.

GERMANY LIMITS WOMEN'S JOBS TO TEN HOURS A DAY

Decree Issued to Protect Future Mothers.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—"Women must not, under any conditions, work so hard they are harmed in their natural profession as mother," was the opinion issued by Adolf Hitler's labor ministry in a recent decree. It directed officials to see to it that even in exceptional cases women do not work more than ten hours a day.

The decree maintained that a fifty-four hour week is not too much for women "provided they do not have to do strenuous work and do not have too far to go from their homes to their jobs and provided they obtain sufficient food and their rest periods while working."

12 Million Women Employed.

Twelve million women in Germany are gainfully employed because of the labor shortage. The lack of labor chiefly is due to the mobilization of 2,000,000 men as military conscripts and reserves. One hundred and thirty-nine thousand men are working on roads, 3,000,000 in military equipment plants, 300,000 in labor camps, and 400,000 are building fortifications. Others are engaged in the permanent Hitler Trooper and Hitler Guard bodies and in the new police forces.

This has created a serious problem in many families where mothers must work and can no longer look after their children and households.

Alice Rilke, an official of the Nazi women's organization, demands the mobilization of women without children or jobs. Their duties would be to help relieve the married women, especially mothers who must work. They would be employed in managing households or taking care of the children of the working women.

Go to Work in Factories.

In Muenchen-Gladbach the textile industry reports that it has carried out satisfactory experiments with young women, whose time is not fully occupied at home. They work in the factories four and one-half hours a day.

THE GOVERNOR'S RECORD ON LEGISLATION.

With the completion of Gov. Horner's action on the bills passed by the legislature in the final rush before adjournment it becomes possible to appraise his record in connection with the biennial legislative program.

Because of the state of his health the governor was unable to take an active part in the legislative session. Such influence as he exerted was only on matters of general policy, and in that respect only touching the more important subjects. As an instance, the governor had no part in smothering the economy investigation, although that was accomplished by members of his party, and the only objective could have been the protection of his administration from investigation.

But while he did not appear openly against them, there was no doubt that Gov. Horner was the principal force back of the defeat of the parole reform bills. His is the primary responsibility for fastening on the state for another two years a parole system that is operated in the interest of the alliance of crime and politics and against the interest of law-abiding citizens.

Gov. Horner's legislative record was at its worst on the matter of appropriations. The besetting sin of his administration has been extravagance. The revenues of the state since he took office have been vastly swollen. In view of this fact, his boast that the state has been kept on a pay as you go basis means nothing. Prudent administration should have made possible very considerable reduction in taxes.

While it is true that the state has entered new fields of expenditure in connection with relief and old age assistance, the ordinary expenses of operating the state government have been increased beyond reason. Excluding relief and old age assistance, the appropriations in the last biennium under Gov. Emmerson, Gov. Horner's predecessor, were $125,595,592. Gov. Horner's budget requests for the same purposes were $144,692,288, and the actual appropriations, not tabulated at this time, were several millions of dollars greater.

Gov. Horner did send an economy message, so-called, to the legislature, but this was merely a warning not to appropriate beyond his budget. Where he and his subordinates sinned was in not submitting an economy budget.

Gov. Horner's fifty-odd veto messages make interesting reading to taxpayers. Space forbids discussion of them all, but some of the more important deserve mention.

He pruned about $4,000,000 in appropriations that were unjustified either because of their purpose or because the state has not the money to meet them.

He killed, on grounds of constitutionality, the housing lottery and double feature bills, the passage of which can best be explained by the extreme heat that prevails in central Illinois during June.

He stopped an attempt to saw off on the state the properties of busted toll bridge corporations through creation of a state toll bridge authority.

In vetoing a bill to establish a state apple commission and another to fix prices of gasoline he made some observations on the delegation of legislative authority and on government interference in economic processes that are most refreshing from a member of his political party.

He vetoed two vicious liquor bills, one to permit transfer of licenses, the other making it virtually impossible to establish responsibility for intoxication in suits under the dramshop act.

He vetoed a badly drawn and extravagant bill for a state pension system.

He stopped an attempt to cripple the excellent state use system for products of convict labor by vetoing a bill which would have prevented use of convict crushed stone on highways.

The clear reasoning of the veto messages, written during the last month, gives ground for the hope, shared we are sure by all Illinois citizens, that Gov. Horner will soon recover his good health.

MORE FARM TELEPHONES.

A motorist driving along the road near the Tribune farm last week saw a tractor pulling a trailer to which was hitched an unfamiliar piece of equipment which seemed to be cutting a deep furrow. "Farmer, what are you planting?" asked the motorist with attempted nonchalance. Replied the tractor operator, "Who, me? I'm no farmer and I'm not planting."

It seems there is a new way of stringing telephone lines through rural areas, and the man in the tractor and his helper are new-fashioned linemen. Instead of being strung along arms attached to poles the new lines are buried. The experimental department of the American Telephone and Telegraph company has developed a plow which makes it possible to bury four single lines at a time at the rate of four miles an hour. Each line serves eight subscribers. A new wire had to be developed for the new method of stringing a line and the Bell laboratories attended to that. The wires are buried about sixteen inches deep and the soil is pressed down over them.

The telephone line layer which the motorist mistook for a farm implement is not an isolated case. Experiment and the development of new machinery and new ways of using existing machinery have not been arrested during the depression. This has been done by the large corporations. They have been able to devote money to improving their products and the processes for turning them out because they had made profits in years gone by and had not distributed the profits to their stockholders or to governments in the form of taxes.

That telephone line burying machine which can lay four miles of line in an hour reduces the cost of extending service. It now becomes feasible for the telephone company to install telephones in homes where previously the cost would have been prohibitive.

The new machine made possible by past profits will raise the standard of living of the new subscribers. But that is nothing new. Business profits which have been retained have been perhaps the most important agent in raising the standard of living of the American people. If the Roosevelt law against undistributed earnings had not been repealed after a few years industrial progress would have stopped. Thanks to the independent leadership in congress, and for this particularly to Senator Pat Harrison, corporations may again set aside a part of their earnings as improvement and experimental capital.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

So much emphasis has been placed in recent weeks upon the 4 billion dollar lending-spending program that the defeat of this measure may have given many people the notion that congress has been in a parsimonious mood. That, of course, is not the fact. The first session of the 76th congress, which has now adjourned, appropriated the stupendous total of more than 13 billion dollars, rather more than double the total federal revenue from all sources. The 13 billions mark an increase of about 2 billion dollars in spending in comparison with last year's outlays. We are spending 18 per cent more than we did last year and we are going into the red faster than ever before in peacetime.

It is nevertheless true that the defeat of the lending-spending program is a fact of the utmost significance. Congress came nowhere near balancing the budget, but at least there was an unmistakable disposition to repudiate the New Deal notion that an unbalanced budget is desirable in and for itself. That was a long step toward governmental sanity and economic recovery.

For the rest the record of this session was confused and uneven. The Wagner act was permitted to stand despite the fact that it has proved to be a fomenter of industrial strife. Likewise, the National Labor Relations board, which administers the act, was left alone, though there was no lack of evidence to indicate a need for preventing its use as an instrument of tyranny and reorganizing its personnel. The senate avoided the subject entirely; the house, at least, did order an investigation, which, it may be hoped, will provide a basis for legislation next year.

Congress showed itself skeptical of the President's policies in foreign affairs, and in this respect was undoubtedly echoing the sentiment of the country. Mr. Roosevelt wishes the United States to align itself with one of the European alliances and against the other. The country knows that partisanship of that kind might easily lead to a war from which we could gain little or nothing and in which we should suffer incalculable losses. The rejection of the President's proposals to modify the so-called neutrality act to give him discretion in embargoing the sale of arms to belligerents resulted from a profound distrust of his purposes and policies, a distrust which his speeches and acts had provoked.

This session, as was to be expected, seldom lost sight of the fact that within less than a year the nominating conventions will be meeting to select candidates for the presidency. Mr. Roosevelt did not reveal his own plans unless his refusal to deny that he would be a candidate for a third term could be taken as a revelation of his purpose. His own party is divided and a substantial portion of it is in full revolt. The Hatch bill, intended to restrict if not prevent the political activities of federal pay rollers, was the product of this division. The law is intended to minimize the President's influence over the Democratic convention of 1940 and to that extent strengthens the anti-third term movement.

On the whole, this congress displayed more independence than any of its predecessors since 1933. At bottom, the credit for this accomplishment goes to the people who last November reversed the trend toward dictatorial government by greatly strengthening the Republican membership in both houses, especially the house of representatives. Republican morale was high and the work of Joseph W. Martin Jr., minority leader in the house, deserves special mention. He succeeded for the first time in many years in holding the members of his party together. They acted as a unit, and because they did so their influence over legislation was strongly felt and not infrequently decisive.

MUSSOLINI, THE COMMUNIST.

[Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph.]

The ridiculous belief that Fascism is the opposite of communism has received another jolt.

We hear this belief expressed often in this country. The fantastic plottings of our little Fascists as revealed by the Dies committee all whirl around the idea of "opposing" communism. Mussolini and Hitler after him used the communist scare to strengthen their own movements, setting themselves up as saviors of private property.

They both ended up with a super-state after the pattern of communism. Mussolini on several occasions has enforced capital levies which amount to outright seizure of property. If he "saved" private property, it has been for his own convenience in order to take it when he needs it for the state.

His latest venture is the seizure of the great estates of Sicily for distribution among the peasants. This is just what Cardenas has been doing in Mexico. Yet Mussolini would call Cardenas a communist and Cardenas would call Mussolini a reactionary.

It is not yet revealed what, if any, compensation Mussolini proposes for the dispossessed Sicilian landowners, but a hint is contained in his rather grim words that "if backward egotism or old-fashioned mental reserves should lead to attempted opposition, such attempts would be smashed."

In Italy it is apparently the intention to parcel out the land among small farmers and let them run it themselves. In Mexico the lands are assigned to a community of peasants who run it as a group under government supervision.

But the difference is probably more apparent than real. If the Italian government gives land to its people and lets them do what they like with it, without supervision, it will be doing something no other government has ever done.

And in any event it makes no difference to the former owner. If he is expropriated, it does not matter to him whether the land is cut into large pieces or small, or dug up and thrown into the sea. Mussolini or Cardenas—it is all one with him.

SPEAKING OF GEORGE ADE.

When George Ade speaks at the Chicagoland Music Festival luncheon on Aug. 18, you who are lucky enough to get tickets will participate in a unique literary occasion. This will be the first time, as far as anybody remembers, that the author of "Fables in Slang," etc., has tossed away his napkin, pushed back his chair, and risen to mutter across the demi-tasses, "Unaccustomed as I am——"

For he is one of the shy and reserved humorists, like J. M. Barrie, who have felt that the proper place for a flow of wit was from the point of a fountain pen. This is an age of exhibitionism among authors, band leaders, journalists, baseball players, politicians, and all sorts of people who believe that showing off is the best policy. George Ade was never like that. He has done his work without chasing spotlights.

We have seen nearly all of his thirteen plays and musical comedies. We cannot remember a firstnight at which he did more than take a bow or two, although Chicago was prepared to go to any lengths of hero worship over its modest newspaper man who had become a genius of the midlands. Among his intimates he was a kindly fellow with a gift for friendship, but the back slappers never engulfed him. He had a habit of disappearing whenever the fireworks started.

There are no legends of George Ade along Chicago's almost obsolete Rialto, and the pre-war paragraphers of Broadway never had much to say about his bons mots. He dodged the arts-and-letters groups that wanted to add him to their membership rolls; we recall, for example, a letter we sent him, as a club secretary, notifying him of election to honorary membership, and his characteristic reply, saying, courteously, in effect, "What's it all about?"

Well, George, here's hoping your knees don't tremble as you rear up for the greater glory of the music festival and Carrie Jacobs Bond. And if your voice falters, remember that the microphone has made public speakers free and equal.

NEW SALEM, ILL.

Along the hill log houses march in rank;
Rude structures, unadorned, they celebrate
No myth of mighty hero battling fate,
But tell of toiling people, simple, frank.
Yet thousands from the earth's four ends come here
To climb this hill and in its plainness learn
The humble roots of one whose name will burn

No stately mansions crown New Salem hill,
Nor domes, nor spires that boast their maker's skill.
The spirit of one man enshrouds its crest
With glory that no marble nor the rest
Of art's creations lend. What need display?
Enough to know that Lincoln walked this way.

The Duke Asks for a Vacation.

So the Duchess asks me how come big shots like fer instance the President takes a vacation whenever he gets panty-ants an Mayor Kelly when the weather [or the reformers] get too hot, an so ME who she claims is always bragging as being about the biggest shot in town only rates 52 days a year, all Sundays. So I tells her highness I will forthwith brace the big cheese.

Yesterday I hooks a cupple of ginger-ales [for a wash] an with courage oozin out all over tha ole carcass I busts in on him. In the palm of one hand he's got 3 dyspepsy pills an in the other he's got the telephone. His battle axe is callin from home an shoutin so dam loud you cood hear her in Kalamazoo. Here's the Vitamins she's dishing when I bust in: "Yes an whose tha other souse ya brought home with ya lass nite? You shood see my new lace bed-spread, the guzzler slept with his shoes on. You're lucky I didn' call the squad car." All this time he's a sayin "Sorry dear," "Yes dear," "Sorry dear." Then she must of slammed up the receiver with a wide-arm pitch-out.

There I stand ready to spurt with "Hows about 2 or 3 weeks vacation?" Instead I says "The morning's mail had some sweet orders in it." Ennyway the goof registers blank, I dont think he even knew I was standing there or heard a word I said, so I backs outen the place with a final "Looks like a big August, chief," an whadda ya think he's answerin with? Duke Bakrak.

P. S.: "Sorry dear," "Yes dear," "Sorry dear."

SONG OF THE NIGHT.

Silence flows, a widening ring,
Where darkness was lately tossed
Like a stone from the banks of heaven; the moon
Walks forth in sandals white as frost.

Leaves lie still as the sleeping birds
They curtain within the nests.
Even the gray owls make no stir,
Gathering shadows to their breasts.

Fragrances of the earth are lost,
One flower's sweetness within another's;
All things blend in the night's repose;
All is at peace—save man with his brothers.

["The Sad Waltz": Sibelius.]

A mantle of snow has fallen on the plain. The sky is white and low; the horizon, indefinite. No shadows darken the landscape, only a lone black tree, stretching from white earth to white sky, relieves the colorless monotony.

Into this motionless world comes the South Wind. On swift feet he dances across the plain, dances with the snow, twirling it into lively circles, and then leaving it suddenly, frozen in a posture of abandon. Within his arms he holds the black tree, and it sways reluctantly.

The South Wind is lost in that frozen land; he wanders about the plain, vainly seeking pleasure with the snow and the tree. But they are cold and ugly dancers who do not smile, even in their surrender to the liveliest paces of the dance. So back toward the south he goes, disturbing the snow with his footsteps, and leaving the plain and the tree to the blue mists of twilight. meb.

When the little firefly was about to leave the party he politely remarked to the hostess: "Well, I must be glowing." Shanty Al.

An old Chicagoan, lamenting over his misspent life, told us the other day that he had never been in a night club. But when we explained that "night club" was British for "cabaret," he ceased to weep. CHARLES COLLINS.

ROUTING LUMBAGO.

THOSE who have been unfortunate enough to suffer from lumbago will assert that it is the most painful of all afflictions. Perhaps this statement is subject to question. In a voting contest to determine the most distressful malady the ballots presumably would be cast about equally for angina pectoris, the passing of a kidney stone down the ureter, an impacted gallstone—even an acute seizure with green apple colic. It is probable that myositis [lumbago] would be well down the list.

A sharp crick in the back has a bad habit of appearing when least expected. Some individuals may be caught on attempting to rise after watching an interesting ball game or may waken from a sound sleep with an agonizing cramp. With others only mild discomfort is felt at first, gradually increasing in intensity until movement is impossible. Occasionally severe headache is complained of, and now and then the chest may be involved, simulating inflammation of the pleura [the membrane which surrounds the lungs].

If we could look within the muscles to see what is happening we would find extensive changes. Some swelling of the fibers would be observed, with real destruction of the cells—in other words, living filaments undergoing replacement with scar tissue.

This crippling and disabling ailment does not come out of the blue. There always is a cause, and if the search is hard and long enough some focus of infection may be discovered. Not infrequently the patient will recall that a week or so earlier he noted a sore throat. Apparently the poison in the blood stream was just waiting for a sufficient drop in resistance before striking—pouncing upon the lower back as the best place to inflict the keenest torture. Thus it is that exposure to cold and wet, or heavy lifting, may provoke an attack. Because of its resemblance to rheumatism and arthritis the mistake may be made of locating the seat of the trouble in the sacroiliac joints or the lower segments of the spinal column.

While immobilizing the parts may bring relief, forcing the patient to indulge in back bending exercises—despite the pain—sometimes is curative. This has the effect of breaking up adhesions and stimulating circulation. If one is not disposed to venture this heroic treatment another plan will be needed, which includes a firm binder over the hips and back. Supports of this sort are available at most surgical supply houses. Then comes a course of medication, chiefly potassium iodide which is preferred by many physicians to the pain allaying salicylates.

Heat exerts a healing influence. Hot wet packs will be grateful to some, but more permanent cessation is brought about by the infra-red rays, the ordinary bathroom device serving satisfactorily. Care must be taken that the glowing coil is far enough away so that a burn will not ensue. The skin should be bare and exposure continued for not less than twenty to thirty minutes at each sitting. An alcohol rub is indicated after each session, with as deep massage as can be tolerated.

The old-fashioned mustard or porous plaster still is a remedy of choice in many households. Because of the danger of blistering, however, methyl salicylate ointment containing a little tincture of pepper makes a safer substitute. This augments vigorous rubbing, as a large quantity of blood is brought to the parts.

The customary management in "ye olden tymes" was to cauterize the site of the distemper with a red hot iron or to thrust needles into the tissues. Great claims were made for these procedures. It may be assumed that the victims reported recovery in order to avoid a repetition.

The distress may vanish within three or four days; again, it may endure for weeks. Once one has suffered a siege of lumbago there is a tendency for the disorder to recur. All of which means that we must not allow our reserve to drop through unnecessary exposure or chilling.

YES, IF HURT OR FRIGHTENED.

M. B. writes: Could a child of 10 years develop cramps in the abdomen from much automobile riding with a careless driver who strikes ruts and bumps hard enough to throw the youngster from the seat?

REPLY.

Yes, if injured or badly frightened. Fear can upset the normal behavior of the digestive tract with sharp, painful contractions. Make certain that the diet is not at fault.

ACCOMPANIES HEART FAILURE.

M. J. K. writes: What are the symptoms of cardiac asthma? Does the attack usually occur in the early morning hours?

REPLY.

Difficult respiration may accompany heart failure. Attacks may be brought on by exertion or following congestion of the lungs because the pump is not strong enough to circulate the blood through these organs. A paroxysm may appear at any time.

SEDIMENTATION TEST.

M. T. J. writes: What is meant by a sedimentation test?

REPLY.

When blood is allowed to stand, the cells normally settle, leaving the clear serum above. If any active infection is present in the body the speed and amount of settling are increased, the drop being in proportion to the severity of the infection. The laboratory procedure to determine the rate is known as the sedimentation test.

ACCESS TO SHORES.

Chicago, Aug. 3 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. Is it or is it not a fact that under the law owners of property adjoining navigable lakes or streams cannot cross fence their properties in a manner to prevent the public from walking uninterruptedly along the shore?

2. Isn't this a reciprocal right which the public enjoys because [3] conversely no municipality can erect a barrier or a fence parallel with the shoreline so as to prevent adjoining property owners from free ingress and egress of the water? M. D. G.

1. Depends on the previous history of the title.

2. Not necessarily.

3. If you mean that a municipality, lacking any ownership interest, has no right to erect a fence, this point does not seem material. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

STILL WANT TO BE AN ACTOR?

Beverly Shores, Ind., Aug. 3.—The following may be of interest to your readers as an illustration of what confronts the actors in a "straw hat theater" when they start from scratch:

So you want to be an actor? In a summer theater? Well, here are some of the accomplishments, in addition to just acting, of the group now doing such a commendable job at the Theater of the Dunes in Beverly Shores, just fifty miles from Chicago. Their plays are presented Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights at 9.

The first chore awaiting them when they arrived was to patch the roof. Villains, Romeos, and comics had to clamber on the roof, tar it and put shingles where they were missing. When this initiation was completed, the next step was to chase out the birds and plug up the holes through which they came.

After this, rebuilding the steps and refitting the doors was comparatively easy. Jacking up the theater itself presented some difficulties, however, and the curtain on opening night had to be delayed five minutes while the director, Newell Tarrant, lay flat on his back under the building completing the job.

Then the guys and gals formed a bucket and mop brigade to scrub away the nine month accumulation of grime. During all this period, of course, there were constant rehearsals, day and night, at times extending far into the morning.

At present there is little, comparatively speaking, to do in the way of chores—merely sweeping, carpentry work in building sets, painting of sets, hauling of drinking water, wiring and rewiring for light effects, serving of meals and other routine jobs.

So you still want to be an actor in a summer theater? Well, I don't blame you. I do too. NORMAN SLOTT.

P. S.—I am not affiliated with this theater in any way. The group, however, has done such a good job in the face of such tremendous handicaps that I feel I should go out of my way to let the world know about it.

WOULD SEND THE FLEET.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—After reading people's views given to your "Inquiring Reporter," I conclude that the country is made up of a lot of softies who hate to see our country protect our interests in foreign lands; not alone that our ships are being sunk, but our people are being grossly insulted by Japanese soldiers.

How much longer is this country going to stand by and be insulted without taking the kind of action which our forefathers always availed themselves of?

I am for sending our fleet over there to teach Japan a lesson and put her where she belongs; make her protect our interests.

We always stood by our guns; why not now? The trouble is that we need another "Teddy" here so that our respect will not be lost. F. C. WORTH.

SHIPS IN THE RIVER.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—I cannot understand why a newspaper as carefully edited as THE TRIBUNE repeatedly takes issue with ships' captains on keeping bridges in the Chicago river open too long. If your writer will avail himself of expert advice he will find that he misunderstands the regulations governing the use of the river by ships as regards passing other ships or obstacles in this river.

SILVER IN CHINA.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—In a Tokio dispatch in Tuesday's TRIBUNE reference is made to the store of silver, said to amount to 48,000,000 Chinese dollars, banked in the Tientsin concessions, but the value of this silver is stated as $3,840,000. I think the person who made the conversion is in error, probably due to using the current exchange quotation for the Shanghai dollar. The exchange rate, however, refers to the depreciated paper dollar, while the silver in Tientsin is the actual coin, or partly bullion. The Chinese standard silver dollar contains 23.49348 grams of fine silver, or a little over three-quarters of a troy ounce. With foreign silver quoted in New York at 34¾ cents, the value of the Tientsin stock would be something over $12,600,000 in American money. If, as I am informed, there are also about twenty million silver dollars in foreign banks in the Peiping legation quarter, which also enjoys extra-territorial status, the total amount involved in the present controversy would be equal to almost $18,000,000 in our currency. This is a sum far more important to the depleted treasuries of China or Japan than it would be to our government. ROGER S. GREENE.

FOR A FORT DEARBORN REPLICA.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—In connection with the problem of what to do with the replica of Fort Dearborn, now being debated by the park commissioners, why would it not be a good idea for THE TRIBUNE to launch a plan to reproduce a thumb-nail replica of the fort in the space just west of Wacker drive and Michigan boulevard?

I mean in that triangular space which is now planted with cannas or geraniums. It seems to me the space is large enough to set up a permanent bronze duplicate which would be seen by millions and serve a real purpose historically, because on the pillars of the bridge there is depicted the Fort Dearborn massacre.

I trust this idea will appeal to you. If not feasible as a newspaper project I would like to ask you to suggest it to some Chicago patriotic group that could undertake its construction.

OSCAR EVERTS.

"SWELL," MEANING FASHIONABLE.

Chicago, July 31.—If your reader, J. W. Holland, will refer to a dictionary he will find that he is in error regarding the meaning of the word "swell." He claims it means nothing more or less than to increase in size. Colloquially it means fashionable; as a slang expression, it means first rate.

Many people fail to realize that the English language is nothing if not adaptable, and that common usage alters the status of many words. For instance, when I say some one is "cute," I definitly do not mean bow-legged, and the dictionary stands behind me to verify my judgment. ETHEL CORRIHER.

A TAXPAYER'S VIEW.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 4.—May I reply to H. S.'s "A Reliefer's Plight," printed today? Do I understand H. S. to say that those who pay taxes object to such taxes as go to those on relief? If so he is in error.

We are all human in that we dislike suffering, want to help others, and hate to have something put over on us.

The tax collection agency is supposed to collect taxes from us with incomes and with the tax collected to assist those in need. All this is supposed to have been justly done.

As it happened it was done most unjustly and with much inefficiency. The agent, furthermore, gave evidence of not protecting the rights of the payers. One of two things is necessary. Either you convince the payers that the agent is capable or you aid the payers to change him. All means will be tried to gain your group's assistance in replacing the incompetent agent.

G. J. JR.

A WORD FOR CRIPPLES.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—The other day I engaged a fellow bather at the beach in conversation. He had been hit hard by infantile paralysis, but in spite of almost fleshless lower limbs and one shortened limb and a twisted foot he got along swell, swimming better than yours truly.

In the course of our talk he told me he had just returned from five weeks' vacation at an estate a rich man [God bless him!] had turned over to crippled children. At a seminar conducted there the crippled children had been asked to say what they considered a cripple's greatest handicap. The majority responded: "Being stared at by those sound in body and limbs."

Think it over, dear reader. If you must eye a cripple, smile cheerfully at him or her. There are 60,000 cripples in Chicago and its metropolitan area, so your smile will go a long way. Mothers, teach your children this. Thanks.

SIMPATICO.

THE NIGHT PATROLMEN.

Chicago, July 29.—I've read about Officer Baker's heroic deed. Why doesn't the public sometimes think of what a night patrolman does? I am a young married man and the father of two children. In my six years on the night patrol I nearly came to death's door twice, being shot at by burglars. A night patrolman has to patrol alleys, gangways, and basements, little thinking of the danger he runs into. When there was not a police officer on the street I have been called by women to protect them from men who molest them. We do not ask to be heroes or ask for medals, but these night patrolmen, whom I tip my hat to, protect property and life as well on cold nights and hot ones, too. NIGHT PATROLMAN.

Margery Mayer and Emerson Choir Heard First Time in Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Grant park week-end featured lake front appearances by guest artists who had never before taken part in this concert series. Saturday evening Margery Mayer, contralto, sang with the Chicago City Opera orchestra. Last night Joe Emerson and his "Hymns of All Churches" choir appeared in the company of the NBC orchestra.

With a genius for climbing right into her songs and seeming to live them, and with a voice quality so lovely at times that it made a listener's hair stand on end, Miss Mayer carried her approving audience right along with her through a program which began with Lia's air from "L'Enfant Prodigue" and went steadily down hill until it fetched up on Friml's "L'Amour Toujours L'Amour."

One might view with alarm the fact that Miss Mayer has done little in the last year to tidy up her voice—to reduce her vibrato, perfect her legato, and loosen up that top half-octave. But what the heck! She is young yet.

None of the eight men and eight women who composed the Joe Emerson choir last night tried to tear his glottis out by intensely dramatic singing. Everything was easy, full, and free flowing. Partly because of this, the performance took on a moving simplicity and sincerity.

Under the direction of Fred Jackie [a very good musician], the choir sang Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish sacred music. High points were the sturdy, four square "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God"; the tender, personal "Veni, Jesu, Amor Mi," and the unearthly Lewandowsky "Hallelujah." Mr. Emerson took solo parts and one separate song, made comments on the music as the program progressed, and played the piano for what was to have been a choir and audience performance of "Rock of Ages." The audience, unfortunately, did not know the words.

Conductors for the week-end [besides Mr. Jackie] were Joseph Raffaelli [Saturday] and Leroy Shields [Sunday].

Ravinia Season Breaks Record in Attendance

BY CECIL SMITH.

Ravinia park was a busy place yesterday, the last of the 1939 Ravinia festival. A big throng attended the last scheduled concert in the afternoon. After the concert the guarantors, officials, and workers of Ravinia joined in a buffet supper and attended a brief but frolicsome musical party in the pavilion.

A group of players from the Chicago Symphony orchestra performed the metronome movement of Beethoven's Eighth symphony on kitchen utensils and crockery, adding Schubert's "Moment Musical" as encore. Franz Polesny of the orchestra, dressed to look like Paganini, played a parody violin concerto by Rudolph Mangold wholly upon the bleak open strings of the instrument. Clarence Evans conducted all these numbers.

Finally Artur Rodzinski led the orchestra, seated on a darkened stage with candles to light their music stands, in Haydn's "Farewell" symphony. One by one the players below out their candles, until only Mr Rodzinski was left. He blew out the two remaining candles, and the Ravinia season was ended.

In a brief speech Howell Murray of the executive committee announced that the season's attendance reached a new high—68,682 at twenty-four concerts, as against 66,000 last year at twenty-five concerts, one of which —that given by Benny Goodman—attracted 6,200 patrons. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. congratulated the Ravinia staff on behalf of the orchestra, of whose board he is president.

In the last public program of the summer Mr. Rodzinski carried matters off with great brilliance. The end of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Spanish Caprice," which concluded the concert, was the signal for an immense and prolonged demonstration by the audience. The cheers and applause brought the conductor back to the platform again and again, with the orchestra standing at his behest to receive its share of the tribute.

Mr. Rodzinski's accomplishments this last fortnight have served to strengthen our sense of his power and importance among present day conductors. His finest interpretations have been those in which driving energy and full-blooded vigor are the most desirable qualities.

When these qualities creep into music where they are not really called for, his conducting is less satisfying. At times he lacks a feeling of breadth or grandeur and pushes tempo too fast which ought to be more spacious. Often he overlooks details of nuance and color in the urgency of his essentially dramatic approach to music. This is particularly true in French music, for which he has great affinity, if yesterday's performances of Debussy's Prelude to "The Afternoon of a Faun" and Dukas' "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" are to be taken as typical. Sheymanowski's difficult symphonic concertante for piano and orchestra was a feature of the final program, with Wanda Paul playing the solo part. Miss Paul evidently played exceedingly well, but it was a losing battle. Mr. Rodzinski drove the orchestra, buried her in sound.

On the House

It is often possible by a combination of exterior materials for a house to give one more freedom of design. For instance, one way of bringing a "high house" closer to the ground is by the use of two materials. You can have the first story of brick or stone and the second floor of shingles. This horizontal division will cut the apparent height of any home and often quite charming results can be achieved in this manner.

Splashing with ColdWaterAid to Complexion

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Today we are devoting ourselves to praising cold water. We think a good many dry skins and crêpy necks would be much improved if they went on a cold water régime. Too many persons avoid cold water entirely or wash with water that is much too hot. The excessive heat makes muscles flabby, necks crêpy, and dries up the natural oils of the skin.

Use cold cream once a day as a cleanser. Then, the rest of the time, wash with cold water. Don't even use a wash cloth. Splash the fresh coolness on freely with your hands. Cold water gingerly applied with a wash cloth won't do much to stimulate the circulation that means beauty. Play water on your skin with a bath hose or shower, or splash it on with your hands. The bathroom will probably get wet, but your complexion will benefit.

You may not be the type of person who reacts well to cold baths. Try starting out with a warm shower and tapering off to cold. It will be tremendously invigorating. It will make your flesh strong and firm. If the shock of a cold spray on your back is too violent, put it on your chest first. The cold finish will harden you for the cold weather ahead. It will even make it easier for you to plunge into the ocean bravely.

Warm water may be more cleansing, but cold water puts your circulation to work.

Princess Lines Predominate

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOME FROCK.

Princess lines predominate in this simple and practical frock for the home. It's flattering to all figure types and it launders beautifully. For marketing and work in the garden it's perfect.

All the inexpensive cottons make up well, and both prints and plain shades may be employed effectively. The model buttons on the shoulders and may be trimmed with any edging you prefer, among the simplest being rickrack. The long line provided by the panels is not interrupted by a belt, for the sash extends only from the side seams.

Pockets, if you wish them [and they are useful for keys, etc.], may be placed at either side of the front panel, on the skirt. Buttons lend a tailored touch.

This is a wonderfully easy model to make. It's a good basic pattern which you may use for a wide variety of house frocks.

Style No. 2707 is designed for size 16, and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Nowadays most of the homemade ice creams are the freezing tray kind. It's so easy to buy good commercial creams that even though the old-fashioned freezer has been modernized and now operates by electricity, not many housewives care to take the trouble to make any but simple refrigerator frozen creams.

Because the month of August brings in so many requests for refrigerator frozen desserts, my department has prepared a new booklet, "Refrigerator Ice Creams," which contains the most simple recipes.

The name doesn't quite tell the whole story. There are recipes for ices, sherbets, mousses, and parfaits, as well as for ice creams.

Here's a sample of the recipes:

Peach-Marshmallow Ice Cream.

[Serves Six.]

20 marshmallows
1 cup crushed fresh peaches
¼ cup water
3 tablespoons sugar
½ pint whipping cream

Sprinkle the crushed peaches with the sugar and let stand while marshmallows and water are steaming in the top of a double boiler. When marshmallows are melted add peaches, then cool. When cold and slightly stiffened, carefully combine with cream, beaten until thick. Freeze without stirring in coldest temperature in refrigerator tray.

The booklet tells how to make this cream using canned peaches, too. Cost of the whole collection is only 3 cents, if you pick it up yourself at either the Tribune Tower [lobby office] or at 1 South Dearborn street Public Service office. If you'd rather have the booklet mailed, send 5 cents in stamps. Address Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

Five Little Girls' Play Swells Fund to Buy Ice for Poor

Again the ice fund is indebted to juvenile amateur actresses for a generous gift to the poor. A contribution of $2.26 came yesterday from Jacqueline Brady, 10; her sister, Dorothe Mae Brady, 9, and three friends, Beth Ward, 9; Shelby Cook, 7, and Kathleen Sheldon, all of 77th street and South Shore drive. A note accompanying it explained that the money was earned by a show in a garage "that we loved staging. We hope it will be helpful."

The gift is acknowledged gratefully, with deep appreciation of the spirit which makes children the staunchest friends of the ice fund. Another contribution of $1 from Viola M. Davies brought the fund's total for the year to $994.32.

Contributions to the Camp Algonquin fund were:

Rose Brooke Paige	$ 20.00
Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Viven	9.15
Sterne & Maley company	5.00
	$ 34.15
Previously acknowledged	$735.22
Total	$769.37

Donations to either fund should be sent to Chicago Tribune Charities, Tribune Tower. All will be acknowledged gratefully.

Lake Forest Garden Talk.

Mrs. Annette Hoyt Flanders will give the fifth in her series of lectures on gardening at 10:30 o'clock today at the Deerpath inn in Lake Forest.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

It's in the summer that talcum powder comes into its own. From one end of the year to the other talc is a pleasant little helper, but in rather a small way. It should be dusted into foundation garments so they'll slide on beautifully, and it makes the feet feel nice inside your stockings.

But you really appreciate a feathery talcum, especially if it has a fresh fragrance, when the weather is warm. For the last few weeks we've been using one scented with the good, old-fashioned fragrance of spice and we hope never to have to do without it for a summer.

That lovely mixture that is old-fashioned spice has great charm. Is it nutmeg, cinnamon, sage, cloves, ginger? It isn't any one predominantly, but it's a beautiful, appetizing blend of all of these and more. In talc, or toilet water, or soap, or cologne, it's one of the freshest, cleanest, and, somehow, most feminine fragrances imaginable. On a hot day the faintest whiff of it makes you feel all crisp and cool and pert.

The spice talcum comes in a tall, slim cylinder with a trick shaker top that will remind you of the spice tins in your kitchen. The powder is like swansdown and gives the skin the softest, smoothest film imaginable. Use it after your bath, of course. But for cooling comfort be sure you use it during the course of the day when wilting threatens. Your clothes will feel less sticky, your skin cleaner. And the scent of it will enchant you and all those around you.

Jane Cheney to Be Bride of J. W. Cutler Jr.

BY JUDITH CASS.

At a small tea at home in Winnetka yesterday Mr. and Mrs. F. Goddard Cheney announced the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to John Wilson Cutler Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson Cutler of Garrison, N. Y., and New York.

Miss Cheney, a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Horace Kent Tenney of Winnetka, made her debut with Miss Marie Louise Richards and Miss Nancy Dammann at a tea-dance at the Indian Hill club last Christmas holidays. She attended the North Shore Country Day school and Sarah Lawrence college.

Mr. Cutler, who is engaged in business in Chicago, attended St. Mark's school and Harvard university. His sister, Miss Susan Cutler, came from New York for the party yesterday and is spending a few days with the Cheneys. No plans have been made for the wedding.

Dunham Woods Club Water Show Saturday.

The Dunham Woods Riding club will be the setting for a gay party next Saturday night when its annual water carnival is held. Arthur Farwell, Stephen Barrington, Mrs. Winfield Scott Linn, and Mrs. Samuel Insull Jr. are in charge of the entertainment.

They plan to have dinner served around the pool, where there will be a diving exhibition, followed by dancing out of doors. Among those who will give dinner parties at the club that night are Raymond Otis Mitchell, president of the Dunham Woods, and Mrs. Mitchell; the Farwells, the John L. Doles, and the Charles R. Lindsays.

Women's Symphony Season to Open Oct. 16.

Edith Mason and Mario Chamlee have disproved the popular belief that all opera stars are temperamental. The two artists had agreed to open the Woman's Symphony season at Orchestra hall on Oct. 17. After all plans had been made it was discovered that this was the date which had been reserved for the St. Luke's fashion show.

Since many people had made reservations for both events, something had to be done. When Mrs. Royden J. Keith and her co-directors were able to reserve Orchestra hall for Oct. 16, half the battle was won. When Miss Mason and Mr. Chamlee graciously accepted the change in date they insured the success of both gala nights.

By Way of Report.

Josef Pasternack, Polish pianist who came to Chicago last week to take over one of the NBC program orchestras as guest conductor for several weeks, made his first stop in Chicago at a loop bank where two clerks worked for forty-five minutes to straighten out his check book. Pasternack mastered counterpoint, double counterpoint, and triple counterpoint in six months (something like assimilating geometry, trigonometry, and calculus in a couple of weeks), but he still hasn't been able to learn the multiplication table. Has to ask when he wants to know the sum of six times six.

A young man named Ed was nicknamed Red. He read in the ads that any man who had a heavy beard was barred from the best social circles. The young fellow had his chin bared and the girls now think he's a dear. He's the toast of the town as they drink their ade. Good old Ed.

If the hirsute ED had been nicknamed TED he would have been fit to be TIED, because the girls would have TRIED to have made him TIDIER at a time when he was very TIRED. EDIT his probable language. DIE-hard ED.

Cape Cod Casts Summer Charm on Chicagoans

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

Cape Cod, Mass., Aug. 6 [Special].—Wianno, Cotuit, Osterville, Centerville, Oyster Harbors and Hyannis Port are separate dots on the map, but in reality they all run together and it is hard for a stranger to tell in which community she is. Every householder is so loyal to her own village that she can give you reasons galore why it is the pick of the many resorts on this bit of the south shore of Cape Cod, but to you and to me they are as alike as two peas.

All are delightful, with roads and streets that wind through pine groves, along the ocean front, and past the many little ponds that dot the cape. The houses are gray and weatherbeaten or pristine white with green or blue shutters; lawns are beautifully kept and green in spite of the drouth the east is having. There are flowers everywhere.

Famed Beach Makes Centerville Popular.

Centerville is the center of beach life on this part of the cape, for the famous wide Craigville beach is there. Fashionable folk swim at the Centerville Beach club, but the rest of the beautiful beach is for tourists.

Twenty years ago Provincetown was a quaint, charming place; today it has changed greatly. The rest of the cape retains its charm, however, and it is easy to see why thousands think it is the most delightful summer place in the country. Brewster, Dennis, Yarmouth, Chatham, Harwich, Barnstable, Falmouth, and all the other towns and villages [there are fifteen towns and 143 villages on the cape] have their summer colonists as well as their permanent residents. Many of the old houses have been taken over by the "summer folks" and most of the new houses have been built to look as if they had been here since shortly after the Pilgrims landed in 1620.

Some of the loveliest old houses belong to summer colonists because they have come down in their families; for instance, the Walter Dillinghams' place in Brewster. It has been in his family for generations and he still owns it, although he and his wife never have lived in it. They were on the cape this summer for a short time as the guests of the Charles B. Goodspeeds, but the Dillinghams are in Europe now. They probably will visit Chicago in the early autumn before returning to their home in Honolulu.

Odd Combinations Give Charm to Goodspeed Home.

The Goodspeeds' house in Osterville is a typical Cape Cod cottage from the outside, but an old Cape Codder would raise eyebrows the moment she stepped inside, I fear. As Mrs. Goodspeed says, she has thrown inhibitions to the wind and recklessly has combined colors and periods in this century old house that has belonged to her husband's family for several generations.

"It is like looking through a peephole in the end of a fancy Easter egg," said a young visitor to Mrs. Goodspeed as he went into the living room from the tiny entrance hall with its steep stairway going straight up, exactly like the ladder stairs in a sailing vessel.

It is the most delectable room imaginable; Victorian in feeling, but O, such a gay, colorful Victorian. Purple fuchsia and roses gold and white have been put together with such artistic skill that the whole is startling, but not garish. It is a room that is as pretty as a confection and that really looks "good enough to eat."

The living room is the most unusual of all the rooms, but each is a gem. Much of the furniture is old, some is new, even modern in design; and everything is fresh and colorful and distinctive, for Mrs. Goodspeed has original ideas and is not afraid to follow them. She has done much of the actual work herself, including some of the curtain making, tacking up the gold border on the living

BY ANNA NANGLE.

When is a king not a king?

The answer to that little riddle is, "When he has a twin brother," and you can learn what occurs in such an event, if interested, in "The Man in the Iron Mask."

Based on the Dumas story, it is a long tale of court intrigue, filled with clashing swords, bewigged courtiers, galloping horses and, of course, the usual shots of slight, moth eaten, starving subjects necessary to all movies of 17th century France.

When his good queen presented Louis XIII. with a son he and his court rejoiced, but when a twin brother appeared a bit later it was too much of a good thing. The second baby was banished to Gascony in the care of the loyal D'Artagnan, never to know his true identity.

Time proved that the twin who had been given the throne was a vicious, idle spendthrift, who was ably coached in treachery by Fouquet, his oily minister. The latter, aware of the exile's identity, has Philippe and his guardians arrested as rebels, and they are to be executed when Louis realizes that the prisoner's close resemblance to him might be a great convenience, particularly when the people are in a mood to tear their monarch limb from limb. His counterpart becomes much too popular, however, and Louis devises the cruel iron mask, lest his brother's identity be suspected.

Neither an iron mask nor the horrific bastille can stop the swashbuckling D'Artagnan, however, and you can guess the ending.

The entire cast of the film is performed with an almost deadly gravity, and they seemed to be an awfully long time about the whole thing. Such jumping on and off tables and prancing up and down stairs as the heroes duel with and conquer at least twenty men apiece!

Mr. Hayward works hard and sincerely at his dual rôle, and Mr. William has a wonderful time doing the well-nigh impossible frequently and complacently. Miss Bennett is a pretty but rather lifeless Maria Theresa, the princess who provides the love interest.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

In a Spanish Town

Monterey, Cal., Aug. 6.—In the last two decades your reporter has covered quite a bit of territory but we must admit, albeit grudgingly, that this old Spanish town of Monterey, pillowing its traditions and memories in the curve of the Pacific's arm, contains more sheer beauty than he ever has seen before.

A few hours ago, we played a round of golf on the world famous Cypress Point golf course. As you tee off you are conscious of a noise that resembles the hoarse baying of a pack of bloodhounds. At the 16th green you see the cause of the disturbance. One hundred yards from shore, on giant rocky ledges, are herds of sealions, so huge that at first you disbelieve your eyes. Some of them weigh 1,500 pounds and the channel in which they plunge and frolic must be rich in fish to permit them to attain such proportions. To get them to move, the caddies sail stones out across the water and the sealions, barking in protest, waddle off the rocks and plunge into the Pacific. At one time, the channel literally was alive with them, the absurd whiskers giving you the impression of a marine barber shop on a Saturday night.

Cypress Point takes its name from the cypress trees that grow along the ocean. You never have seen such trees in all your life, because the trees have won the right to survive by successfully fighting the winds that bowl in from the Pacific. As a result of this combat, never ceasing, the cypress trees are shaped in fantastic patterns. Their weight is off balance, their foliage is flattened out as if it had been corrugated by a compress. The forests which Walt Disney's animators created in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," and which caused so much comment are a copy of the ocean battered cypress trees.

The most interesting faces you see in this world are those which have been lined and furrowed by struggle. By the same token, these cypress trees, which have won the right to survive in a grim and continuous battle with the Pacific ocean hurricanes, are the most interesting trees you ever will see. Their character is written all over them.

On the magnificent grounds of the Hotel Del Monte, there are trees and shrubs from fifty different countries, all of them prospering in an alien clime and creating a panorama of such disciplined beauty and color that you are wordless to describe it.

The linden tree of Germany lives in pleasant relationship with the cedar of Lebanon, the German tree seemingly not concerned that King Solomon built his temple of cedars of Lebanon. Here is the English yew, from which the men of Robin Hood fashioned their bows. The Grecian laurel, near the swimming pool, is the tree whose leaves crowned Cæsar and gave us the "laurel wreath" reference in common use today.

Live oaks, which were venerated by the Druids, form aisles on the hotel grounds. The black locust is of the genus from which the Ark of the Covenant was built, and the indestructible wood constructed the first ships. Sequoias, pines, English holly trees, and pines thrust their branches to the skies, their limbs and trunks serving as boarding houses for all manners of birds.

In Monterey, drowsing fitfully like an old Spanish lady over a cup of tea, there is the first theater that California boasted. Jack Swan, British sailor, opened the building as a lodging house, but in 1847, when the war with Mexico ended, three regiments of New York volunteers under Col. Stephenson disbanded in Monterey.

While awaiting transportation back east the soldiers formed a stock company. They persuaded Swan to convert one large room into a tiny theater. On that stage they gave the first professional performance of "Putnam: Lion of 1776." The adobe house and theater still stands on Pacific and Scott streets, an interesting museum to a reporter who is covering the Hollywood beat.

Today this is the retreat of people from all over the country. Mostly you see white haired old ladies and white haired old men, occasionally an artist from the Carmel colony. Robert Louis Stevenson was one of the first writers to discover this place and his home is still to be seen in Monterey. An interior decorator uses it as a place of business.

Movie stars come here between pictures to play golf, go horseback riding, swim, and fish. The residents are vociferously proud of the fishing. The hotel offers a fishing boat rent-free if you don't catch a fish. Fishing guide is Hilary Belloc, son of the famous author. I think I'll take them up on their offer, because in my set I'm known as "No Fish" Sullivan.

Sally's Guests to See Drama of Boyhood of George Washington

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

I'll bet that most of you boys and girls have an idea that George Washington, with the exception of the time he cut down the cherry tree [which he manfully owned up to] always was a model boy.

Well, you're wrong. And if you're lucky enough to win an invitation to my party on Aug. 17 at the Jack and Jill theater you'll see some boys and girls act a story which proves it.

One of the three plays which will be presented just for our entertainment concerns the boyhood of our first President.

You have until Thursday to try to win an invitation to this party. All you have to do is write a letter telling me why you think you'd enjoy such entertainment. I'm going to select as my guests fifty boys and fifty girls who seem to me to be most anxious to come.

Don't forget to include your full name, address, and age in your letter, and have it reach me by Thursday morning. The winners will be selected then and their names printed in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

If you want to be in that list you'd better get busy and send that letter to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

"I never thought I would see them again, but that want ad I phoned to the Tribune did what I thought was impossible."

WHENEVER you lose anything of value be sure to telephone a Lost and Found want ad to the Chicago Tribune. Thousands of dollars' worth of property is restored each year to owners who advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Tribune.

Regardless of what you may have lost, or where in Chicago or suburbs you may have lost it, there is a good chance that a Tribune reader will find it.

Every day of the week, the Tribune is read by a majority of all the families in metropolitan Chicago. This is practically as many as read any two other Chicago newspapers combined.

Further, the Tribune is Chicago's big want ad marketplace, carrying far more want advertising and, as a result, attracting far more want ad readers than any other Chicago newspaper.

As an extra service to Tribune Lost and Found advertisers, all such ads are kept for three months after publication in a special register open to the public at the Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 S. Dearborn St. and in Tribune Tower, 435 N. Michigan Ave.

Call Superior 0100 and ask for Miss Miller if you have lost something recently. Miss Miller will help you word your want ad. If your name is in the phone book, you may charge your Tribune want ad.

"STILLE NACHT."

The Licht family celebrated Christmas Eve in German style. They had not been in America long enough to know any other. Their little tree was lighted by candles instead of electric lights. There were homemade cookies and cakes instead of bought candy. On the morrow roast goose would be served instead of roast turkey.

The gifts which Josefa, who was 5 years old, and August, who was 7, would receive on the morrow, were utilitarian. Mama Licht had knitted for each a pair of worsted mittens, caps that could be pulled down over cold ears, sweaters, and thick durable stockings with pronounced ribs. Jointly the children would receive a small German-English, English-German dictionary and a book misleadingly named "English Made Easy."

In the good year nineteen hundred and five when opportunity was rampant in the land instead of importunity, only the select owned talking machines. The Licht family made their own music. Papa Licht played the violin with accuracy and sweetness. He sang tenor. Mama pushed down her bosom the better to see her beloved ones sing contralto.

August and Josefa had true ears and their notes had much in common with those uttered by tree frogs just before a rain. But Josefa's voice was stronger than her brother's and had a wider range. She was the family soloist. When she sang her father was reminded of "golden honey drop by drop down falling."

The Licht family sang mostly the merry square folk-songs which their ancestors had sung before them. But they were not afraid to tackle the songs of Schumann and Schubert.

From the kindly jovial faces of Papa and Mama Licht no one could have guessed that they had spent almost their last cent to make Christmas Christmas and that Papa Licht was out of a job. The children, of course, knew nothing of this. They only knew that this Christmas in a foreign land was almost as nice as last Christmas which, with many friends and relatives, they had celebrated in the Bavarian mountains. It lacked only snow and a freezing temperature to be perfect.

The temperature in particular was trying. When Papa Licht turned the steam heat off the room soon got too cold. And when he turned it on again the room soon got too hot. Papa Licht was not a pig-headed or a stubborn man. In all his dealings with persons, events and conditions he was inclined to compromise. And as it drew toward bed time he compromised with the weather. He turned the steam heat half off and opened a window half way. The immediate beneficiaries of this arrangement were not only the overheated family group, but certain passers in the street who heard the singing and paused for a little to hear more of it.

For the most part the passersby belonged to the working classes, but the two who lingered longest, wore warm coats with fur collars, white silk mufflers, and high silk hats. They were a tall man and a short man in their thirties; both were smooth shaven. The short man had a powerful jutting jaw, through which his close shaven beard showed blue. He had snapping dark eyes. The tall man had a merry but not a strong face. He smelled of champagne and brandy.

"Well," said the tall man," that's that. Let's get a move on."

"Just a minute," said the short man, "Perhaps they will sing again. And where we're going we shan't hear anything better."

The tall man shrugged his shoulders, lifted an eyebrow and turned his eyes upward to the half open second story window through which the merry wistful strains of "Röslein, Röslein, Röslein rot, Röslein auf Heide" had twinkled down to them.

It was ten o'clock. It was the time according to Papa Licht when all good children who hoped to be up bright and early on Christmas morning ought to be in bed.

"So let us one more song sing," he said, "and so good night."

Josefa knew what was expected of her. She was to begin the song and the others would presently join in. It was his favorite song. It could have been anybody's.

Her little face was extraordinarily white, her hair and eyebrows were extraordinarily black. Her cheeks were red. Her eyes were bright blue. She was at once plump and slim and beautifully made. Looking at her with tears forming in his eyes she reminded Papa Licht of a sturdy spring flower. He touched a string of his violin ever so softly and gave her the key. And she began to sing "Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht."

The short man listening in the street below was not as prosperous as he looked. He exploited young children for a living, and that living depended altogether too much on the talents of the exploited. But he was not without the capacity for deep and sincere emotion. And if he was figuring the value of dollars and cents of the golden honey drops of the child's voice, he was also deeply moved by the exaltation and the starry beauty of the voice for its own sake and of the song.

The short man while not a churchgoer had in him a pronounced streak of reverence for the names of God and holy things. And he was forever dramatizing himself. So he took off his hat and stood with bowed bare head, graying at the temples, until the singing in which now the other members of the Licht family had sweetly joined was over.

There is room for sentiment in every man's life, but the chief business of an impresario is business.

The short man clapped the hat back on his head.

"Mostly," he said, "voices like that come out of little girls who are ugly as mud fences."

"How do you know it don't come out of a little boy?"

"My ears tell me," answered the short man. "Do you mind waiting for me? I won't be two minutes."

He dashed up the worn steps of the building two at a time and rang the bell. There was no immediate response. He tried the door and discovered that it was not locked. He entered an unfurnished hallway dimly lighted by one gas jet. He went up two flights of stairs two steps at a time. He guessed at the door which might lead to the room with the half open window, through which the singing had stolen out into the night.

The card on the door upon which the short man was about to knock carried the name—August Licht—hand-printed in ink.

The short man tried to twist the name into a favorable omen.

"Licht," he murmured "light—light—a new light in the vaudeville business!" And he knocked.

In the arteries and veins of the short man many strains of blood circulated, and he was fluent in half a dozen of the languages which went with the strains. And when the door was opened to him he said in German:

"Have I the honor Mr. August Licht to address?"

He had that honor.

And the sound of his own beloved Gothic tongue in the stranger's pleasant assured voice, brought a beaming into Mr. Licht's face.

"I am Lee Reynolds," said the short man.

Mr. August Licht was pleased to make the acquaintance of Mr. Lee Reynolds. The unfaltering, slightly bulging eyes, the tall silk hat, the yellow wash leather gloves, and the fur trimmed coat inspired him with confidence.

"My business," explained Mr. Reynolds, "that of an impresario is. I talent out seek and it train."

"So?" ejaculated Mr. Licht who did not understand what Mr. Reynolds was talking about. Mr. Reynolds explained. His quick eyes had appraised the children. The little girl was exquisite. She was a find. She could be taught to sing, he explained. The little feet could be taught to tap and shuffle and dance. Her extraordinary blue black and white white coloring combined with red red cheeks and blue blue eyes would knock the public for a goal. Times were hard. Money was scarce. But he, Lee Reynolds, was never one to haggle. During the entire period of training and trial which would last for at least a year he stood ready to pay—

But here Mr. Licht interrupted. He did not believe that children should be too much praised to their faces. Even if Josefa was only five years old it might give her ideas. He had served his time in the army. He could imitate the precise tone in which the more human officers gave orders.

"Children," he commanded, "to the gentleman goodnight say and then to your bed go."

A LIGHT BY WHICH TO LIVE.

Red rage flooded as he took the letter and saw that Leopoldine had opened it. But the message itself had power to calm him. His anger gave way to a quiet strength. For once he was on top of the monstrous situation.

"That is her way of thanking me for the service your money enabled me to do. It was Franz, you see, who took passage under the beetroots on the barge."

He saw her shrink before his eyes. "O, no—that's impossible. You're lying ——"

"No, Pola. You've got to know the truth. I know you got Franz arrested—I know how—I knew when he was released, and I felt it was up to me to counteract your mischief by helping him out of the country."

Her hand went automatically to the telephone on the table beside the sofa. He shook his head.

"No use. I'm not the fool you think I am. He is already safe with my friends. I put a call through to Kelnyak before I came in and learned that the horse had weathered the journey well and arrived at the farm safely." He laughed a little ruefully. "I feel as empty as you do, but thank God—not so dirty."

She could still fight. "I don't feel dirty."

He got up and walked to the window as if he needed a deep draught of air. "Then, by God, you should. For to use the pangs of a drug addict to get your way was the dirtiest thing a woman could do." He turned around to her—"and a woman doctor at that."

Leopoldine put her hand on her throat struggling with her breath. "You know—you know that?"

"Is it so difficult when the man comes here like a maniac at all hours of the night and goes away like a lamb? Even the servants could guess it. But has it ever occurred to you that when you don't give him what he wants at once he doesn't talk, he screams. And so do you. The night you told him you'd been out to Kestelberg and found Franz gone and he wouldn't get another grain till he got Franz back. I heard every word of it. I went round to the Reichsratstrasse right then and caught Franz in time to save him making a fool of himself, trying to get over the frontier without help and without friends."

"You're a jealous fool," he said contemptuously. "Some day you'll thank me. Did it ever occur to you that it was easy enough to get him arrested, but when it came to a trial for treason you might not have been able to get him out? How's that for the end of a perfect love story?"

She leaped up and rushed at him, and before he could defend himself gave him a ringing slap on the cheek. He caught her wrists which were almost as strong as his own and they glared at each other furiously. Suddenly he flung her aside and rushed out, swung himself down the stairs, and burst out of the house. He did not look back at it till he reached the corner by the park. Then he looked at it with loathing. I will never return, he thought, I have my salary to live on—I will live decently—I will send for my things.

The black car was Leopoldine's, a recent and mysterious acquisition, for which—having had one already—she had little use. So now Karl went to the street car on foot, fingering the blue envelope in his breast pocket. He was not after all so empty as Leopoldine. He had a light by which to live.

There was a great feast going on by torchlight on trestle tables outside the Jarolyi farm. Neighbors from far and near were bidden, not because they had any interest in Franz's adventure, nor would be told more than was good for them, but because the Jarolyis enjoyed living and a feast with wine and dancing and wild czardas music was something they had a mind to enjoy.

They explained it was to honor their American guest and show her the customs of the country. Also to teach her a real dance that speeded the heart and sent the blood leaping through the veins. They taught her and Franz the flying rhythmic steps and danced them breathless.

The idea of the feast was no mistake from any point of view. It seemed to Franz and Marian that it saved them a terrible reaction from their fear and suffering. In a great burst of color, music, dancing, and laughter the worst of the horror of the immediate past was painlessly wiped away.

The guests did not begin to tire and go home till the pearly light of dawn began to silver the plains. Franz and Marian walked down to the Danube's bank to watch the broad rushing waters reflect the red banners in the sky before the coming of the sun. They stood with their arms about each other, bodies touching, too happy to have any need of words.

"It was a glorious experience," said Franz at length, "worth a tough swim to learn that the world holds such marvelous people."

"I wish Karl could have been there, too," said Marian thoughtfully.

"A great, great fellow. I'd give my right arm to find a way I could repay him."

But Marian's young eyes had looked very deep into the hearts of men. "He'll never want it. It would spoil his pleasure. We must remain forever in his debt."

room walls, and draping the shell pink chanel lace that makes the curtains for that room. She was in the midst of stitching eyelet embroidery curtains for her dressing room when I called on her. Mr. Goodspeed and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. J. Andrews King, had gone to Nantucket in the Goodspeed steam yacht, the Bobs.

The Kings left Friday, but immediately all of the guest chambers at Weeping Willows were filled, for Mr. and Mrs. Goodspeed are having a large house party this week. Among their guests are Miss Alice Roullier of Chicago, and Thornton Wilder, who is playing in his play, "Our Town," at the Cape Playhouse in Dennis.

Edward C. Crossett Villa Filled with Guests.

The large Italian villa of the Edward C. Crossetts at Wianno is filled with house guests this week, too, for all of the family are assembled to celebrate Mr. Crossett's birthday tomorrow. The John Mothersheads, the Edward Frenches and their children, and, of course, Miss Carolyn Crossett, who is spending the entire summer with her parents at Lynwood. Mrs. Crossett's mother, Mrs. James A. Rankin of Pasadena, is at the family reunion, also.

Mrs. Crossett or her daughter is a winner in almost every dance contest at the Wianno club, which holds such affairs weekly. Every Wednesday night the attractive coral cocktail lounge of the club [decorated by Mrs. Crossett, whose husband is president of the club] is filled with summer colonists, eager to participate in or to watch the dancing. Mrs. Crossett was judged one of the best tango dancers week before last and Miss Crossett was one of the best rhumba dancers last week. The final competition of all the winners of the summer will be held on Aug. 31.

Spending the summer in a cottage across the road from the clubhouse is Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, who has with her her 3 year old grandson, John Visconti di Modrone. The little boy is just back from New York, where he went to bid his father farewell upon the latter's departure for duty with the Italian army in Ethiopia. Mrs. Ethel Prindiville of New York, formerly of Chicago, has been Mrs. Fairbanks' house guest and now has taken quarters at the club for the rest of the summer.

Numerous Chicagoans Summering on Cape.

Mrs. Seymour Wheeler has a charming house on Seaview avenue, where also are the club, the Crossett house, and Mrs. George J. Jaeger's house. Mrs. George R. Nichols Sr., whose daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nichols Jr., has a house at Watch Hill, spends every summer at the Wianno club.

Among other Chicagoans in this vicinity are Mrs. John A. Spoor, the Rev. and Mrs. Duncan H. Browne, Mr. and Mrs. Ariel Meinrath and their daughter, Mrs. James H. Tatman; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Whitcomb, Mrs. Robert M. Roloson, the Francis P. Butlers and their daughter, Miss Jessica; the William France Andersons, the Secor Cunninghams, the George S. Paysons, and Mrs. Lawrence H. Vilas and her daughters, Betty and Marian.

Mrs. Hugh Johnston McBirney of Lake Forest, the former Deborah Butler, is visiting her parents now.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Geraghty are expected at the club in mid-August for a two weeks' stay.

Crocheted Chair Set Helps Shield Fine Furnishings

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

No matter what the style of one's upholstered furniture, she needs chair sets to keep them protected from the natural oils of hair and skin. With crocheted antimacassars casually placed on chair or sofa backs and arms, you can prolong the beauty of your furnishings. This set is easily made with your favorite crochet hook. The design is a medallion, simple to execute, and in your leisure moments you can fashion a living room chair set in a very short time.

For instructions in crocheting the chair set, No. X-4742, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.

[Central Daylight Saving Time.]

Breezing Along, the half hour of fun and music, featuring Beverly and her Bel-Airs, Johnny Green's orchestra, and Ray Block's choir, formerly on W-G-N and Mutual on Friday nights, will be presented each Monday at 7 p. m. henceforth. The Bob Hawk quiz game, Name Three, usually offered at this time, will be presented at 7 o'clock Wednesday nights.

The Pageant of Melody, conducted by Henry Weber on W-G-N and the Mutual network from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m., will present Attilio Baggiore, tenor; Raphael Spiro, violinist, and the concert orchestra in a program of semi-classical music. Baggiore will sing "Cielo e Mar" from "La Gioconda," and with the octet will do "Lassie o' Mine," by Walt, and "Song of Songs," by De Moya. Spiro and Weber will give a violin and piano presentation of Fritz Kreisler's "Gypsy Caprice."

Capt. E. D. C. Herne will be heard with highlights in the day's news at 6:15 p. m.

Musical Screen Tests, a quiz program featuring Johnnie [Scat] Davis and his orchestra and Ed Allen as master of ceremonies, will be presented from 11:30 p. m. to 12:30 a. m.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Par contests" continue very much in favor in England and, indeed, in most of the world outside of the United States. For some strange reason American players never have been greatly interested in this sort of contest, aside from the always popular world bridge Olympic, held annually. As I have explained heretofore in this column, a par contest is one in which the hands are made up by a committee and, of course, special points of bidding or play [perhaps both] are involved. Usually, so that all contestants will start off on an even basis, one of the positions [South, for example] is directed to play the hand at a specified contract and West's opening lead also is directed. From that point all players are on their own, that is, if the declarer finds the best plan of attack he earns his "par," and the same goes for the defenders.

Here is a hand that was included in the last set played in England. According to the British Bridge World magazine, very few contestants found the method of defeating the four spade contract.

South, dealer.

♦ 7 6 5

SOUTH
♥ A J 10
♦ J 4 2
♣ Q 3

The bidding recommended by the British committee [with which I concur] is:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 clubs	2 diamonds	Pass
2 spades	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

West, whether left to his own devices or following the direction of the committee, naturally opens the club king and, when dummy is exposed, can do no better than cash his club ace. East's failure to echo [which would show only two clubs] is disappointing, but if West analyzes the situation thoroughly, he will find that there is no hope except through the continuation of club leads. It is perfectly obvious that no trick in the red suits can be expected by the defenders. Hence the fact that declarer will be able to ruff a third club in one hand while discarding in the other cannot be harmful to the defense. It is not immediately apparent just what good it can do, but that is only because few players with West's hand would look ahead far enough to build a logical objective. West's possession of the nine of spades, along with the A-7, is the crux. It is not too much to hope that East has the spade ten. If he has, and it is not a singleton, West can be absolutely sure of defeating the contract!

Notice how continued club leads work out: On the lead of the third club declarer probably will ruff in dummy while discarding a diamond or heart [he gains nothing by ruffing in his own hand]. Now, on the first trump lead, West captures the king and, according to plan, leads a fourth round of clubs. When East, on this lead, produces the spade ten [regardless of dummy's play], West comes into his own. Declarer is forced to waste an honor in order to overruff East and now West's guarded nine spot becomes the setting trick. Again I concur with the remark of the British Bridge World: "The play does not seem difficult when it is pointed out, but the position is one with which players are not familiar." The logical conclusion is that players will do well to familiarize themselves with this type play.

Brussels Near the End of Her Lace Treasures

BY RHEA SEEGER.

BRUSSELS [By Mail].—When the lure of fine lace bites you, it's a spell that cannot be broken. You can gloat for hours over the present assortments of fine lace, knowing that you are fingering museum pieces and seeing superlative handmade lace that cannot be duplicated. This is the last of the lace because patient young lace makers are no more.

Lace that is available now is a matter of meters—short lengths, odd pieces to be used for insertions on satin and silk, some banding, a few squares and scarfs, and yokes. Delicate beyond description, each tiny pattern is seldom repeated.

Lace is really a symphony, variations of a theme, rhythm and beauty, light and shadow, sadness and joy, all patiently evolved with bobbins, pins, and a dull black pad that slowly taxes the strength of the strongest eyes.

Even the fine net backgrounds of the lace are made by hand—just the right delicacy of background for the graceful design of leaves and flowers. Tiny flowers, difficult to see, have realistic petals lapped one over another until the realistic curve of a rose is achieved. Rapidly becoming a forgotten art, real lace is doubly irresistible to the connoisseur.

Berthas or yokes are especially good buys. The thread of the lace is a fine but sturdy linen so that the yokes can be appliqued to the bodices of velvet or other heavy material with dramatic distinction. A real lace yoke can be used again and again and in a dozen different ways, depending upon the imagination of the dress designer. Long panels and unusual shaped yokes are equally versatile performers. Even the bandings and the lace edgings are equal to this long life of decoration, easily appliqued and changed as desired.

Still more rare and even more alluring to the lace collector are the romantically beautiful pieces of black real lace.

PINGEL GIVES ALL-STAR SQUAD KICKING STRENGTH

MICHIGAN STATE HALF BACK HAS UNIQUE RECORD

He May Be Spark of Attack.

One More Day

FINAL returns in the national poll to determine the college All-Americans' coaching staff will be published tomorrow. Voting ended at midnight Saturday.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Each All-Star game has produced a superstar. The game Aug. 30 in Soldiers' field between the recently elected All-American squad and the New York Giants will not be an exception.

Sometimes, these players, who captured the applause of thousands, were those on whom all had relied for a superlative performance. Chuck Bernard and Ed Krause bulwarked the line which held the Chicago Bears scoreless. Sammy Baugh, although unknown in midwestern territory, lived up to his reputation as a great passer the night the All-Stars defeated the Green Bay Packers.

In other games, those who played stellar rôles were unheralded. Bill Shepherd of Western Maryland and Tuffy Leemans of George Washington university proved their superiority in a field of nationally known players. And Leemans, still a star in professional football, will lead New York's attack against the collegians this year.

Fans Did Real Job on Back Field!

On this squad of sixty-nine All-Stars who report for training Saturday are many already well known. Of the eleven starting men, only Bob MacLeod of Dartmouth and Bowden Wyatt of Tennessee never have appeared in games in this territory. Too much cannot be written of these players. The back field, as a unit, even may be called the best ever elected by the fans. MacLeod and Marshall Goldberg, power runners, shifty in the open, will be supported by Wisconsin's Howie Weiss, a line smasher, who also can run with the best of half backs, even as Northwestern remembers from its defeat last fall.

When these husky lads are not running or blocking, there is Davey O'Brien, starting quarter back, to be considered. Davey's quite a passer, and since Baugh proved himself in the All-Star game, most folks now are willing to believe that Texas Christian has produced another gridiron great.

Somewhere on this year's squad undoubtedly is the young man who will spark the attack. Perhaps, like Purdue's Cecil Isbell, who labored in training camp in the shadow of Whizzer White, and then became the most valuable player to his team when the battle began, he must wait until the "regulars" retire. And if you're guessing who that young man might be, consider Johnny Pingel of Michigan State.

Warner Makes It Unanimous.

Charles Bachman, his coach, believes he's the greatest half back he ever coached. Splendid praise. Michigan State swears by the youngster from Mount Clemens. Understandable. But when rival teams and coaches such as Glen Warner praise him unstintedly, then it is unanimous.

Pingel is a kicker, runner, and passer. In his sophomore year he averaged 7.7 yards for each time he carried the ball. In his junior year he averaged 42.6 yards for fifty-one kicks. And last season he completed forty-seven forward passes in ninety-one attempts for a total gain of 539 yards. Finally, Pingel never has had a kick blocked. He never has taken time out for injury. All of which

So Wishing Will Make It So, Eh?

Well, Brother, just try it and see how you fare on Aug. 30, compared to the fellow who steps down to the Tribune's Public Service office, either in the lobby of the Tribune Tower or 1 South Dearborn street, and purchases his tickets for the game between the College All-Stars and the New York Giants. Or even with the fellow who writes a check payable to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and mails it to the All-Star Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago. You'll find out, friend. And How!

228,234 See Games

MAJOR league baseball yesterday attracted 228,234 fans into eight parks in a turnout surpassed only by the 249,541 attendance at the games of July 4.

The crowd of 76,753 which saw the Cleveland Indians sweep a double-header from the Yankees ranked with the half dozen largest in the history of baseball. The all-time record was 84,041 at Yankee stadium May 30, 1938, in a double-header with the Boston Red Sox. The seating capacity of the stadium for baseball is approximately 75,000.

Attendance at other big league games yesterday was:

American league — Boston, 35,000; Washington, 12,000; Philadelphia, 7,535.

National league—Pittsburgh, 37,665 [capacity]; Cincinnati, 30,653; Chicago, 18,198, and St. Louis, 10,430.

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—Rewarding a crowd of 76,753, one of the largest in the history of baseball, with performances saved for special occasions, Bob Feller and Mel Harder pitched the Cleveland Indians to 5 to 4 and 7 to 1 victories over the world champion Yankees today. Previously the Indians had taken only two out of sixteen games played with New York this season. Feller earned his sixteenth victory on five hit pitching and Harder closed up even tighter with a four hit job in the second game.

Lefty Gomez matched Feller's five hit game in the opener and each team included two homers in its allotment, but the break of the game came in the second inning when Ken Keltner walked and scored from first when George Selkirk fumbled Jeff Heath's single. Two more passes and Odell Hale's home run brought three runs in the third and Heath slammed the first pitch for another homer in the seventh.

The Yankee scoring was confined to Joe DiMaggio's thirteenth homer in the second and Joe Gordon's seventeenth with two on in the fourth. The only run against Harder in the second game came in the sixth on a pair of singles and an infield out. The veteran right hander stopped Selkirk's streak of hitting in consecutive games at fifteen. Bump Hadley held the Indians to three hits in the seven innings he worked, but gave up three runs.

SOX LOSE THIRD IN ROW ON PARADE OF ERRORS, 4 TO 3

Lyons Makes One of Six in Final with Senators.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—Ted Lyons has gone for spans of several years without making an error, but this afternoon he watched his White Sox mates make five errors, then indulged in a sixth himself to allow the Senators to score in the ninth for a 4 to 3 victory and a sweep of the three game series.

And so ended the third Chicago 1939 visit to the eastern sector of the American league, a journey in which they won six games and lost nine, seven of the losses having been suffered by the margin of one run. Three of the Washington runs were unearned as a result of the scourge of errors that totaled an even dozen, and almost as many other misplays during the three day visit here.

Plain Case of Jitters.

The Sox came to town with a proud record of 11 victories in 14 games with the Senators. Some of their earlier misplays were due to a high hat attitude they were displaying when they came here. But today as they faced the Senators, who were after their seventh straight victory, it appeared to be just plain jitters that caused their downfall. No wonder, with the sixth placers going about the business of scoring as many successes in three days as they had previously all season.

Two of the Chicago errors this afternoon were concentrated in the ninth inning. Dutch Leonard opened the last inning by beating out a bunt to McNair. George Case bunted and Joe Kuhel had what appeared an easy play to force Leonard at second, but he threw low to Luke Appling for Sox error No. 5. Buddy Lewis bunted to Lyons and Ted threw past Kuhel for error No. 6, Leonard scoring the run that brought his season tabulation to twelve victories against four defeats. Lyons, instead of winning his eleventh game, was charged with his fourth defeat.

Appling Starts Error Parade.

It took the Sox four innings to even up the damage done by Case and Lewis, first two batters for the Senators, neither of whom got a hit. After the Sox had been retired in order at the start of the game, Case opened the Washington offense by reaching first on Appling's fumble, the earliest possible place for error No. 1. Lewis walked, then West singled, Case scoring and Lewis reaching third. Wright's sacrifice fly scored Lewis, then Travis forced West. Bloodworth singled to right, but Hayes threw out Vernon.

The Sox knocked a single, a double, and a single and got a run in the third inning. Tresh singled with one down and scored on Lyons' double to left. Hayes bounced to Lewis and Lyons was run down, Lewis to Bloodworth. Kuhel singled to right, putting Hayes on third, and reached second on a throw to third. Walker then filed to Case.

Rosenthal Ties Up Game.

The Sox got busy after two were out in the fourth and tied the score. Appling fanned and Radcliff was thrown out by Lewis. Then McNair walked and scored on Rosenthal's double to right. Rosenthal reached third on a passed ball, but Tresh grounded to Lewis.

Washington took a 3 to 2 lead in the fifth on its second unearned run. With one out Lewis singled to center, West knocked his third straight hit, a single to center. Rosenthal apparently had a good chance to get Lewis going to third on West's hit until McNair let the ball get through him to the dugout. Lewis was waved home and West to third on Eric's error. Wright popped to Appling and Appling threw out Travis.

The Sox made an unearned run in the sixth to again tie the score. Appling was safe on Lewis' fumble and

Nicholson Leads 9th Inning Rally.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs threw errors at Beston's Bees yesterday and the Bees threw them back. An army of men marched into battle and then marched out again. Finally a fellow named Max West boomed a home run into the right field runway and this wallop, the only hit surrendered by Rescuer Claude Passeau in four innings, sent the champions crashing to defeat in the twelfth inning. The score was 9 to 8.

In their long journey, the Cubs moved from comedy into bits of heavy drama. Three successive errors by Billy Herman and Bob Mattick in the first inning sent the Bees zooming away to a five run lead. They added to this a bit at a time at the expense of Vance Page. But the Cubs eventually got under way. They routed old Danny MacFayden in the seventh and did the same to his successor, Leif Errickson, in the ninth when a triple by Rookie Bill Nicholson led to a three run rally that tied the score, 8 to 8.

Nicholson Is Busy.

Kid Nicholson's triple wasn't the only item he contributed to the assault. He was stopped the first time on a liner to Cuccinello. But in the fourth he peeled off a double which almost produced a run. He singled in the sixth when the Cubs began their scoring and in the seventh he was the beneficiary of an error. The young man now has a collection of one homer, three triples, one double and three singles to show for his five days of major-leaguing.

West's homer served its purpose for the Bees only because of the ancient Al Simmons. Glen Russell, whose single drove in the tying run in the ninth, singled again to open the twelfth. He was bunted to second by Dick Bartell and stayed there while Lefty Shoffner was tossing out Manager Gabby Hartnett. Bob Garbark, last of the Cub reserves, batted for Passeau and lined low into left. Simmons tore in, reached down with his glove, closed it around the ball and hung on as he somersaulted over the turf for the final out.

'Twas a Bit Fuzzy.

The Cubs got one man out of the way in the first inning before their fancy diving act. Mattick did his bit by throwing wild to G. Russell on Cooney's grounder. Simmons bounced to Herman, who had visions of a double play but neglected to pick up the ball. Hassett liked the act so well that he gave Herman a chance to repeat it. Herman did, Cooney scoring. Cuccinello also bounced to Herman and the ball skidded off his shin, but the scorer decided there had been enough errors for one inning and ruled it a hit. It sent Simmons home and put Hassett on third.

West rifled a double into Leiber's center field territory, scoring Hassett. An intentional pass to Lopez loaded the bases. Cuccinello scampered home on Sisti's long fly to Leiber. MacFayden slashed a hit down the left field line and could easily have stretched it into a double, but he decided a single was sufficient. The drive scored West with the fifth run, after which Warstler concluded the giddy session by fanning.

Leiber Just Misses.

The Cubs were given some unexpected assistance by Cuccinello in the FATHER OF FOUR WINS $5,000 AT WASHINGTON PK.

Sees Races First Time; Picks Seven Winners.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

For the second time in his life, James L. O'Grady, 4028 North Kilpatrick avenue, will see the inside of a horse racing plant today, and he's assured of collecting $5,000 without making a single bet.

James L. O'Grady.

That's the amount due to O'Grady for winning the patrons' handicap award at Washington Park Saturday when he attended races for the first time—and picked seven winners in eight races.

Walter L. Gregory, president of the Washington Park Jockey club, announced last night that O'Grady, 40 years old and father of four children, had been declared winner of the award that accumulated during the first week of racing at the Homewood track. He is an elevator starter in the De Paul building, 64 East Lake street.

Plan Purchase of Home.

Gregory will present him the check for $5,000 this afternoon as the second week of racing starts with a program of seven claiming races and an allowance event for 2 year olds.

Coincident with receiving the award, O'Grady starts on his vacation today. And his wife, Gertrude, already has given assent to the idea that they use the money to purchase a new home for their family. Last week they couldn't even make a down payment on one, she stated. The children are Helen Louise, 9 years old; Robert Leonard, 7; Alice, 5, and James Richard, 2.

No one was able to pick the winners of the first seven races in the patrons' handicaping contest on any single day last week, so that the $1,000 offered Monday grew to $2,000 Tuesday, $3,000 Wednesday, $4,000 Thursday, and $5,000 Friday. According to the rules of the contest, the prize, if not won the first five days, must be paid Saturday to the person exhibiting the greatest skill by selecting the largest number of winners.

Picks 1st, 2d, and 3d.

O'Grady said he had followed the horses through news print for years, but never had seen a race until he decided to shoot for the Saturday prize. He selected six winners out of the first seven races, missing only the second, his choice being Little Empress, and the winner My Luck. There were three other men and two women, however, who also had selected six winners, but O'Grady went them one better. Not only did he name the first place horse in the eighth race, but the second and third place winners as well. Selections in the eighth race are used only in case of a tie in the seven race contest.

When informed last night that he had won the prize, O'Grady admitted that he and his wife have some sort of system with which they often have picked winners. But he refused to say what it is or how it works.

Besides announcing the award winner, track officials also stated yesterday that the Washington Park attendance and mutuel handle were considerably above that for the same period of last season.

Oak Brook Team Wins in Polo Tourney at Detroit

SMILIN' JACK—SPECIAL DELIVERY

Ladies' Boat Race Won by Betty Friend

Betty Ruth Friend, daughter of Commodore Milton Friend of the Columbia Yacht club, won the club's annual Lady Skippers' race yesterday in her cutter Osprey II. Nine boats competed in the six nautical mile race from Grant Park to Jackson Park harbors.

The Wilmette Snipe class fleet defeated the Chicago Snipe fleet of Montrose harbor off Wilmette harbor in the second race for the inter fleet perpetual trophy. Ten sloops from each fleet competed in the six mile race. Hi Ho, owned by A. M. Andrews and sailed by Hunt R. Schlagel, of the Wilmette fleet, was first.

Schnabel's Yankee Wins.

Ed Schnabel's Yankee won its second race in two days by defeating the Universal division fleet of the Chicago Yacht club in the final race of the Commodore's cup series off Belmont harbor. Harry Nye Jr.'s Star class racer Gale won the club's eighth championship race for Star boats.

Fran Byrne, at the tiller of his Jackson Park Yacht club one design dinghy Debutramp, won the two day series with the Beach and Tennis club of Chicago yesterday with a total score of 54 points. Willis Ware, with his daughter Leslie as crew, won the Columbia Yacht club's series of ten Frostbite dinghy races in Grant park harbor. Ware won five of the events in his dinghy Mr. Big, defeating eleven other B class craft.

Donamac, Twin Star Triumph.

Donamac, Donald A. MacNeil's 40 foot motor cruiser, won the Southern Shore Yacht club's flag race, and Twin Star won the Sheridan Shore Yacht club's star class race yesterday, sailing the seven mile course in 1 hour 5 minutes and 16 seconds.

CLUBS FLY DOWN THE GOLF COURSE IN NEWEST STUNT

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 6 (AP).—Golf clubs were thrown in all directions at the Minnetrista Municipal course today, but, strangely enough, nobody was peeved or on destruction bent.

It was a club heaving contest organized by Roy Byrd, the professional. The winner was 140 pound Herman Jones, who wound up with his steel shafted putter and let it fly seventy-four yards down the practice fairway to defeat twenty-three others, including some of the club's huskiest swingers.

"I just remembered about that four foot putt I missed on No. 16 and let 'er fly," Jones said.

Six clubs suffered broken shafts and many others sailed into trees off the marked course which was a strip of fairway forty-five yards wide.

Parker and McNeill Win Meadow Club's Doubles

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP).—Frankie Parker of Beverley Hills, Cal., and Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, Olka., won the doubles title of the Meadow club annual invitation tournament today by defeating Bobby Riggs of Chicago and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., 6-1, 6-4, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3.

Paychek Meets Strickland in Return Bout

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—A world's champion and a former champion return to the boxing wars this week in headline bouts. In a return heavyweight bout Johnny Paychek and the New Zealander, Maurice Strickland, tangle tomorrow night in Des Moines. Strickland recently defeated the Des Moines slugger to end a long streak of Paychek victories.

Fred Apostoli of San Francisco, recognized in New York and California as middleweight champion, takes on Mohamed Fahmy, Egyptian 160 pounder, in a ten rounder in Springfield, Mass., Monday night.

One of the contenders to his crown, Ceferino Garcia of Los Angeles, also will see action this week. He meets Bobby Pacho in Hollywood Legion stadium Friday night.

Mello Bettina, the Beacon, N. Y., southpaw who recently lost his light heavyweight championship bout to Billy Conn and who takes on Conn in a return bout next month, meets Hobo Williams from Miami in a ten rounder in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Tuesday night.

4 SEMI-FINALISTS DECIDED IN C.Y.O. BASEBALL LEAGUE

The four teams which will play in the semi-finals of the C. Y. O. baseball league were decided yesterday. St. Roman, defending champion, and St. Adrian will be the south side representatives and St. Andrew and St. Bartholomew will represent the north section.

St. Adrian came through round robin play with three victories and no defeats, while the other three won two games and lost one.

St. Adrian defeated St. Susanna yesterday 7 to 1.

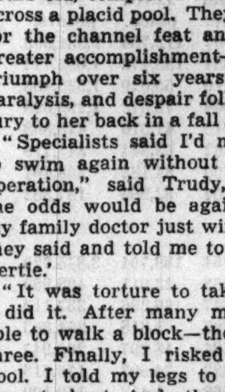
St. Andrew beat St. Viator, 9 to 5, and St. Roman whipped St. Cecelia, 5 to 0. St. Bartholomew completed its schedule a week ago.

Body of Former Baseball Player Sent to Adel, Ia.

The body of Charley Brockway, 64 years old, one time American association player, who died in Chicago Saturday, today will be sent to Adel, Ia., for burial Tuesday. Funeral expenses have been assumed by the Association of Professional Baseball Players of America which secures its funds from active players paying annual dues and from a percentage of receipts at the yearly major league All-Star game.

13 Years Later Miss Ederle Is Cheered Again

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—They gave Gertrude Ederle a big hand tonight. It was 13 years to the day since she swam the English channel — 35 miles of heavy seas from Gris-Nez, France, to Kingsdown, England, in a little over fourteen hours.



Gertrude Ederle.

So 10,000 fans at the Aquacade, a giant swimming show at the New York World's Fair, cheered and stamped when Gertrude, now 32 years old, completed her short sprint across a placid pool. They cheered her for the channel feat and for a still greater accomplishment—here recent triumph over six years of sickness, paralysis, and despair following an injury to her back in a fall six years ago.

"Specialists said I'd never be able to swim again without a dangerous operation," said Trudy, "and then the odds would be against me. But my family doctor just winked at what they said and told me to 'keep tryin', Gertie.'

"It was torture to take steps; but I did it. After many months I was able to walk a block—then two—then three. Finally, I risked a dip in a pool. I told my legs to kick and my arms to beat. And—they did.

"Sometimes I wonder why Broadway doesn't bring out its band and throw ticker tape on some of those real heroes who overcome great physical handicaps—paralysis and sickness and things like that."

SABIN BEATEN AT RYE; LOSES DAVIS CUP TENNIS BID

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP).—The eastern grass court tournament, one of the last important testing grounds before the Davis cup matches, opened today at the Westchester Country club, and one important name was immediately chopped off when Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore., was defeated by Martin Buxby of Miami, Fla., 7-5, 5-7, 8-6.

Sabin, who put himself in bad with the U. S. L. T. A. last week by walking out on the Southampton tournament, lost whatever remaining chance he had for cup consideration by allowing Buxby to take his measure.

Among other victors today were Marvin Wachman of Chicago, Bryan Grant of Atlanta, Ga., and Frank Guernsey of Orlando, Fla. Wachman defeated Carlton Rood of Brooklyn, 6-3, 6-4; Grant beat Bobby Low of New York, 6-1, 6-2, and Guernsey won from George Toley of Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-3.

Alice Marble, fresh from her triumph at East Hampton, was the first of the women to gain the third round. She defeated Cecilie Riegel of Philadelphia, 6-0, 6-0, after a first round bye. Helen Germanine of New York was a round behind after her 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 triumph over Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Cal.

Suspend Syracuse Coach 180 Days in Umpire Row

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP).—Jimmy Walsh, coach of the Syracuse Chiefs of the International Baseball league, was under suspension of 180 playing days today. The suspension was revealed in a letter from W. G. Bramham president of the National Association of Professional Baseball clubs, and resulted from an argument with Umpire Swanson in a game here with Montreal a week ago yesterday. Walsh said he planed an appeal to the executive board of the National association.

Willman Finishes First in Riverview Midget Race

Tony Willman, Milwaukee, last night won the forty lap feature midget auto race at the Riverview Speedway. Bob Muhlke of Chicago was second by one length. The time was 10:21. With Zale, in winning one of the qualifying heats and taking third money in the feature, took the point lead for the Jay Horn trophy, which will be given to the point leader Sept. 10.

Athletics Send Ambler to Williamsport Club

Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 6 (AP).—Officials of the Williamsport club of the Eastern league announced tonight the Philadelphia Athletics had optioned Infielder Wayne Ambler to them on a 24 hour recall basis.

RANDS MEET TOUHYS.

Bill Rand, sponsor of the team bearing his name in the Windy City Softball league, will be honored tonight in St. Philip stadium. The Bill Rand squad will play the John Touhys and the Petrones will take on the Happy Jacks.

Pingel Gives All-Stars Real Punting Threat

It may be we have overlooked Bernie Jefferson of Northwestern because he's considered one of the home town boys. Jeff threw a 30 yard pass to Don Heap for the touchdown which defeated Ohio State, 14 to 13, in 1936. That victory later was as important as the conquest of Minnesota, which brought the Wildcats the Big Ten championship.

College Rivals Remember Him.

Last fall Jefferson ripped through Minnesota's line for eight yards and the touchdown which whipped the Gophers, 6 to 3. He also turned in peak performances against Michigan and Notre Dame. He was Northwestern's best kicker, a better than average passer, and, highest praise of all, he was Northwestern's only ranking right half back for three years. It wouldn't surprise those who saw him run fifty-seven yards against Michigan if he became the man to replace MacLeod at right half back against New York.

Victor Bottari of California may not be well known in Chicago, but his name, according to Pacific coast fans, will be added to the list of all-time greats. Bottari can kick, run, and pass, and his defensive work—smashing tackles behind the line—round out his play. Against U. C. L. A. last fall he gained ninety-two yards in twenty attempts, scored two touchdowns, and one point after touchdown. He threw a thirty-eight yard touchdown pass against Southern California. In the game with Stanford he completed six passes in twelve attempts, gained fifty-four yards from scrimmage in fourteen times he carried the ball, and made two tackles when California stopped Stanford on the 2 yard line.

Full Backs Must Be Considered.

Your superstar this year may come from the group of full backs. Larry Buhler, Minnesota; Tony Ippolito, Purdue; Mario Tonelli, Notre Dame; Frank Balasz, Iowa; Dave Anderson, California; Bill Paulman, Stanford. And how about Bill Osmanski of Holy Cross, who will assist Eddie Anderson at Iowa this fall?

Osmanski scored eight touchdowns his sophomore year; ten his junior year, and twelve last fall when he captained his eleven. Bullet Bill, the east called him, because he scored the touchdown that beat Dartmouth in 1936, averaged twelve yards from scrimmage against Colgate that year, scored the winning touchdown in the 12 to 7 victory over Colgate in 1937, and was the key to the Crusaders' attack last year, getting one touchdown in each game.

Here's the power which will make the All-Stars' passing attack stand up against New York's five man line.

YALE SWIMMER WINS QUINCY RACE FOR SECOND TIME

Lake View, Garfield Park Win in B.B.Y.O. Softball

Lake View clinched the title in the Menorah division and Garfield park No. 1 did the same in the Mogen Dovid division of the B'nai B'rith Youth organization softball tournament, lodge section, yesterday in Grant park. Lake View defeated Ramah, 8 to 2, and Lawndale, 5 to 1, while Garfield beat Cardoza No. 2, 4 to 0. The victors will enter the playoffs Aug. 20.

FOR THE 1 MAN IN 7 WHO SHAVES EVERY DAY

A Special Shave Cream—It's Not a Soap, Needs No Brush!

Daily shaving leaves many men's faces raw and sensitive. Yet, because of his business and social status, one out of every 7 men must shave every day.

To meet this condition, Williams has now developed GLIDER—a special cream for daily shavers. With no soap base, it's a complete departure from ordinary shave creams. No brush. No lather. Not sticky or greasy.

A superabundance of moisture is contained in this rich cream. Applied with the fingers, it quickly softens each whisker. A protective layer is formed over which your razor glides. Off comes each hair at the base without scraping. Like a cold cream, Glider helps keep your skin smooth all day. Glider is the result of nearly 100 years' experience in making fine shaving preparations.

MELESKI FIRES HEAVY PUNCHES AT ARON TONIGHT

Rivals Head Marigold Gardens Card.

Milt Aron, No. 8 welterweight contender, and Eddie Meleski, No. 10 middleweight leader, will meet tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. The stipulated weight is 152 pounds for their ten round bout.

Meleski seldom has scaled less than 155 pounds, but Pat Kenneally, his representative, says the lesser poundage will not weaken him.

"Meleski is up against the toughest sort of competition," Kenneally said, "but that won't bother him. Eddie is hard puncher, and any one who can hit has a good chance to upset Aron. I wouldn't be surprised to see Meleski score at least one knockdown, no matter who wins."

Meleski Has a Punch.

Meleski has been fighting professionally for two and a half years. He has engaged in twenty matches, winning thirteen, the majority by knockouts. He has fought two draws and lost five bouts. In his four year campaign Aron has had sixty-five fights, winning fifty-two, scoring four draws, and losing eight decisions. He also appeared in a no decision encounter.

Jimmy Reeves, Cleveland middleweight, will make his first pro appearance in one of five supporting matches against Johnny Trotter, south side boxer. They are matched for four rounds. Reeves is the 1939 Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion. Other encounters include:

Nick Castiglione vs. Earl Gibbs [5], 136.
Tony Sopko vs. Augie Kluberg [4], 152.
Joe Ojida vs. Billy Sherman [4], 138.

The Illinois boxing commission will conduct a meeting this afternoon, the chief business item being the start of an investigation of unsatisfactory matches which have been held in recent weeks. Decision on Jack Trammell's application for reinstatement also is to be made. Trammell was suspended after his questionable bout with Jimmy Adamick in Mills stadium June 8, 1938. F. M.

OWEN LEAVES TO GET THINGS READY IN TRAINING CAMP

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—Coach Steve Owen of the New York football Giants departed today for Superior, Wis., to get things in readiness for the professional champions' first practice at Superior Teachers' college on Thursday. The Giants will play the college All-Stars Aug. 30 in Soldiers' field, Chicago. Before leaving, Owen received word from Nello Falaschi and Leland Shaffer, blocking backs, that they will be on hand for the opening drill. Jim Neill, former Texas Tech back who was with the Giants for a while two years ago, also will report at Superior.

POLO PLAYER IS SERIOUSLY HURT AS HORSE FALLS

Estontown, N. Y., Aug. 6 [Special].—Herman Hockschwender, Westchester, N. Y., polo player, was seriously injured here this afternoon when his pony fell and rolled over him in the opening match of the Monmouth Country club's annual twelve goal tournament, in which Pegasus Polo club defeated Governors Island, 7 to 6. Hockschwender was taken to Monmouth Memorial hospital at Long Branch, where physicians said he had incurred a possible brain concussion and internal injuries. He was playing back for the army squad.

Illinois Amateur Golfers Defeat Wisconsin, 29-28

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 6 [Special].—An Illinois team of 16 amateur golfers won, 29 to 28, from a Wisconsin team at the Kenosha Country club today in an inaugural of a series of annual interstate matches. John [Pick] Wagner, Kildeer Country club, led the field with a 34—33—67, four strokes under par.

Angler's Complaint.

The night was cool in the northern woods
And the twilight lingered late;
The stars came out in the purple sky
And the camp talk turned to bait.

Each eager angler showed his kit,
So shiny bright and new;
Each one contained a wealth of lures
In every shape and hue.

Expensive ones that couldn't miss—
A fortune set with hooks;
'Twas plain to see they knew the game
From reading all the books.

The morning came and they sallied forth
To try their fancy foolers;
Came end of day and they'd still no cause
To use their scales and rulers.

"They wouldn't hit that wobbler plug,"
"A spoon's a waste of time";
The only thing that caught a fish
Was a bait that cost a dime.

CARDINALS WIN NINTH STRAIGHT; CUT REDS' LEAD

Medwick Stars as Mates Beat Phillies Twice.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 6 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals won a double-header from Philadelphia today, ran their consecutive victory string to nine, and cut another game off the Cincinnati Reds' lead, which is now 7½ games. The scores were 11 to 0 and 8 to 3.

Joe Medwick, who was replaced in a game last week at a crucial moment by an outfielder Manager Ray Blades believed faster and better on defense, made two sensational catches in the second game and stole a base. In addition he made six hits in nine times at bat, including his ninth home run of the season. Bob Welland yielded only five hits in the opener and won his seventh game of the season.

GIANTS, PIRATES SPLIT.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 6 (AP).—After losing the first game, 9 to 5, the Pirates came back to shut out the Giants 6 to 0 in the second game of a double-header before an overflow crowd of more than 37,000 at Forbes field today. The New Yorkers collected sixteen hits from five Pirate pitchers in the first contest. Hal Schumacher was credited with his seventh victory of the season against seven defeats. Bob Klinger held the Giants to five hits in the second game, ended by the Sunday closing law at the end of the eighth inning.

Cobb Comes to America with 365 M. P. H. Ambition

Boston, Mass., Aug. 6 (AP).—John Cobb, British automobile racer, arrived today on the liner Samaria en route for a try at the speed record of 357.5 miles an hour set on Utah's salt flats Sept. 16, 1938, by a fellow Briton, Capt. George E. T. Eyston. Cobb said he believes his new racer is capable of 365 miles an hour. Equipped with two new engines, it has a capacity of 1,300 horse power.

Chicago Wins 9th Straight in Illinois Cricket League

The Chicago team, leader in the Illinois Cricket association, kept its unbeaten record clear yesterday by defeating Lake Shore, 58 to 48. In other league games, Winnetka beat Oak Park, 122 to 62, and Hyde Park won from Washington Park, 85 to 59. The Chicago team has won nine straight games.

Red Sox Get Even Break with Tigers

Boston, Mass., Aug. 6 (AP).—Jimmy Foxx, slugging first baseman of the Red Sox, made his debut as a major league relief pitcher today as Boston divided a double-header with the Detroit Tigers. The Sox fell before young Fred Hutchinson's slants, 10 to 1, in the opener, and won the second, 8 to 3.

To the delight of a capacity crowd of 35,000 fans, Foxx stepped upon the mound in the ninth inning of the first game with the score 10 to 1 against him and retired the only three men who faced him. He fanned Pinky Higgins, forced Pete Fox to foul out, and made Birdy Tebbetts ground out. Hutchinson, in winning his second game in a week since being recalled from Toledo, held the Red Sox to six hits and made four himself.

BROWNS WIN TWO.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 6 (AP).—To the accompaniment of a shower of pop bottles at Umpire Steve Basil and the banishment of Acting Manager Earl Mack, First Baseman Dick Siebert and Coach Charley Berry, the Athletics dropped a double-header to the St. Louis Browns today, 11 to 4 and 8 to 6.

Mack and Siebert were exiled following a dispute in the seventh inning of the first game on Basil's decision that called Siebert out in his attempt to stretch a single into a double. Berry was ejected by Umpire Harry Geisel in the eighth inning of the second game when Geisel ruled Myril Hoag's pinch hit to the left field stands a three run homer that tied the score at 6 to 6.

George McQuinn hit two home runs in the first game and one in the second. Sam Berardino, Eric Tipton and Harlond Clift also connected for home runs. Clift's came with one on in the ninth inning of the second game to account for the winning runs.

30,653 Fans See Dodgers, Reds Divide

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 6 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds split a double-header today before a crowd of 30,653, the largest of the season. Luke Hamlin pitched four hit ball and shut out the pace makers, 5 to 0, in the opener and the Reds collected twelve hits off four Brooklyn pitchers to take the final game, 8 to 6. Hamlin and Paul Derringer pitched on even terms for eight scoreless innings, then the Dodgers launched a six hit attack to win. Ernie Lombardi, hard hitting Cincinnati backstop, caught his 1,000th game since coming to organized baseball.

Bees Defeat Cubs in 12th on Home Run

sixth. Page scratched a hit to Sisti, but Hack forced him and Herman flied to West. Hack moved to third on Reynolds' single. Leiber grounded to Sisti, who threw to second to force Reynolds, but Cuccinello dropped the ball, Hack scoring. Nicholson then singled, scoring Reynolds. G. Russell's infield hit filled the bases and Augie Galan was elected to bat for Mattick. He tapped to Cuccinello.

Hassett's single, his theft of second and a hit by Sisti fixed up another run for the Bees in the seventh, whereupon the Cubs turned loose the barrage that routed MacFayden.

Cubs Perk Up.

Mancuso doubled and went to third when Cavarretta singled in Page's place. Hack singled and Mancuso scored. Bryant, who ran for Cavaretta, scored on Herman's single, which brought Erickson to McFayden's rescue. Three strikes were served to Reynolds, but business picked up when Leiber walked. Cuccinello assisted by fumbling Nicholson's grounder, Hack scoring, but Russell ended it quickly by lining into a double play.

During Lillard's eight inning term, Warstler singled and was driven home by Simmons' single. Then in the ninth, Herman scratched a single to Cuccinello, Reynolds flied out and Leiber walked. This was where Nicholson touched off the dynamite with his triple into the left field corner, Herman and Leiber scoring. The infield drew in for a possible play at the plate, but G. Russell looped a single over short and Nicholson scored the tying run. Bartell and Hartnett expired on long flies.

The Cubs have nothing to do today except wonder just how they are going to fare with the Reds in a double-header tomorrow, another twin engagement Wednesday, and a single game on Thursday. For tomorrow Manager Gabby Hartnett plans to start Bill Lee and either Larry French or Claude Passeau.

Diz Dean, the man with the lame arm, pitched a few minutes of batting practice yesterday and then retired to the clubhouse.

Hartnett and Stanley Hack were pleased to find there were no telegrams awaiting them when they arrived at the park yesterday. They feared a fine or suspension might be imposed by the league president for their run-in with Umpire George Magerkurth on Saturday.

went to third on Radcliff's single to right. McNair and Radcliff went down in a double play, Appling scoring the tying run. Rosenthal popped to Travis.

Lyons Dodges Trouble.

Lyons had to work out of a stiff jam in the seventh. Case opened with a single to left and reached second when the ball got past Walker for what was charged as the fourth Sox error. Case reached third on Lewis' sacrifice and was stranded there, because West bounced to Hayes, playing in, and Appling threw out Wright.

In the Sox eighth Appling walked with two down, but was picked off first. Travis then opened the Washington half with a single but Bloodworth hit into a double play, Appling to Hayes. Vernon singled but Ferrell flied to Reynolds.

After Case had gone to the fence to get Radcliff's fly at the start of the ninth, McNair singled to left. Rosenthal struck out. Tresh then caromed a shot off Vernon's glove, which would have been a single for most runners, but Vernon had time to recover the ball and throw to Leonard for the third out.

Then came the ninth inning blow up.

West Colored All-Stars Win Before 40,000

Two home runs late in the game enabled the West team to defeat the East, 4 to 2, in the seventh annual colored All-Star baseball game before 40,000 in Comiskey park yesterday. The West, comprising stars of the Negro American league, thus took a 4 to 3 lead in victories over the pick of the Negro National league players who represent the east.

Trailing 2 to 0 and held to two scratch singles for six innings, the West came to life in the seventh when Neil Robinson, center fielder of the Memphis Red Sox and author of the home run that won for the West last year, led off with a long drive into the left field stands.

Wilson's Homer Wins Game.

Then in the eighth, after Pitcher Double Duty Radcliff, Memphis manager, had opened with a single, Dan Wilson, left fielder of the St. Louis Stars, hit a home run into the stands in left to win the game. A single by Alec Radcliff of the Chicago American Giants and a two bagger by Robinson that was lost in the sun by Mule Suttles followed for the final tally.

The victory was credited to Double Duty Radcliff, third and last of the West hurlers, and the defeat was charged to Partlow of the Pittsburgh Homestead Grays. The East got their two runs in the second inning and four of their five hits in the opening three inning tenure of Theo Smith of the St. Louis Stars. They didn't get a man to first base the next three innings off Hilton Smith of the Kansas City Monarchs and were held to a single in the last three innings by Radcliff.

East Team Scores First.

The East's two runs in the second were started off by Strong's fumble of Leonard's grounder and singles by Patterson and Hughes, the latter's driving in the runs. The big bats of Josh Gibson, Mule Suttles, and Buck Leonard of the East were stilled without a hit.

Rigney Named to Check Sox Losing Streak

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—The White Sox left Washington at 6:50 o'clock headed for Detroit. They will open a three game series against the Tigers Tuesday with John Rigney pitching.

Mike Kreevich wasn't in the Sox starting lineup today, but said he was feeling better than he has at any time since he crashed into a concrete wall in Boston on July 22. He expects to be in fine condition for the Tigers series.

The Sox considered their third trip through the eastern sector disappointing, principally because of their experiences in Washington. Nevertheless they moved in the general direction of home in good spirits and physically fit.

Harry Grabiner, vice president of the White Sox, announces that tickets for the night game between the Sox and Cleveland Aug. 18 will go on sale tomorrow at the Hub and the ball park. The first night game in Comiskey park will be played next Monday.

RIVALS PLAY TONIGHT.

WOMEN GOLFERS START WESTERN CLOSED TOURNEY

Birmingham, Mich., Aug. 6 [Special].—Many of the country's finest feminine golfers—but no Patty Berg—start play tomorrow for the thirty-ninth annual closed championship of the Womens' Western Golf association at the Oakland Hills Country club in an eighteen holes qualifying round.

Convalescing from an appendectomy, Miss Berg, women's national champion, will not defend her Western title. The championship is up for grabs in a field of more than 100, including two former titleholders, the runnerup to Miss Berg at Olympia Fields last year, and the 1938 western open winner.

Former Champions on Hand.

While this quartet, comprised of Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky.; Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, Edith Estabrooks of Dubuque, Ia., and Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis, top the field at this juncture, there are any number of other shot makers who have a chance to take home the 1939 championship.

Miss Traung and Miss Miley are the former Western closed winners, while Miss Estabrooks was runnerup to Miss Berg a year ago. Miss Barrett won the Western open at Colorado Springs last year.

Match Play Tuesday.

Other contenders include Betty Jamieson of Dallas, Tex., former trans-Mississippi titlist; Phyllis Buchanan, Denver; Elizabeth Hicks of Los Angeles, and four from Chicago, Ellamae Williams, Shirley Ann Johnson, Eleanor Dudley and Mrs. Lillian Zech.

Michigan is well represented in Mrs. Donald Weiss, the state amateur champion; Jean Kyer of Ann Arbor, Hope Seignious, Margaret Russell, Marjorie Row, and Mrs. William L. McGiverin, Detroit.

The thirty-two low scorers in tomorrow's trials will begin match play Tuesday morning.

MORE MARRIED COUPLES FOUND IN SCHOOL JOBS

Dual Incomes Made Secure by Tenure Law.

A survey of board of education records yesterday disclosed more cases of husbands and wives both on the pay roll. In each instance the couples were found to be protected by the teacher tenure law and thus secure in their tax supported jobs.

Frank D. Lino, 7417 North Paulina street, an elementary school principal, and his wife, who is a high school teacher, have a combined salary of $707.64 a month during the school year.

Principal Paid $444 a Month.

Lino is principal of the Volta Elementary school, Argyle street and Avers avenue. He entered the school system in 1924 and receives $444 a month. Mrs. Lino, who is listed on the pay roll as Ruth D. Lino, teaches music at Roosevelt High school, 3436 Wilson avenue, and receives $263.64 a month. She entered the school system in 1919.

"We became acquainted after we started teaching," Lino said yesterday, "and saw no reason to give up our careers when we married. Mine is specialized—I am a principal. Mrs. Lino is a music teacher and has an elaborate education. She also is in a specialized profession."

Two in Morgan Park High.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hartle, who live at 12015 South 74th avenue, Worth, both teach at Morgan Park High school, 1744 Pryor avenue. Together they receive $675.26 a month from the board of education.

Hartle, who has been in the school system since 1928, receives $323.76. Mrs. Hartle started teaching in Chicago in 1927. She receives $351.50 a month.

TWO STORY FALL PROVES ERNEST'S A BOUNCING BABY

Ernest Spitter.

Ernest was leaning against a window screen in his second floor home at 2746 West 16th street when the screen gave way. Ernest fell out the window. He landed on the sidewalk below. Ernest cried, and his father, Jacob, and police took him to St. Luke's hospital. But all physicians could find were a few minor bruises and cuts. They marveled that there were no bone fractures or internal injuries. Ernest, however, will be kept in the hospital for observation.

AMERICAN YOUTH WINS WAKEFIELD FLYING TROPHY

Bendix, N. J., Aug 6 (AP).—An American won the international Wakefield trophy today for the sixth time in twelve years.

Dick Korda, 24 years old, of Cleveland, released his red miniature plane on the grounds of the Aviation Golf club for the first flight in the one day contest and bested the forty other planes entered under six flags. His time, 43 minutes 29 seconds, broke the international duration record of 33 minutes 9 seconds set by Robert Copeland of London at a meet in Jugo-Slavia last year.

A Canadian model was second and a French model third. Entries representing the Union of South Africa, New Zealand, Great Britain, France, Canada, and the United States competed for the trophy donated by Lord Wakefield of England.

F. W. MONDELL, 79, EX-CONGRESSMAN, DIES IN CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—Frank W. Mondell, who as the Republican floor leader carried on house battles for Speaker Joe Cannon, died at his home here today. He was 79 years old.

More than three decades of his life were spent in active politics, including twelve terms in the house. In the 1912 campaign Mondell opposed the Bull Moose candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. Mondell served as a house member from Wyoming. He was born in St. Louis, but after living in Iowa, and in Chicago, settled in Wyoming in the 1880's. He is survived by his widow, three sons, and two daughters. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday, with burial at Washington.

CRASH INTO POLE INJURES AUTOIST, KILLS PASSENGER

George Marra, 23 years old, 1534 East 65th street, was killed yesterday when the automobile in which he was riding struck an electric light pole at South Chicago and Baltimore avenues. The driver, Raymond Martin, 29, of 1518 East 68th street, was taken to South Chicago hospital. He suffered cuts on the head and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Maude Davis, 40 years old, colored, of 3609 Vernon avenue, was killed by an automobile which struck her after jumping the curb at South Park way and 32d street. The driver was Robert Johnson, colored, of 4823 Champlain avenue. He told Stanton avenue police his car had been rammed from the rear by a taxicab which then drove away.

Paul Powers, 71 years old, 3456 Augusta boulevard, died in the Franklin Boulevard hospital of injuries suffered earlier in the day when he was struck by an automobile in front of 952 North Central Park avenue. The driver was Sol Zueckert, 4306 North St. Louis avenue.

The body of Joseph Gac, 43 years old, 5305 North Mobile avenue, was found at the side of Higgins road, west of Melvina avenue. Jefferson Park police said he had been killed by a hit and run automobile. A few pieces of glass from a broken headlight were the only clews to the driver's identity.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 487 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 376 were killed in Chicago, where 12,547 were injured in the same period.

CITY OF NEWARK ORDERS TRIAL OF BIKE LICENSES

Newark, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP).—License tags and registrations for bicycles have been ordered by Acting Public Safety Director Leo Cluesmann because of the increasing number of cycle fatalities and injuries here.

The Newark safety council has volunteered to furnish metal license plates free. To get plates and registration cards from his police precinct, the cyclist will be required to show he knows the trafic rules and his wheel has a signaling device, good brakes and lights for night riding.

CLIPPER SETS NEW RECORD ON ATLANTIC HOP

LONDON, Aug. 6 (AP).—The American Clipper arrived in Southampton today only a little more than twenty-four hours after leaving New York to set a new record for a trans-Atlantic passenger flight.

Carrying twenty-two passengers and a crew of twelve, the Clipper made the open ocean hop from Botwood, N. F., to Foynes, Ireland, in 11½ hours.

British Plane Reaches New York.

Port Washington, N. Y., Aug. 6 (AP).—The British flying boat Caribou, inaugurating British trans-Atlantic air mail service, arrived here tonight after a last leg flight of two hours and twenty minutes from Boucherville, Que., the Montreal seaplane base.

The plane took off yesterday from Southampton, England, refueled in the air over Foynes, Ireland, and arrived at Botwood, Newfoundland, this morning.

ASKS ROOSEVELT TO AID REFUGEES; CITES 3 DEATHS

An appeal to President Roosevelt to permit persecuted European refugees to remain in America beyond the time fixed in their temporary immigration permits, was dispatched yesterday by the Czech National Alliance of America.

The plea, contained in a letter signed by R. A. Ginsburg, was prompted by the death plunge from the Congress hotel last Thursday of Mrs. Adele Langer, Jewish refugee from Czecho-Slovakia, and her two small sons, Jan, 4, and Karel, 6. The Langers were in America with their husband and father, Karel Langer, on a six months' visitation visa. A coronor's jury decided that Mrs. Langer plunged to her death with her sons while temporarily insane, and that she had been driven to that condition by persecution.

A triple funeral for the Langers will be held this morning at the Bohemian National cemetery.

YOUTH ON PICNIC DROWNS; MISSED ON CALL OF ROLL

Twenty young men and women from the south side held a picnic yesterday at the edge of an old water filled quarry on 111th street, one block west of Harlem avenue, in Worth township. Some went swimming and wading. When it was time to go home, a roll call was held. Kevin Fielding, 18 years old, 5536 Aberdeen street, failed to answer. A search was made. His shoes were found near the water.

Policeman Edward Emons of the safety squad of the state police at Blue Island, was called. He and his men dragged the quarry and recovered Fielding's body a few hours later. Unable to swim, he had gone wading, and had plunged into deep water unnoticed by his picnic companions.

EXPECT FEDERAL LOANS ON THIRD OF WHEAT CROP

Government Officials Ask 150 Millions.

Farmers are expected to get government loans on about 250,000,000 bushels of cash wheat this season, department of agriculture officials indicated last week.

The department announced recently that the average loan price on wheat to farmers was about 60 cents a bushel. In complaining early in the week about the house refusal [later reversed] to appropriate funds for the Commodity Credit corporation, the department announced that it had earmarked $50,000,000 for wheat loans and would need an additional $100,000,000. This would cover loans on 250,000,000 bushels at the 60 cent rate.

Statisticians who have analyzed the world wheat situation expressed the belief that American farmers might pledge as much as 300,000,000 bushels of this year's wheat harvest of slightly more than 700,000,000 bushels for loans.

Much Wheat Already Held.

During the 1938 loan program farmers got loans on 85,742,000 bushels of wheat, of which the Commodity Credit corporation had to take over nearly 31,000,000 bushels when the loans matured. The government agency held 25,931,000 bushels of 1938 crop wheat on July 24, having disposed of about 5,000,000 bushels abroad during the preceding two months.

The 1939 wheat loan program differs somewhat from that during the 1938 season in that loans are figured on the basis price at terminal markets. Deductions are made for freight and handling charges from country loading point. The basic rate on No. 2 hard winter wheat at Kansas City is 77 cents and at Chicago 80 cents a bushel. At Minneapolis the basic loan figure on No. 1 hard dark spring wheat is 87 cents.

CONTINENTAL MOTORS CORPORATION NAMES REESE ITS PRESIDENT

Continental Motors corporation announced yesterday that C. Reese has been elected president. Reese, a native of Indiana, succeeds W. R. Angell, who resigned as president, treasurer, and director. Angell said, in announcing his resignation:

W. R. Angell resigns as motor head.

"With the successful completion of a refinancing program and the removal of the corporation's main operations to Muskegon, I now feel that the company can proceed upon a substantial, constructive basis. I have accepted the post of technical adviser to the corporation."

Continental builds many types of gasoline motors.

The company also announced the completion of development tests for United States air corps of a 1,000 horse power, liquid cooled aircraft engine of horizontally opposed flat design on which the company's engineers have been engaged for a long period.

The announcement said the new engine is one of the first high output flat aircraft engines produced in the United States. It has a greatly reduced frontal area, permitting installation within the wing of an airplane. This reduces wind resistance and, according to the company's engineers, will aid in attaining the greatly increased speeds called for under modern military and commercial aircraft usage.

PARKERSBURG RIG'S 6 MONTH PROFIT DROPS

The Parkersburg Rig and Reel company, West Virginia manufacturer of oil field equipment, reported yesterday that its net income in the six months ended June 30 was $152,696. In the first half of 1938 the company's profit was $262,916.

A large stock interest in the Parkersburg company is held by the Chicago corporation, large investing firm. At the end of 1938 the Chicago corporation held 32,500 shares of the Parkersburg common stock out of a total of 182,000 shares outstanding.

National Radiator company, formerly the National Radiator corporation of Johnstown, Pa., reported that its operations in the twelve months ended June 30, 1939, including eleven months in trusteeship, resulted in a net profit of $36,878, or 24 cents a share on the new common stock, after depreciation of $236,570. This compared with a net loss of $1,155,674—after depreciation of $315,699 and accrued debenture interest of $161,387—for the twelve months ended June 30, 1938.

THIRD BROKER FIRM PREPARING TO SELL STOCK IN PACKAGES

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—Hirsch, Lilienthal & Co., member of the New York Stock exchange, has announced it will sell "packaged securities." Two other exchange members, Jackson Brothers, Boesel & Co. and Alexander Eisemann & Co., earlier entered the field.

Four packages will be offered by Hirsch, Lilienthal.

As in other package plans, orders will all be executed only at the market and only at the opening of each day. The buyer pays taxes, the odd lot differential, and the $30 minimum commission set by the stock exchange in addition to the round-lot prices.

Under a supervision provision, the buyer receives with each package an analysis of the securities in his package. At the end of six months and at the end of a year he receives further reports.

NOT SOUND.

Can you tell me how Continental Roll and Steel Foundry 6s of 1940 rate?—H. L.

Answer: Although secured by a first mortgage on all the assets of Continental Roll and Steel Foundry, the 6s of 1940 do not have a sound investment rating. That is because the company's earning power varies greatly yearly and bond interest has not been earned in each year.

Continental Roll and Steel Foundry is the largest producer of steel, steel alloy, and iron rolls in the United States. It is also the largest producer of miscellaneous steel castings in the country.

The times fixed charges have been earned in recent years is as follows:

Year.	Times earned.	Year.	Times earned.
1938	0.16	1935	1.15
1937	4.77	1934	*0.20
1936	3.81

*Deficit.

The company at Dec. 31, 1938, had current assets of $3,371,735 and current liabilities of $506,273, leaving net working capital of $2,865,462. There were $3,574,500 in first mortgage 6s of 1940 outstanding at that date. These bonds constitute the entire funded debt. No sinking fund payments, which would reduce the amount of bonds outstanding yearly, have been made since 1932.

In the first six months of this year the company reported a net loss of $106,586, against a net loss of $39,041 in the same period last year. Speculative elements predominate in the 6s of 1940.

PIPE LINE.

I bought some stock of American Maracaibo some time ago. I understand the company was building and had almost completed a pipe line. What are the latest developments?—P. C.

Answer: While we have no information on American Maracaibo's pipe line, we can say that this company is in a precarious position. The company has collateral notes totaling $1,470,227 due Nov. 8 of this year. At Dec. 31, 1938, it had current assets of only $112,251. No plan for taking care of this maturing indebtedness has yet been announced.

American Maracaibo is a holding company. Subsidiaries own or have concessions in Venezuela, Colombia, and in the states of Oklahoma, Kentucky, and Kansas.

American Maracaibo has reported a net loss in each of the last ten years. No dividends have ever been paid on the common stock, which has not sold as high as 3 since 1930. The stock is an extreme speculation.

CHANGE IN GLASS INSURANCE RULES IN EFFECT TODAY

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—Revision of rates and rules of the manual of glass insurance and the broadening of plate glass policy coverage will become effective tomorrow, the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters announced today. The broadened provisions of the policy now apply to the entire country. They were introduced in New York state last February.

Full coverage is now provided, without additional cost, against damage caused by acid or chemicals. Formerly an extra premium of 25 per cent was charged for this classification.

Also without cost, $150 coverage is provided to repair or replace frames, remove fixtures or obstructions to replacing damaged glass, and boarding up the openings, or installing temporary plates where it is impossible to make immediate replacements.

AMERICA SELLS LESS ABROAD IN '39; BUYS MORE

6 Month Exports Dip to 1.4 Billions.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—The department of commerce reported today that the United States exported 11 per cent less goods in the first six months of this year than in the corresponding period a year ago, but imported 14 per cent more.

A sharp reduction in European purchases of United States agricultural products was primarily responsible for the decreased exports, the department said. Increased American purchases of crude materials and semi-manufactures accounted for the increased imports, the report showed.

Exports to the United Kingdom, principal market for American agricultural products, declined 10 per cent in value during the six month period. Exports of finished manufactures to the kingdom increased in value.

Buy More from United Kingdom.

At the same time imports from the United Kingdom increased 41 per cent, largely because of increased receipts of rayon filaments, tin, and platinum.

The total value of exports to all countries, including re-exports, was placed at $1,415,427,000, compared with $1,590,788,000 for the first half of last year. Imports totaled $1,094,563,000. In the first half of 1938 they were $960,955,000.

The slump in grain exports was pronounced, such shipments being valued at less than $40,000,000 in the first six months of this year, compared with more than $120,000,000 in the 1938 period.

Increased purchases of wool, hides, and skins helped swell the import total. Imports from Argentina increased 48 per cent, from British South Africa 51 per cent, and from Australia 98 per cent.

Japan Buys Less Cotton.

Exports to Latin America—especially Argentina, Chile, and Cuba—were smaller during the first four or five months, but showed improvement in most cases after that time.

Japan bought more manufactured articles, but this increase was more than offset by reductions in purchases of raw cotton and crude petroleum, the department said. Exports to Japan of copper, steel scrap, metal working machinery, gasoline and lubricating oil increased in value. The value of imports from Japan increased 5 per cent, but the department said this was caused chiefly by increased prices for raw silk.

The department said the decline in exports to The Netherlands, Belgium, Ireland, and Germany, which were important buyers of American grain last year, was in each instance sharper than the general decrease in the total export trade of the United States.

New York, Aug. 6.—Wall street observers declare that financial circles are more pleased now with the domestic political situation, in so far as it affects the long range business outlook, than at almost any other time during the Roosevelt régime, but the stock market last week did little to indicate such a state of mind.

The only real market response to the defeat of the latest New Deal spending program was a sharp but brief rally on Wednesday. Stocks had started the week lower in light trading, with volume increasing as the list steadied Tuesday. The heaviest trade was on the Wednesday upswing.

On Thursday, however, the market turned irregular. Prices weakened on Friday, sharply in many cases, and recouped only a little of their losses yesterday in the dullest trade for three weeks.

Utilities, long harried under the Roosevelt administration, made the best response to New Deal defeats in the closing days of congress. The result was that stocks in this group cracked through to a number of new highs for the year and managed to hold a fair net gain for the week.

Industrial shares, nardest hit by the Friday decline, were down almost two points for the week as measured by the Dow-Jones average. Rails were off minor fractions as a group.

The market has been largely professional, with the public not showing much interest.

BUSINESS BITS

Frank R. Pierce.

Frank R. Pierce, former manager of household sales for the Frigidaire division of General Motors has been named general sales manager of the Kelvinator division of Nash-Kelvinator corporation at Detroit, Mich., George W. Mason, president of Nash-Kelvinator, announced yesterday. Pierce succeeds Henry W. Burritt, who resigned last week to become president of the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner company.

Pierce has been connected with the electric appliance industry since 1920.

Amtorg Trading corporation, Russian trading agency, announced that Konstantin I. Lukashov has been elected chairman of the board of directors and president of the company. He succeeds David A. Rosoff, who recently returned to Russia to become vice commissar of internal trade.

Appointment of John A. Clancey as general manager of the Grand Trunk Western lines of the Canadian National railways, operating in Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois, was announced at Montreal yesterday by N. B. Walton, vice president of the system.

NATIONAL BANKS RULED SUBJECT TO WAGNER ACT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 (AP).—The National Labor Relations board ruled today that national banks are not agencies of the federal government and therefore are subject to the Wagner act.

Its decision was conveyed in an order to the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association of California to reinstate with back pay an employé who had been dismissed, the board said, because of union activity.

Chicago bankers said last night that the labor board's extension of its jurisdiction to national banks had been considered a foregone conclusion. They said it will have practically no effect on Chicago banks, which were described as having no labor disputes. Bankers interviewed said they knew of only one Chicago bank whose employés have a union.

United Air Lines' July Passenger Trafic Climbs

Monthly travel records were broken by United Air Lines during July for the second consecutive month, Harold Crary, vice president, announced yesterday. He said the 16,600,000 revenue passenger miles flown during July represented an increase of 10 per cent over the previous high mark of 15,180,186 in June, and an increase of 53 per cent over the 11,006,096 in July, 1938.

N.Y. CITY LOSES 3,825 FACTORIES IN TWO YEARS

But Value of Goods Shows Increase.

New York, Aug. 6 [Special].—The number of manufacturing establishments in New York City was reduced by 3.825 between 1935 and 1937, the Merchants' Association of New York said today. The average number of wage earners, however, increased 21,547, their aggregate wages rose $47,889,015, and the value of manufactured products was $299,359,084 higher, the association's report showed.

The findings were based on an analysis which the association's industrial bureau made of figures for 1937 recently issued by the United States census of manufacturers, the latest available.

22,269 Factories Reported.

The analysis indicates that the number of factories decreased from 26,094 in 1935 to 22,269 in 1937. In the same period the average number of wage earners rose from 485,517 to 507,064, wages went from $582,789,734 to $630,678,749, and the value of products increased from $3,668,173,434 to $3,967,412,518.

The heaviest shrinkage, from 10,272 companies to 7,957, was in the apparel and accessories group, but wages rose $10,398,638. In the food and beverages classification there was a reduction of 489 establishments.

Some Industries Gain.

Gains in the number of plants were shown in metal and machine shops, chemicals, paints, drugs and allied lines, textiles, textile products and allied lines [except clothing], and also in the paper and paper products field, jewelry, and precious metals, watches, and tobacco products.

Steel Industry's Outlook Held Bright; Prices Firm

"The outlook is encouraging," the magazine Steel said yesterday in its weekly review of the nation's steel business. Production has leveled off at 60 per cent of capacity, and the demand for finished steel products is sustained, the survey said. Steel prices retained the stronger tone evident recently. The scrap price composite gained 5 cents to $14.96 a ton.

DAY by DAY on the FARM.

Weeds Kill Two Ewes.

Aug. 6, 1939.

CARELESSNESS cost the lives of two Southdown ewes at the Du Page county farm last week.

One was a pure bred and the other a grade. The flockmaster put 106 breeding ewes in a small pasture infested with whorled milkweed, a poisonous plant that has caused trouble among the sheep before.

After the two ewes had died an examination of the pasture revealed patches of the milkweed that should have been destroyed before the sheep were turned in. The flock then was moved to another pasture, thought to be free from poisonous weeds.

Insist on Eating Weeds.

Sheep have a queer habit of eating weeds, even when they have access to plenty of grass, clover, and other wholesome pasture plants. This makes possible the use of sheep for controling many kinds of weeds in farm pastures. It also makes it necessary to keep sheep pastures free from all weeds that may be poisonous, since the sheep are likely to eat them, especially when the weeds are young and tender. Most of the whorled milkweed in the pasture where the ewes died was only a few inches tall and barely noticeable at a glance, but the sheep found them and ate them.

Sheep require little labor, but they need infinite attention at all times.

Whorled milkweed sometimes causes losses among horses and cattle. Both the green and dried plants are poisonous. Veterinarians say that it is unsafe to feed hay or straw containing whorled milkweed. Other poison weeds found in this region are white snake root and water hemlock.

Leaves Like Needles.

The whorled milkweed is a slender plant with needlelike leaves that develop in clusters or whorls around the stalk. The leaves are from two to three inches long. The two kinds of milkweed most commonly found are known as the common and swamp milkweeds. They are larger and ranker growing plants than the whorled variety, but neither is considered dangerous to live stock.

There has been a heavy growth of all kinds of weeds this year. Mowers and scythes are being used to clip weeds in pastures and on vacant land at the farm. The practice is to cut the weeds before they bloom and start shedding pollen.

Ragweed Blooming.

Both common and giant ragweed, considered the most common sources of the pollen that causes hay fever, are blooming in some communities near Chicago.

Ragweeds were so thick and rank in some of the oat fields this year that they interfered with harvesting. The weeds choked the combine, especially in spots where the oats were down and had to be cut low. Weeds also are crowding the stands of clover and alfalfa in the stubble fields. Most of the legume seedings have made strong growth, however, and are not expected to be damaged seriously by the weeds.

IN THE

District Court of the United States

For the District of Maryland

TO ALL PERSONS IN INTEREST WITH RESPECT TO THE PLAN OF THE BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY FOR MODIFICATION OF INTEREST CHARGES AND MATURITIES (INCLUDING BUFFALO, ROCHESTER & PITTSBURGH RAILWAY COMPANY, BUFFALO & SUSQUEHANNA RAILROAD CORPORATION AND CINCINNATI, INDIANAPOLIS & WESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY), DATED AUGUST 15, 1938.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the provisions of an order of the District Court of the United States for the District of Maryland, entered July 31st, 1939, in the above-entitled proceedings that:

(a) Petitions of The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway Company, Buffalo & Susquehanna Railroad Corporation and The Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Western Railroad Company, filed on July 28, 1939 under Chapter XV of the Bankruptcy Act of the United States, have been duly approved as properly filed under said Chapter XV.

(b) A hearing on the Plan for Modification of Interest Charges and Maturities, dated August 15, 1938, filed with said petitions, will be held before the District Court of the United States for the District of Maryland on the 18th day of September, 1939, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, in the Room of the United States District Court, Baltimore, Maryland, or as soon thereafter as the matter can be heard, at or after which hearing the Court may approve and confirm said Plan as filed or as modified in the manner provided in said Chapter XV, whereupon the Plan so approved and confirmed will be binding upon said petitioners and upon all creditors and security holders thereof. The Court may allow such interventions of persons in interest as it may deem just and proper, but any person in interest shall have the right to present evidence and be heard thereon, in person or by attorney, with or without intervention.

Mows grass. Grows flowers. Paints and putters.

Time was when he might be persuaded to tack up a curtain pole or tinker with a lamp cord. That was the limit.

Three reasons account for the big change in Daddy now.

If you are in the market for a home, you can make no better start toward acquiring one of the type you prefer than to follow the offerings in the Tribune real estate columns.

To find the home you want, follow the offers in the real estate columns of the Tribune want ad section.

Because they get better results, want ad users place more total want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

BENEFIT PAYABLE TO EMPLOYES ON PART TIME JOBS

Martin P. Durkin, Illinois labor department director, said yesterday that workers need not be totally unemployed to collect benefits under the state's unemployment compensation system.

"Persons who are working less than full time and earning less than the amount they could collect in unemployment compensation if they had no work at all," he said, "are entitled to a partial benefit. This benefit amounts to the difference between their actual earnings, less $2, and the benefit amount they would be entitled to if totally unemployed.

"For example, if a worker who usually earns $20 a week works less than full time and has his income reduced to $10 a week, he may be able to draw as much as $6 a week as a partial unemployment compensation benefit."

895 Millions Spent in Year by Road Bureaus of States

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6 [Special]. —A total of $895,132,000 was spent for state administered highways in 1938, or $23,654,000 less than in 1937, state highway departments' reports to the federal public roads administration showed today. The states spent $523,738,000 for construction of highways and $232,388,000 for maintenance.

Save the Difference
Commonwealth's rate is less on all loans than the maximum rate permitted by law. You do not have to be an "executive" or have a "special" credit standing to qualify for OUR reduced rate. Commonwealth's monthly rate of 2½% on loan balances of $150 or less and only 2% on loan balances above applies to ALL TYPES AND CLASSES OF LOANS. Any one who can make regular payments can qualify; there is no discrimination. EVERYBODY GETS THIS SAME RATE. Of course persons whose incomes are above average can afford to make larger payments and thus make substantial reductions in their loan cost.

No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. Applications received by personal call, letter, or telephone will receive immediate attention.
